INQUIRY STARTS ON VICTORIA PLANE FIRE

Vancouver Girl Was Heroine In Sea Adventure

Plucky Telephone Operator, Passenger on Alaska-Washington Plane Which Burned Off Point No Point Yesterday, Swam for Help When Fire Threatened; Passengers Left Plane When Flames Broke Out After it Landed on Surface; U.S. Department of Commerce Opens Investigation To-day.

Seattle, Aug. 5.—An investigation into the burning of an Alaska-Washington Airways plane about twenty miles north of Seattle late yesterday was started here to-day by Department of Commerce officials and the plane owners.

The ship, which carried five passengers and a pilot, was forced down by engine trouble at Point No Point on the Sound. Soon after landing Pilot W. A. Williams discovered the fire under the fuselage.

The passengers, Miss Emmie Binns, Vancouver, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Gauley, Toronto; S. D. Johnson, Prince Rupert, and E. H. Whittingham, Victoria, climbed out on the pontoons while Williams fought the blaze.

A coastguard patrol boat took off all the passengers except Miss Binns, who swam to a nearby rowboat and rescued Williams just a few minutes before the gasoline tanks exploded.

None was injured, but the passengers lost all their baggage.

MISS BINNS HEROINE

Vancouver, Aug. 5.—Swimming ashore for aid when the seaplane in which she was a passenger, caught fire after a forced landing near Point No Point, Puget Sound, Miss Emmie M. Binns, B.C. Telephone Co. operator, was heroine of an aerial adventure on Monday afternoon.

The plane, an Alaska-Washington airways machine on a special excursion trip from Victoria to Seattle, landed on the water about twenty

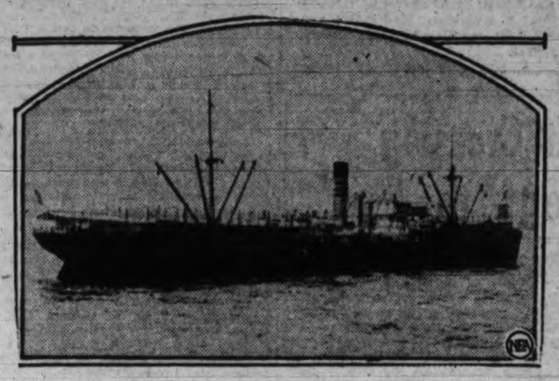
U.S. Bars Pulpwood From Russia



The Norwegian freighter Christian Bors, above, arrived at Boston with a cargo of pulpwood from Archangel for a paper mill. The port customs officials declined to allow the cargo to be put ashore because the pulpwood had been cut and loaded by convict labor in northern Russia. An appeal was carried to Washington, a protest being made by United States trade interests. Seymour Lowman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, right, has ended the whole movement by ruling that pulpwood produced by convict or forced labor in Soviet Russia will not be permitted to be landed in the United States. The only exception he has made are those ships already en route from Russia.

Timber Ruined By Fire In South Central B.C. Totals 16,000,000 Feet

Flames Travel on Front of Six Miles for Distance of Five and a Half Miles in Shuswap Lake District; Film of Ashes in Sicamous, Twenty Miles Away.

Salmon Arm, Aug. 5.—Imprisoned in one of the worst forest fires this district has ever known, two cats and a dog were rescued by Forest Supervisor C. W. Mobley during a temporary lull in the blaze. The animals were in the heart of a large area ruined by the fire, which has caused damage estimated at $200,000. That cats' pads and whiskers had been singed off and they and the dog were in a bad state of fright when brought out to safety.

The fire, which is being fought by 100 men, is lessening in intensity, but is still burning in the Bastion Mountain area, across Shuswap Lake from Canoe, a few miles east of here.

For three nights the sky for a radius of ten to fifteen miles has been brilliantly illuminated by the flames, and in Sicamous, about twenty miles away, everything has been covered with a film of white ash from the fire.

RAPIDLY SPREAD

Supposedly of incendiary origin, the fire was discovered by Supervisor Mobley while returning from other fire areas.

It had started on the Columbia River Lumber Company's berth No. 239, operated by L. E. Stearns. It was in heavy log slash and within a few minutes of the outbreak the flames were roaring. In spite of repeated attempts at backfiring, the fire fighters were driven back and many times they were in danger of being cut off.

The fire, which was in the tops of the trees, leaped tremendous distances and spot fires started up in all directions.

The fire has burned over a frontage of six miles and traveled south five and a half miles through one of the most important timber areas in the interior.

It is estimated 16,000,000 feet of timber has been destroyed including some 200,000 feet of logs which had been cut in the woods. Two logging camps were completely wiped out, but without loss of life or equipment, which had been withdrawn a few days ago.

LARGE NUGGET STARTS RUSH IN AUSTRALIA

Discovery of 30-Ounce Gold Lump Draws Prospectors to Tranagulla, Victoria State

Canadian Press

Bendigo, Australia, Aug. 5.—Discovery of a thirty-ounce gold nugget at Tranagulla, Victoria State, forty miles from here, has started a new gold rush.

More than 250 prospectors, most of them driving cars, have already reached the field and pegged out claims.

Australia to-day was in the throes of the greatest gold fever in many years. Seven expeditions with full transport equipment, including airplanes trucks and camel caravans, the prospectors backed by many thousands of dollars, and their outfits staffed by experienced pioneers, have been fitted out for penetration of the waste areas where traces of gold have been found.

WORLD FLIER RECOVERS FROM HIS OPERATION

Verre, Holland, Aug. 5.—Hendrik Willem Van Loon, Dutch-American author, who was host to Wing-Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, Australian transoceanic aviator, when he was taken ill, said to-day his friend was resting well after an operation for appendicitis.

The author visited the hospital at Middleburg this forenoon and declared afterward: "The patient is resting perfectly happily. There are no complications and normal convalescence may be expected. The only complication which can be foreseen is possibility of a civil war breaking out in the hospital over who will have the privilege of taking care of him."

STEVENS SEES BENNETT FOR CABINET POST

Discussion in Ottawa Indicates He Will Represent B.C. in New Cabinet

Times Correspondent Gives Probable Line-up of Conservative Ministry

Special to The Times

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—British Columbia will be represented in the Bennett cabinet by Hon. Harry Stevens and the portfolio allotted to him probably will be Trade and Commerce.

Mr. Stevens arrived here this morning and the new cabinet is expected to be completed and the change in government take place probably in forty-eight hours.

Mr. Bennett is seeing prospective ministers hourly and gradually is filling the various portfolios.

British Columbia—Hon. H. H. Stevens, Trade and Commerce.

Ontario—Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice; Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways; W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor; H. A. Stewart, Leeds,

SHIP IS CUT IN TWO WHEN HIT BY SHIP

Swedish Steamship Fremmern Struck By U.S. Freighter Chickasaw

Stockholm, Aug. 5.—The United States freighter Chickasaw, owned by the Moore McCormack Company, collided early to-day with the Swedish freighter Fremmern, cutting the Fremmern in two. Four men were reported missing.

The blow slashed the Swedish frighting vessel into two parts, the forepart going to the bottom.

TAKEN IN TOW

The Chickawsaw took the afterpart of the Femmern in tow and was making an effort to bring the derelict with it into port, according to a wireless message from the ship.

The Chickshaw, of 3,023 tons, left New York July 24 for Copenhagen, Stockholm and Leningrad.

Hollywood Man Attempts Speedy World Flight

100 Shaken Up In Crash; Only One in Hospital

Preston, Lancashire, Eng., Aug. 5.—Only one passenger was detained in a hospital to-day following a railroad accident in which 100 persons were slightly injured or shaken last night. The mishap occurred when two excursion trains from Blackpool collided near here.

More Tourists Visit Victoria Than Last Year

Custom Figures for Seven-month Period Show 3,664 More Visitors and Forty-five More Automobiles Came to City Than in Corresponding Period of 1929; California Influx Accounts for Increase; More Victorians Traveling.

An increase of 3,664 incoming tourists and forty-five incoming cars passed through the hands of the Canadian Customs at the port of Victoria during the first seven months of this year over the corresponding period in 1929, it was revealed in figures issued by the Canadian Customs to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau to-day.

Of the increased totals 3,508 visitors were from foreign parts, while 156 were Canadians, twenty-three of the extra forty-five cars bore foreign license plates and twenty-two were registered in Canada.

In all 4,627 foreign automobiles came into the city, while 14,244 foreign passengers visited Victoria. Canadian cars and passengers coming in numbers cars and passengers coming in number 867 and 2,389 respectively.

Clearing on the outgoing customs point, 5,072 foreign automobiles, an increase of 352 over last year, and 15,-739 passengers, an increase of 1,467, over 1929, passed through the city. Canadian cars and passengers showed an even greater increase over last year, for the corresponding period.

DUE TO ADVERTISING

Observations of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau have revealed the majority of visitors to be from California. They attribute this growth of interest in the south to the splendid advertising carried on by the Puget Sounders and British Columbians Associated, of which organization Victoria is a part.

CAMPERS AID CREW AGAINST FOREST FIRE

Blaze at Caulfield, West Vancouver, Is Brought Under Control After Fight

Large Fire in Timber Near Powell Lake Causes Much Smoke

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 5.—After endangering summer homes at Caulfield, West Vancouver, a fire which started at noon yesterday, was under control this forenoon. Smoke from the outbreak drifted into Vancouver in heavy clouds for hours.

Twenty-five men were mobolized by the provincial forestry ranger to fight the outbreak. Summer campers also turned out to stem the fire, which was gaining ground at midnight. Water was poured on the flames from portable pumps. Additional fire-fighting equipment was rushed from Vancouver.

STARTED NEAR LIGHTHOUSE

Success crowned the efforts of the fire-fighters this morning, when the ranger reported the outbreak was under control and held to ten acres. It started about 100 yards from the Point Atkinson lighthouse.

A large fire, throwing up clouds of smoke, is burning on the operations at Powell Lake of the Yellow Cedar Logging Company, it is announced. The provincial ranger at Powell River has taken charge of fire-fighting operations there.

LARGE AREA BLACKENED

The forest fire between Cultus Lake and Chilliwack Lake on the property of the Campbell River Lumber Company, which Saturday assumed serious proportions, is now reported under control, after vigorous fighting in which more than 150 men were engaged for several days. More than 2,100 acres were damaged and more than 1,500,000 feet of bucked timber destroyed.

J. FRED BOOTH OF BIG LUMBER COMPANY DIES

Member of Well-known Ottawa Family Succumbs in Rochester, Minnesota

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—J. Fred Booth, vice-president and general manager of J. R. Booth Limited, lumber merchants, died early to-day in Rochester, Minnesota, according to word received here.

Mr. Booth, who was sixty-five years of age, was the second son of the late J. R. Booth, pioneer Canadian lumberman, and was father of Princess Erik of Denmark.

ILL FOR WEEKS

Mr. Booth's passing brought to a close an outstanding career in the Canadian lumbering industry. He had been ill a few weeks. Members of his family were with him at his death.

The widow, Mrs. Frances Booth; C Jackson Booth, a brother; Frederick and J. Rudolphus, sons, and Princess Erik survive him.

Mr. Booth spent forty years in the booth firm, learning the business from the ground up. His special interest was the operation of the firm's paper and lumber mills, his brother, Jackson, being president of the firm.

He was educated at Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Que., and Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., where teamed with Jackson on the line, he was an outstanding football player.

HEAT WAVE ON PRAIRIES

Winnipeg, Aug. 5.—Little relief was in sight for the parched grain fields of the prairies to-day. There was another day of scorching heat, with no sign of the much-wanted rain.

CONDEMNATION OF FOUR BOATS TO BE ARGUED

Mr. Justice Martin Orders Admiralty Court Session on September 2

Four Fishing Launches Taken Off Graham Island Now Under Seizure

Condemnation proceedings in Admiralty Court against four United States fishing launches, seized in British Columbia waters in June, will be heard by Mr. Justice Archer Martin on September 2 at the courthouse.

His Lordship this morning granted an application by William Savage of Vancouver, on behalf of owners and masters of the launches May, Queen City, Sunrise and Tillie M, for speedy trial of charges of being illegally in British Columbia waters. The security required was reduced to the nominal sum of $10 per vessel.

Winter S. Martin of Seattle represents the crews and owners in the United States. The prosecution is being conducted by O'Halloran and Harvey.

The launch May was seized on June 4 off Rose Spit, Graham Island, by the Fisheries Protection cruiser Dividis which also seized teh other three boats at the same place on June 18. All are now at Prince Rupert.

No suggestion of fishing in Canadian waters has been made, and the accused masters claim legal wararnt for their presence in Canadian coastal waters.

AIRPORT BY-LAW AWAITS APPROVAL OF SITE HERE

Decision to submit a by-law to the ratepayers of Victoria on the purchase of the Lansdowne field as a municipal airport now only awaits the approval of the site as an air base by the civil aviation department at Ottawa.

An option to purchase the land, seventy-seven acres in extent, was taken out by the industrial committee last evening at a price of $51,250 and approved by the council.

Virtual approval of the site has already been given by aviation officials and it is probable the by-law for purchase of the ground will be before the taxpayers in December of this year.

Signing of the option last night concluded several weeks of negotiation between Alderman W. T. Straith, chairman of the industrial committee, and John L. Clay, acting for the owner of the land, Mrs. E. M. Scott. The official seal of the corporation will be affixed following the council's approval.

With these negotiations brought to a successful conclusion, Alderman Straith now plans visits to all muni-

R-100 to Make Short Flight Over Canada

British Dirigible Will Carry Only Defence Department Aviation Officers; Plans For Other Flights Before Departure For England Cancelled

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—The three original trips which were contemplated for the British dirigible, R-100 during its stay in Canada have all been cancelled. The invitations which were issued to prospective journeyers have also been cancelled. The dirigible will make one flight, upon which will be taken a few technical officers of the Department of National Defence, but the general public will not be included.

This was announced to-day by G. J. Desbarats, Deputy Minister of National Defence.

NEW EFFORT IN INDIA IN PEACE MOVE

Two Nehrus, Prisoners, Taken to Poona Jail to Talk With Mahatma Gandhi

Permission For Journey of the Two Given By Lord Irwin, Viceroy

Allahabad, India, Aug. 5.—Lord Irwin, Viceroy of India, this afternoon permitted the removal of Pandit Motilal Nehru and his son, Pandit Jawharlal Nehru, from the jail here to Poona for peace conversations with Mahatma Gandhi.

Authorization of the transfer was confirmed in political circles.

The Nehrus, leaders of the Congress volunteers for civil disobedience after the imprisonment of Mahtama Gandhi, were consulted by Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and M. Jayakar, who sponsored the movement to bring about a reconciliation, after the pair had visited the Mahatma in the Yeroda prison at Poona about two weeks ago.

Net Debt of Canada Is Cut $47,740,746 In Year

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—A total decrease in the net debt of Canada of $47,740,746.39 is noted in the annual financial statement for the Dominion just published. At March 31, 1929, Canada's net debt stood at $2,225,504,705.10, and at the end of the financial year, March 31, 1930, the debt was $2,177,763,958.71. During the previous twelve months there was a debt reduction of $71,345,527.82.

Total ordinary expenditures during the year amounted to $357,779,794.07, which was an increase from $350,952,-924.03 for the previous fiscal year. Ordinary revenue totaled $441,411,806.18, as against $445,463,873.74.

SUBMARINE IS PREPARED FOR THE WILKINS NORTH POLE TRIP

Canadian Press

Philadelphia, Aug. 5.—Sir George Hubert Wilkins, Australian explorer, has inspected the submarine O-12, in which he hopes to reach the North Pole, and pronounced it suitable for his purpose. The O-12 is at the navy yard here awaiting reconditioning and alterations.

Sir George said yesterday he was more than ever convinced the submarine was the only practical means of reaching the North Pole by boat.

CREW OF EIGHTEEN

It is the explorer's intention to take the O-12 with a crew of eighteen men, provisions for a year and fuel for 7,000 miles, to Spitzbergen and thence over sea and under sea to the open water in Bering Strait, on the other side of the pole.

The O-12 is one of several undersea boats built by the United States before the World War. It is smaller than the average submersible and will be renamed the Nautilus in honor of Jules Verne's mythical craft.

EXPLOSION AND FIRE CAUSE LOSS OF THREE LIVES

Stamford, Conn., Aug. 5.—Three men were burned to death here to-day and another badly injured in an explosion and fire at the plant of Richards and Company, manufacturing chemists. The fire loss was estimated at $35,000.

The three victims were believed to be George Marshall, thirty-eight, and Frank Ambroso, fifty-nine, both of Stamford, and Frank de Marco.

The explosion was caused, it is believed, by static electricity igniting alcohol fumes in the dehydrating department of the factory.

LOIS MORAN WITH AL JOLSON AT THE DOMINION THEATRE

Lois Moran, who supports Al Jolson in "Mammy," the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone all talking, singing picture with Techicolor, now at the Dominion Theatre, was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania on March 1, 1909.

Miss Moran was educated in Pittsburgh and Paris, France, where she specialized in languages. For two years she danced at the National Opera in Paris, after which she toured Europe, appearing in most of the large cities.

In 1924 she came with her mother to the United States taking up residence in Beverly Hills, where she now lives.

Miss Moran has created many unforgettable parts, high among them being her first assignment as the daughter in "Stella Dallas." Other pictures of note in which she has been featured are "God Gave Me 20 Cents," "Music Master," "Padlocked," "Sharp-shooters," "Don't Marry," "River Pirate," "Blindfold," and the present part of Nora Meadows, daughter of the minstrel show proprietor in Jolson's "Mammy."

SPLENDID CAST IN SCREEN ADAPTION OF POPULAR STORY

Adapted from William Lipman's widely read story, "Yonder Grow the Daisies," and directed by Alfred Werker, "Double Cross Roads," Fox all talking Movietone of regeneration is entertaining audiences of large proportions at the Playhouse Theatre to-day. The leading roles are portrayed by Robert Ames, Lila Lee, Montagu Love, Ned Sparks and George MacFarlane, all of whom are well known on both the stage and screen. The supporting cast includes such notables as Charlotte Walker, Edythe Chapman, Tom Jackson, William V. Mong and Thomas Jefferson.

Actors are notoriously superstitious, and since talking pictures created a tremendous demand for popular song writers it has developed that former denizens of Tin Pan Alley also are believers in black magic.

For instance, Buddy De Sylva, Lew Brown and Ray Henderson, famous Broadway musical comedy writers, who wrote the story and music for "Sunny Side Up," the Janet Gaynor-Charles Farrell musical comedy at the Coliseum. This team has a tiny piano which has been in their possession ever since they formed their partnership several years ago.

YOUTH IN WAR PORTRAYED IN CAPITOL FILM

"All Quiet on the Western Front," the picture at the Capitol all this week, is a magnificent picturization of the fate of youth in war. Its hero, young Paul Baumer, is a German, but he stands for the youth of all nations subjected to the most terrible of all human experiences.

The picture portrays the effects of war upon young Baumer and his companions. It is the poignant story of youth that has been denied its chance at life . . . of youth hurled into a careless hell of body and soul before it has begun to live.

Lewis Ayres, in the central role, Louis Wolheim and John Wray give performances that have never been surpassed on the motion picture screen.

MAN ENDS LIFE IGNORANT OF HIS RADIO SUCCESS

Boston, Aug. 5.—Success, long sought and worked for, was on the sixteenth floor of the Statler Building here yesterday awaiting Samuel Grossman.

Grossman jumped from a window ledge on the fifteenth floor and was killed.

Grossman, formerly a playwright and poet of Philadelphia and New York, but living with his father-in-law here, was ignorant of the fact that a radio feature he had conceived had been accepted by a radio station in the building. In fact, they had awaited him eagerly to tell him success was assured, and only an audition test to be sure his voice would broadcast well was necessary.

Police investigators believed Grossman lacked confidence in himself and rather than risk a rebuff had leaped to his death.

John L. Clark, programme director at the radio station, said Grossman's feature had been tried out in Springfield and they had pronounced it a sensational success.

"Gardens Worth Crossing A Continent to See"

Perhaps no gardens are better known or more widely praised throughout the North American Continent than the beautiful gardens of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart at Benvenuto.

The charm of this wonderful bit of landscaping has been penned by thousands of lovers of nature.

The gardens of Benvenuto are referred to as the "Tropical Gardens of the North," by Luther F. Symons, chief commissioner of the Department of Banking of Indiana, of Indianapolis, who visited Victoria this summer. Here is a letter on the subject of Butchart's Gardens published on July 22 in the New Castle, Courier-Times.

"Editor, New Castle Courier-Times,
New Castle, Ind.
Dear Sir:

To those who contemplate a trip to the northwest, do not delay it until the last of September or October for in thus hoping to escape some of the heat of the season you will encounter the more objectionable smoke of the forest fires and the fog which is swept in from the ocean. The two, many times cloud the sun for days and necessitate the use of electric lights, which are always a poor substitute for sunshine.

"Largely owing to the courtesy of Matt O'Connor, manager of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, Willis Brindley of the Clearing House Association and many others, we were shown most of the points of interest of that great metropolis of the northwest which lies at the gateway of the Orient.

"While justly stressing the virtues and advantages of their own city, they feel that much of their growth and prosperity has come to them by calling the traveler's attention to other points of interest in the vicinity of Seattle. Their generosity in this particular had much to do with arousing the writer's interest in the things in and around Victoria, the capital of British Columbia, on Vancouver Island. It is eighty miles almost north of Seattle, is 700 miles farher north than Indianapolis but, by virtue of the Japan current, it has neither the intense heat of summer nor the severe cold of winter. It is difficult to believe that on this island, which is farther north than the extremity of the Great Lakes, is found a climate of almost perpetual summer.

About eleven miles north of Victoria, on the rocky coast of an inlet, an unsightly cliff was ground into liquid stone by an immense cement machine. After thousands of tons of stone had been carried away, a gaping wound in the rock was all that marked the place of a once flourishing enterprise. A man and a woman, with a vision, saw the possibilities of the place. Carloads of rich, black soil, were brought, gardeners and florists were brought from Japan and other countries, a lake formed by the removal of the stone was preserved, trees and shrubs from all parts of the world were planted, climbing vines of variegated colors with maple, ivy, ferns, rock plants and mosses covered and transformed every part and particle of the bare walls into perpetual beauty. No place in the world, California and Florida not excepted, has more beautiful gardens with flowers blossoming from the ground and festoons from the ground and with festoons from a hundred feet above, all blending in such perfect harmony that famous artists and painters have pronounced the setting perfect.

Nature has made it possible for many tiny waterfalls to plunge over the precipices and beat themselves into veiled spray which falls in a life giving vapor upon the velvet lawn surrounding a pool fed by another one of the mountain streams inhabited by fish that seem conscious of the gold that glitters from their sides. In all, these gardens cover about twenty acres of land in the midst of which Mr. and Mrs. Butchart have built their home, a cosy cottage. While they have not wasted money in costly construction, they have woven their architectual ideas of beauty into their dwelling which is covered with vines and surrounded by flowers until it seems to have risen as one great flower in the midst of the garden.

To select, train, harmonize and blend the beauties of nature into one harmonious setting seems to be the special gift of these good people who have caused thousands of nature's beauties to speak as has never been spoken before, the language of the flowers. Added to these special gifts is their desire that their "little contribution," as they call it, may be seen by all who will come and thus learn a greater appreciation of the beautiful by having seen this modern "Garden of Eden."

The gardens are at their best in July or early August, and, at that time, are inhabited by the best song birds obtainable, which tends to make the place a paradise of song and flowers.

I have no other object in writing these lines than to encourage anyone who may be traveling in the northwest to take at least an extra day out of Seattle and see the "Tropical Garden of the North."

LUTHER F. SYMONS.

Edgar Guest, well-known poet of the United States, has written a delightful little poem entitled "The Gentle Gardener" about the gardens at Benvenuto. It is as follows:

THE GENTLE GARDENER

I'd like to leave but daffodils along my little way,
To leave but tulips red and white behind me as I stray,
I'd like to pass away from earth and feel I'd left behind
But roses and forget-me-nots, for all who come to find.

I'd like to sow the barren spots with all the flowers of earth,
To leave a path, where those who come should find but gentle mirth,
And when at last I'm called upon to join the heavenly throng
I'd like to feel along my way I'd left no sign of wrong.

But yet the tasks are many, and the hours of toil are few,
There is not time enough on earth for all I'd like to do,
But having lived, and having toiled, I'd like the world to find

Enclosing the accompanying poem in a note of appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Butchart, Mrs. Grace E. Bush, of Los Angeles, Cal., writes:

"Judge Bush and myself feel that we cannot return home to Los Angeles without personally expressing to you our delight in the visit to your gardens, where, it seems to me, all the poetry and beauty of the world live, to make glad the hearts of those who come. Such a sight is worth crossing a continent to see."

NEW RULE FOR ADVERTISERS TO BE ENFORCED

Washington, Aug. 5.—A determination to end the practice of certain advertisers of "black jacking" newspaper publishers into printing advertising matter as news was voiced yesterday by the postoffice department.

The department said the advertisers to whom it referred had attempted to wield a "club" over the heads of certain publishers by threatening them with the loss of display advertisements if they did not use publicity matter sent them as news or for editorial purposes.

In response to complaints by a number of newspaper publishers, the department added it had been making an investigation of methods pursued by certain advertisers. It said newspaper publishers who complied with such requests might be guilty of contributing to acts of conspiracy against the government in conjunction with the advertisers in depriving it of revenue.

Both the advertiser and publisher might be subject to a $10,000 fine or two years' imprisonment, or both, the announcement said.

Strawberry Vale

The Strawberry Vale Women's Institutes's country fair, held last week on the Park View sit adjoining Wellington Road, was opened by Reeve Crouch and was well attended. The committee in charge consisted of Mr. and Mrs. H. Huntington, the Misses Marjorie and Gertrude Foster, Mr. Gray and K. Foster. Stallholders were: Spinning wheel, Ernest Gray; househouse, Messrs. Humphries and Rowland; cocoanut shy, Maurice Foster; baseball dummy, Lionel Foster; ice cream, the Misses G. Foster and E. Hodgson; hot dogs, Mrs. Huntington with Mr. and Mrs. Gray; refreshments, Miss Marjorie Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Munro, North Road, have returned from Chilliwack.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Layritz, Wilkinson Road, left on Saturday for Europe. Mrs. Layritz will visit relatives in Byfleet, Surrey, and Mr. Layritz will visit Dresden, Germany, and in Holland.

The Misses Patricia and Enid Dier of Victoria were guests of Mrs. C. T. Orr, Wilkinson Road, on Friday.

T. Fisher of Vancouver is spending a holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Fisher, Wellington Road.

DOUGLAS STREET PAVING TOPIC

Two Aldermen Ask For Policy on Section South of Fort Street

Paving of Douglas Street, south of Fort Street, was raised by Alderman H. O. Litchfield at yesterday evening's meeting of the City Council. Alderman Litchfield asked the chairman of the public works committee what policy was being followed out in this regard.

Alderman J. L. Mare replied that the city engineer was in possession of all details, but Alderman R. A. C. Dewar maintained that it was an important matter which should be dealt with immediately.

"It is very desirable that something be done," he said.

Alderman J. A. Worthington pointed out that the works committee's policy was to leave such matters over until after the tourist season.

TOLMIE SEEKS SUPPORT FROM OLD COUNTRY

Endeavors to Get British Market For B.C. Products

Also Wants British Capital For Developments

In an effort to see if something cannot be done to aid the major industries of British Columbia, which are now suffering from trade depression with no markets for their production, Premier Tolmie will send with Hon. R. B. Bennett to the Empire Economic Conference in London this fall a memorandum which sets forth how Britain could spend many millions of dollars more in this part of the world.

When he met Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions, in Toronto last year, Premier Tolmie told him there were trade possibilities between this province and Britain and Mr. Thomas asked him to prepare and submit to him a full memorandum. A British trade representative recently visited Victoria and discussed possibilities for the extension of British Columbia trade in England.

The Premier will make a special drive to get into the British market, which is now pretty well held by British interests controlling Baltic and part of the north European timber production.

TO INFORM DELEGATES

The Premier is also to send a copy of his memorandum for the information of the Canadian delegation to the Empire Conference. In this he points out that the British Columbia Government does not wish to have the unemployment problem of Britain transferred to this country, but declares if Britain could interest capital for the development of British Columbia resources and then provide a market for the products, this province could take care of many thousands of workmen more than are here now, it being inferred that they could be brought in from England to relieve unemployment there.

NEW GOLF MAY START IN CITY

Standard Game on Miniature Scale Suggested For Victoria By Capt. T. W. Sheffield

Another type of golf on a miniature scale, providing for play on an acre of ground for an eighteen-hole course in which special light balls and clubs prevent the player from lashing out long drives, may be introduced in the city in the near future.

Captain T. W. Sheffield, former Trade Commissioner at Regina, is here to interest Victorians in the game.

Unlike the miniature sport, the suggested game is played in accordance with the regular rules of golf.

SPECIAL BALLS AND CLUBS

The ball is only one-quarter of the weight of the regular ball and can be driven only 105 feet. The clubs, which are adjustable and may be used by either left or right-handed people, are also specially designed for the new game and have faces which may be set at any pitch.

While one acre is sufficient for a regular eighteen-hole course, a competition thirty-six hole course, equal to the regular sixty-acre regular links, may be built on four acres.

Captain Sheffield, who hopes to interest local people in the new pastime, was well known in Victoria during the early days of the war, when he was on duty at the recruiting station here. He was well known as a swimmer and coach.

At one time he held several Canadian swimming championships.

CLUBMEN WILL HEAR HAGGARD

Commander-in-Chief of West Indies Fleet to Speak to Canadian and Kiwanis Clubs

Arrangements for their second joint meeting in August have been made by members of the Canadian Club, who will gather with the Kiwanians to hear Vice-Admiral V. H. S. Haggard, C.B., C.M.G., R.N., of H.M.S. Despatch, Commander-in-Chief of the American and West Indies station, speak on "The Navy," a week to-day. Their first meeting of the month will be held Thursday when, in conjunction with the Rotary Club, they will be hosts to Moses B. Cotsworth, who will address them on the "Fixed Calendar" system he has originated.

Vice-Admiral Haggard, it is understood, is a capable speaker and is thoroughly steeped in the tradition and lore of the navy. He is also a man of wide knowledge in the ways of ships and fighting men and will doubtless have both an instructive and interesting message to give the clubmen at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

FARMERS WILL DO ROAD WORK

Wilmington, Ohio, Aug. 5.—Driven to desperation by failure of their crops because of a drought, more than 200 Clinton County farmers appealed to the county commissioners yesterday for work to enable them to support their families.

After listening to their pleas, the commissioners ordered $100,000 worth of road work contemplated for later in the year should be started at once and the men put to work.

Most of the delegation were tenant farmers and farm laborers, and under the most favorable conditions crops in that section are barely enough to maintain the families.

OREGON MINE STOCK BARRED FROM SALE

New York Puts Injunction on Promotion of Company Near Baker, Ore.

Two Men Held as Fake Brokers and Using Mails to Defraud

New York, August 5.—A brokerage house, a corporation and three individuals were enjoined from further dealings in stocks by Supreme Court Justice Burt Jay Humphrey of Brooklyn on a motion of Deputy Attorney General Matthew A Tiffany of the State Bureau of Securities.

Those enjoined were McAdow & Co., Inc., brokers, of 71 Broadway; the Oregon Crater Corporation of 258 Broadway; Raymond B. Keizur, president of the corporation; Charles E. McAdow, president of the brokerage house, and A. Monteith Richardson of Paterson, N. J.

According to Mr. Tiffany, the Oregon Crater Corporation owned 120 acres of land on Bald Mountain, sixteen miles south of Baker, Ore. Mr. Tiffany said that Keizur bought eighty acres of this land from an Oregon company for $800 and turned the property over to the corporation for 1,000,000 shares of stock. Later Keizur turned over 500,000 shares of stock to the corporation, according to Mr. Tiffany. The remaining forty acres, Mr. Tiffany declared, were owned by Keizur's father, who traded them to the corporation for 100,000 shares of stock.

SAYS MINE WAS NOT DEVELOPED

Mr. Tiffany in his petition for the injunction charged that no effort was made to develop the property, although prospective purchasers of stock were told and the literature of the corporation declared that "there would be a phenomenal production of gold, silver and quicksilver." Mr. Tiffany said that no ore was taken from the property.

In the last year, Mr. Tiffany asserted, about 200,000 shares of stock were sold at prices ranging from 35 to 75 cents a share. Mr. Tiffany also alleged that the corporation owes money for some mining machinery.

The literature also declared, according to Mr. Tiffany, that Bald Mountain was of volcanic origin and "during the early action of the Bald Mountain volcano the intense heat and acid waters under pressure pparently forced various precious metals from the earth's interior to near the surface."

Mr. Tiffany said prospective stock purchasers were informed that "Baron Karl Von Cogement-Sturman, a prominent engineer, examined and endorsed this marvelous rich property." The engineer, Mr. Tiffany said, was reported to be in Germany.

TWO HELD AS FAKE BROKERS

Chares and Harry Greenhaus, brothers, said to be associates of Wilen W. Stewart, alias W. W. Easterday, ex-convict and aide of Nicky Arnstein in the $5,000,000 bond conspiracy eight years ago, were arraigned yesterday before United States Commissioner Francis A. O'Neill on a charge of fraudulent use of the mails.

Charles Greenhaus was released in $15,000 bail and his brother in $10,000 bail for a hearing August 1. The two were arrested Friday night following an investigation in which postal inspectors, the State Bureau of Securities and the police participated. Search is now being made for Easterday, who is at liberty on $25,000 bail on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

As a result of the investigation of Deputy State Attorney General David Whol an injunction temporarily restraining the Greenhaus brothers, Easterday and six others from dealing in securities was issued Friday by Supreme Court Justice Burt Jay Humphrey of Brooklyn. The others named in the complaint by Mr. Wohl are David Carey, known as Thomas Logan; John R. Russell, Harold Watson, Chester Marr, Joseph Staney and Jack Dorfman.

As a result of the complaint that Easterday, who some months ago was charged with mail fraud, was again operating in the sale of stock, United States Attorney Tuttle said yesterday he would call on Easterday's bondsman to produce him tomorrow.

Assistant United States Attorney James C. Maroney, who has been in charge of the investigation for the Federal auhorities, said that within the last two months the defendants had obtained about $53,000 from investors. The Federal authorities charge that prospective investors were solicited by mail to open marginal accounts and that money so received was used for other purposes.

The specific complaint on which the Greenhaus brothers were held alleged they sent letters to Fred H. Mulford of Pottsville, Pa., soliciting him to purchase stocks. The mail matter transmitted to Mr. Mulford was sent from New York City last April.

In their campaign to sell stock, according to the authorities, the group maintained six offices, one of which was in Washington, D.C. Four others were in this city and one on Long Island.

EDDIE HELD TWO UP ON JOHN LEWIS

Defending Canadian Amateur Golf Champion Leads at End of Eighteen Holes

London, Hunt Club, London, Ont., Aug. 5.—Eddie Held at Great Neck, N.Y., defending champion, finished the first eighteen holes of match play of the Canadian amateur golf championship tournament this morning two up on John L. Lewis of Brantford, former Ontario amateur champion.

They fought a close see-saw match. Held was one up at the ninth and he gained until he was three up at the fourty-seventh. Lewis had a one-putt score at the home hole to get a birdie three and win the hole. Lewis won the tenth hole, while Held made it one up again at the eleventh. The Brantford player then took the twelfth and they halved the thirteetnh and fourteenth. Once more the New Yorker got his one-putt stride and won the fifteenth and sixteenth and seventeen'h his putter working like a charm.

Alex Weir of Winnipeg was six up on L. L. Vazant of Tulsa, Okla., at the end of the eighteenth, somewhat surprised, as the Tulsa player had been going around in under par in practice round.

Jack Cameron of Montreal took a commanding lead of six up on Dan Kennedy, the only other western player left in the tournament at the end of the initial eighteen.

C. M. Stuart, of Montreal, finished the eighteenth all square with Frank Thompson, of the internationally known golfing family of Toronto.

YOUNGSTER IS DOWN

Charlie Keene, fifteen-year-old London golfer, who shot a 165 for thirty-six holes yesterday, was six down at the end of eighteen holes this morning. Gordon Taylor Jr., Toronto, a much more experienced player, was his opponent, and a bit too much for young Keene.

J. L. Ferguson, Philadelphia, was eleven up on G. B. Heintzman, of Toronto, at the eighteenth, and Fred Hoblitzel, Toronto, was two up on Jack Armitage of Hamilton.

Eric Russel of Toronto was six ahead of Watson Yuile of Montreal whne they came in from the eighteenth for lunch.

Ross Somerville, London, finished three up on C. C. "Happy" Fraser, Montreal, on the first eighteen. Ross was five up at the ninth, but Fraser came back to cut down the lead. He sank a fifteen putt on the home green to get a birdie and a half for the hole.

Velda Rithet Is Badly Defeated By Alice Marble

Seattle, Aug. 5.—Favorites continued to lead the parade in the Washington state tennis tourney here to-day with Alice Marble, San Francisco, defeating Velda Rithet, Victoria, in straight sets, 6-0, 6-0.

In the women's singles two matches were won by default. Mrs. Dorothea Perow, San Francsco, advanced without playing when Miss Marjorie McQuiggy, Seattle, failed to appear; and Mrs. Robert Reinhardt, Seattle, was awarded her match when Miss Margaret Sturgeon defaulted. Marjorie Postlethwaite, San Jose, defeated Ariel Stout, Seattle, 6-4, 6-1.

In the only doubles match played in the morning round, Mrs. Perow and Don Lewis, Portland, defeated Agnes Johnson and J. W. Langlie, both Seattle, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

FIRES IN MANITOBA

Winnipeg, Aug. 5.—Forest fires in Manitoba stand in a "quite satisfactory" situation, according to J. S. Holt, forestry service chief. He mentioned there were no fires in the five reserves of the province. Two fires in the Lac du Bonnet section are being handled. Three men were sent by plane to a new blaze near The Pas, but no great danger is threatened.

WHEAT PRICES RISE TO-DAY AT WINNIPEG

May Future Closes Trading at $1.05⅛ a Bushel; U.S. Drought Is Influence

Winnipeg, Aug. 5.—Excessive heat and lack of rainfall in the United States corn belt, which influenced the Chicago market, was the chief factor contributing to another advance in wheat futures here to-day. The close was 2 7-8 cents to 3 1-4 cents a bushel higher, and the nearby futures approached close to the dollar mark. May shot ahead to close at $1.05 1-8 a bushel.

A fair export business attracted attention, but it was over-shadowed by the drought reports. There was heavy buying here and all offerings were quickly absorbed. Most of the buying was in the distant month and it looked as thought southern and local interests were investing heavily is May wheat.

Weather conditions on the prairies were again hot and dry.

A private report estimating the prairie wheat crop at 302,000,000 bushels was distinctly bullish when compared with recent estimates. Canadian traders are paying the minimum of attention to crop estimates, believing it too soon to place a figure on the prospective yields.

GOVERNOR IS IMPRESSED BY PEACE AREA

Hon. R. Randolph Bruce Returns From Great Northern District of B.C.

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 5.—A message of hope and opportunity for youth to be found in the great arable lands of the Peace River district was brought home to-day by Lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce, who returned to this city this morning, praising the lands of the north which he had just left.

The Lieutenant-Governor was accompanied on his journey by his niece and chatelaine, Miss Margaret Bruce Mackenzie, and A. M. D. Fairbairn, his aide. He will proceed to Victoria to-night.

In a statement he handed to the press the Lieutenant-Governor commended the foresight of the Federal Government "in acceding to the request of the provincial government for a return of the Peace River Block, thus making possible a uniform system of settlement and development."

THEFT CHARGE IS REMANDED IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Aug. 5.—Charged with conspiring on Monday to rob the money car of Canadian Bakeries Limited, West Tenth Avenue, Wilton R. Campbell, aged nineteen, and Fred Dumont, aged twenty-six, appeared in police court this morning. They were remanded for one week.

They were arrested when city officers reported they foiled a plot to loot the car as it was taking $35,000 from the bakery to a downtown bank yesterday at noon. Campbell and Dumont were arrested in the vicinity of the bakery.

A third man, driving a car masquerading with stolen license plate, which was found in the vicinity of the bakery, was also apprehended. He is detained for investigation.

BIG FIRE IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Aug. 5.—Ten firemen were overcome by smoke and damage estimated at more than $1,000,000 was caused by a fire which destroyed the two upper floors of the Los Angeles Warehouse Company's building in the heart of the industrial section yesterday.

The build, housing valuable stores of sugar, olive oil and fireworks, was one of the largest warehouses in the city.

TO-DAY'S BASEBALL

New York, Aug. 5.—Babe Ruth hit his forty-first home run of the season, a tremendous drive that travelled 450 feet into the centrefield bleachers, at the Yankee Stadium to-day where the Yanks were engaging the Washington Senators in the first game of a double-header. The hit was made off Bump Hadley in the sixth inning.

EXPECT BUSINESS BETTER IN FALL

Marked improvement in business conditions in Canada should be under way toward the end of 1930, according to latest issue of The Quarterly Review, published by McLeod, Young, Weir & Co. Limited, investment bankers, Toronto.

The present decline in business commenced in June of 1929 and at the middle of 1930 business is apparently bumping on the bottom," it declares. "The business cycle regularly consists of improvement prosperity, crisis, recession and depression. At the present time we are apparently well into the depression period. The question is, how long should this period last, and our opinion, based on available statistics, is that recovery should be quite evident in Canada by the final quarter of this year."

FIRST WHEAT BEING CUT ON THE PRAIRIES

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—"Although the prairie wheat crop is generally well advanced in the filling stage, there is still much uncertainty as to the probable yield," states a crop report issued to-day by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Lack of moisture in Saskatchewan and southern Alberta and damage from rust in Mnitoba and southeastern Saskatchewan are features of this week's reports. Alberta crops alone have registered an improvement in the last two weeks, the large central area again having benefited at the last week-end from good rains.

Cutting of erly wheat and barley is common in all three provinces, with indications the harvest will be general in a week or ten days.

Aldermen of Greater Vancouver District Urge Railways to Bring in No Indigents

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 5.—Resolutions calling on transport companies to stop migration of indigents to British Columbia, asking for a survey of industries of the province with a view to anticipating unemployment and favoring equal division of relief costs between the municipal, provincial and Federal governments, were passed at the conclusion of this forenoon's session of the unemployment conference being held at the City Hall here. The conference was attended by members of the City Council and representatives of nearby municipalities.

Moved by Ald. J. H. Degraves and seconded by Ald. John Bennett, the resolution aimed at checking the flow of out-of-works to British Columbia calls on the Provincial Government, the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Canadian National Railways and other transportation companies to "use every means in their power to prevent migration of persons likely to become public charges."

SURVEY PLANS

Ald. Angus MacInnis and Councillor Jack Loutet of North Vancouver sponsored a resolution calling on the Provincial Department of Labor to organize a complete survey of the unemployment situation in British Columbia and to make a survey of provincial industries with a view to anticipating future unemployment.

In a third resolution sponsored by Ald. E. H. Bridgman, North Vancouver, and Reeve W. A. Pritchard, Burnaby, the conferees expressed themselves in favor "of the principle of one-third relief each by municipalities, the Federal government and the provincial government in an effort to provide a solution for the unemployment problem."

VANCOUVER WHEAT SHIPMENTS GROW

Vancouver, Aug. 5.—Despite the fact that ocean rates are stiffening for liner space to carry wheat from Vancouver to the United Kingdom, further bookings are reported.

Last week approximately 20,000 tons of grain was fixed at 17 shillings and 6 pence for the United Kingdom-Continent for loading within the next two weeks.

To-day it was announced an additional 20,000 tons of space had been accepted during the last forty-eight hours at a rate of 20 shillings for September-October.

It is estimated that within the last week nearly 1,750,000 bushels of wheat space has been taken in liners from this port.

SEA SERPENT IS HUNTED BY AUSTRALIANS

Great Swimming Creatures Seen By Fishermen Off New South Wales Coast

Special to The Times

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 5.—The sea serpent tale is hoary indeed, but possibly for the first time definite attempts are being made here to sight and kill a sea monster which recently has frightened a number of fishermen and sailors off the southern coast of New South Wales.

The Alpha, a trawler belonging to the Shark Fisheries Limited, has left Sydney, chartered by Philips Radio to Simultaneously an ocean-going launch, seach the sea near the coastal town of Bull. She carries bombs, rifles and nets. the Lady Dudley, has set out in charge of Charles Messenger, the ex-international footballer. It carries an explosive gun, so the serpent will need all its traditional wisdom if it comes up near either vessel.

Although the first report of the sea beast passed for a joke, its appearance has since been reported by so many people it is widely believed here that some hitherto unknown creature has come inshore after shoals or fish now moving along the coast. Messenger is a noted shark fisherman, and has had many thrilling battles with ferocious twenty-foot tiger sharks.

SIXTY FEET LONG?

While hunting for big sharks off Sydney some time ago Messenger saw a gigantic black fish arch its back out of the water. It turned out to be a black shark, which species has the habit of arching itself and continuously waving its tail, which, from a distance, might suggest a big serpent gliding through the water. "Later, however," Messenger told a reporter, "I got a telephone call from a friend at Wollongong. For years this man has been a fisherman, reliable and clever. He told me his attention had been attracted to a weird looking gliding monster five miles off shore. He said it must have measured sixty feet long." This report from a seasoned man of the sea satisfied Messenger, who at once decided to join in the hunt.

All description agree the monster shows alternate "waves" of its length, extending in all to about sixty feet. D. G. Stead, an Australian scientist and fisheries expert, internationally known, believes the mystery fish, if real, may be a a great calamary, or cuttle fish, or a pike whale. "Now and again," he says, "for thousands of years these mighty things have been seen. They have two very long tentacles and eight short ones. The tentacles grow to enormous lengths. At the end of each is an oval head, two or three feet in length and about eighteen inches across. Hanging below it are suckers, and from a distance the appearance would be that of a head with the dangling suckers resembling teeth. Hence the fearsome head reported by the people of the south coast. Quite different, however, is the description of the monster reported by other people. No writhing was noticed, which lends color to the theory it was a pike whale. This fellow has a beak-like head and a mouth like the bill of a pelican. The calamary is an enemy and food of the sperm whale. Some years ago the officers of the steamer Dimboola saw what they described as a sea serpent some distance off the West Australian coast. My opinion is that it was a fight between a sperm whale and a calamary." Mr. Stead has seen a section of one of the calamary tentacles, which belonged to some Newfoundland fishermen.

It is recalled that several years ago the crew of a French steamer saw a sea serpent off the coast north of Sydney, the captain being so convinced of this that he formally entered the observation in the ship's log.

Higher Wage Scale Urged as Aid to Restore Prosperity

New York, Aug. 5.—The proposition that the best way to restore prosperity is to maintain high wage scales is upheld in expressions from leaders of American industry to Roy Dickinson, associate editor of Printers' Ink.

Dickinson recently telegraphed twenty-five business leaders picked at random, asking their opinion on wage cuts. Here are some of the replies made public by him to-day:

George F. Johnson, shoe manufacturer, Endicott, N.Y.: "Wage cutting or reducing income of labor is not a remedy for business depression. It is a direct and contributing cause."

J. A. Farrell, president U.S. Steel Corporation: "Quoting from my remarks at the May meeting of the American and Steel Institute: "I heard a steel man say the other day wages should come down. I said, "Oh, no, wages are not coming down in the steel industry; make your mind up to that. If you are going out to sell your goods and eliminate your profit and expect to get it out of the man in the mills you are greatly mistaken."

R. S. Shainwald, Pacific Coast parafine manufacturer: "Paraffine Companies, Inc., has made no reductions in personnel nor has it made any wage cuts. It believes such reductions can and should be avoided."

SENT TO SAN QUENTIN

Los Angeles, Aug. 5.—John B. Groves, recently convicted of taking a bribe of $5,000 while a juror in the Julian Petroleum fraud trial in 1928, was sentenced yesterday to one to ten years in San Quentin prison. Pleas for probation and a new trial were denied by Superior Judge Emmett Wilson, who granted a ten-day stay of execution.

EXPEDITIONS HUNTING GOLD IN AUSTRALIA

Seven Parties Travel to Areas in Central Part of Country

Special to The Times

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 5.—Experts consider a great revival of mining for precious ores likely here. A gold rush, like that of Ballarat of Calgoorlie in the past, would do much to lift Australia to prosperity again. Experienced prospectors affirm the uninhabited and still mysterious heart of the continent contains gold reefs of extraordinary richness, and seven expeditions, well equipped and well backed, are moving on the quest for an Eldorado in Central Australia.

Possibly the most interesting is one led by Fred Blakeley, a brother of the Minister of Home and Territories. A light airplane and a six-wheel Thornycroft motor truck are being used. With the party goes H. B. Lassetter, who thirty years ago discovered the reef at which the party is aiming. He has signed a declaration the reef is ten feet wide, that he traced it for ten miles, and that the assayed ore gave a return of three ounces to the ton.

In 1916 a camel expedition left West Australia to search for the reef, but was blocked by hostile tribes of blacks. One of the prospectors was speared to death and another wounded.

Central Australia covers about 1,000,000 square miles, and it has been scarcely touched by explorers. Later prospectors have found many a bleached skeleton. Thirst and savage tribes are the great danger of the region. One of the present expeditions, from West Australia, is investigating stories told by wild natives of rocks which burn if a "fire stick" is put to them. This might indicate the presence of petroleum. Sir Edgeworth David, the great geologist, considers the country gold-bearing. For some years New Guinea, over part of which Australia has a mandate, has given rich yields. A good deal of United States capital is invested in one company. Supplies are carried to the miners from the coast by daily airplanes, and a complete dredge is to be carried by air to the Bulolo River, an unusual job for which a three-engined Junkers plane is being brought from Germany.

Regina Prepares For World Wheat Conference in 1932

Regina, Aug. 5—A careful count made recently of the city of Regina places its population at 66,996. Its phenomenal growth since August 23, 1882, a dazzling bright and typically Western Canadian day, the day upon which the first railway train breezed into a small group of tents quatted upon the "baldheaded" prairie close to the newly-constructed continental line of the Canadian Pacific Railway—its phenomenal growth in forty-eight years since that day is the wonder and admiration of visitors from all parts of the world. Regina's population in 1903, when it was created a city, was but 3,000; in 1905 when it was made the capital of the newly-formed province of Saskatchewan, approximately 6,000, and to-day a beautiful flourishing city of 66,996 souls.

Western Cnada is probably the greatest convention area in the world and it is well within the reasonable to say that the city of Regina entertains more largely attended conventions than does any other city in Canada. With the city's long experience in these matters, with its location on both the Canadian transcontinental railways midway between the Great Lakes and the Rocky Mountains, in the very heart of one of the greatest, if not the greatest, crop producing areas in the world, and to reach which the visitor travels through a most fascinating prairie land of wide open grandeur, an all but limitless, rolling, fertile plain producing and nourishing in summer field after field of waving, yellow grain, a land of long, long days of glorious sunshine and vivid sunsets, a city with a hundred acres of well appointed exhibition grounds, with miles of railway trackage, well equipped aviation landing field, ample tourist accommodation, excellent water supply, commodious hotels, restaurants, and beautiful homes, but above all, Regina with the hospitality of her citizens wide open and broad as the Western Canadian plains, bright and enduring as the sunshine of a Western Canada day, is not only well situated and well equipped but determined to be well worthy of Canada's invitation to the people of all climes to meet within its bounds and there to take an active part in a great World's Grain Exhibition and Conference from July 26 to August 6, 1932, fifty years after a few tent-dwelling pioneers and a few awe-stricken Indians witnessed the arrival of the first Canadian Pacific Railway train, when Judge Johnson, of Montreal, gallantly carried out the request of Princess Louise to christen the infant city with the name it now bears, Regina, the Queen City of the Plains.

Goldman Sachs Profits as Expected

New York, Aug. 5.—Earnings of Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation for the six months ended June 30, showing a net equivalent to 47 cents a share or at the rate of about $1 a share for the year, was about in line with expectations and failed seriously to disturb the sentiment on the company that has prevailed among local traders for some time.

Figuring on a break-up value of $30 a share and a market price of $18 a share for the stock, the latter is selling at a discount of forty per cent.

ENGINEER LOSES LIFE IN CRASH

North Bay, Ont., Aug. 5.—Engineer William Hill was killed and Fireman Harry Tomlin severely scalded when the engine on Canadian National Railway train No. 47, Toronto to North Bay, left the track sixteen miles south of North Bay yesterday. A broken rail is said to have caused the accident. None of the passengers was injured. The engineer was so badly scalded about the head that he died on the way to a hospital in North Bay. The fireman was also severely scalded, but is said to be in no danger. Both were residents of Allandale, Ont. Only the engine and baggage car left the rails.

TEXTILES AND THE CONFERENCE

ALTHOUGH THE MORNING PAPER devotes a good deal of space in to-day's issue to an expression of hope that wise councils will prevail at the forthcoming Economic Conference in London, and that greater trade between the various parts of the Britannic Commonwealth will be one of the results of that important gathering, it makes the following observations in an adjoining editorial column about Canada's textile industry and what the Bennett government will be expected to do for it:

> The textile industry will be one of those to be afforded increased protection under the tariffs to be instituted by the Conservatives. Textile mills in the country have been closing down because they could not make profits trying to compete with cheap importations of cloths and other goods from countries where the cost of manufacturing is lower than in Canada. It is not that there is not sufficient demand for woolen goods in the country, for we consume more than the industry here is likely to produce for many years to come, even under increased protection. The demand is increasing all the time, but, under the Mackenzie King government, it is being supplied more and more from outside sources and less and less from industrial development at home.

We know, of course, that the people of Canada on July 28 voted against the British preference and for higher tariffs against the goods this Dominion imports from Great Britain. So any pious hope for the success of the Economic Conference must be considered in conjunction with such views about the textile industry—and other industries—as expressed by The Colonist.

More than one-third of the value of the commodities we buy from the United Kingdom is represented by fibres and textiles. Out of a total value of $194,000,000 worth of imports for the year ending March, 1929, this classification accounted for no less than $77,000,000 worth, while for the year ending with last March, $68,243,821 out of a $189,000,000 import total was spent on these goods. Incidentally, of our annual total of textile purchases, approximately one-third is made in Great Britain. As the duty goes up, therefore, imports naturally will decline, as will our exports.

But is the textile industry of Canada in such a poor condition as the morning paper would have us believe? An industrial bulletin issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company discusses the subject with authority and without regard for political or any other specific effect. We read among other comments that the textile industries of the Dominion produce more than one-tenth of our manufactured products as measured by value, that they employ almost one-fifth of the workers engaged in manufacturing, and that they supply approximately two-thirds of the home market for textile products. Then: "Their equipment provides for a supply of all ordinary needs without undertaking the production of the highest grade materials, such as are manufactured in Great Britain, where, for several centuries, hereditary skill has been developed."

From this point the bulletin in question tells the story of the textile industry, as it relates to the last ten years, in the following terms:

> The growth of the textile industries of the Dominion has been rapid and well sustained during the past decade. Between 1917 and 1928, the selling value of the products increased more than sixty per cent. In the earlier year, the selling value was $243,223,000. From this point there was a steady increase up to 1920, the year of inflated values, when it had reached $443,770,000. In the following year, when values had approached normal, the output was $304,912,000. By 1927, it had reached $382,007,000, and preliminary though incomplete figures for 1928 show a selling value of $395,138,000. During approximately the same period there has been an increase of about 80 per cent in the capital investment in the industry, which has risen from $119,906,000 in 1917 to $346,512,000 in 1927.

If we are to assume that Mr. Bennett will go to London in the mood The Colonist and other Conservative newspapers would have him go, he will have to say to his fellow delegates that Canada in future will shut off an eighty-million-dollar market for British textiles. And this, of course, is only one classification of purchases this country has been in the habit of making annually in the United Kingdom. Goods now entering free will be taxed and duties on others will be increased. How will this arrangement contribute to the success of the Conference?

TO HONOR "BOBBY"

THERE IS A MOVEMENT AMONG OLD Country golfers to show their appreciation of the great golf that Bobby Jones played in Great Britain this year, golf of a character that has never before been seen in the game.

The suggestion is made that a bronze plaque should be placed in the holy place of golf, the clubhouse at St. Andrews, recording his achievement in winning the British open and amateur championships with his record scores.

That such a cordial feeling exists, is an instance of the extraordinary impression Mr. Jones's golf and character have made on British golfers. It certainly is not a common thing for one country to put up a tribute to an invader who has defeated its brightest and best.

The feeling is that Mr. Jones's performance over there is a big event in golfing history that is unlikely ever to be repeated. His popularity at St. Andrews is well known, and it was typical of his admiration of St. Andrews that when he won the open championship there two years ago he asked to be allowed to leave the cup in its care instead of taking it home as a shining scalp. Indeed, "Bobby" is regarded by Old Country sportsmen as "one of us."

THE BEST TIME TO LIVE

THE "GOOD OLD DAYS," which are so regarded because we have conveniently—though perhaps unconsciously—trained our memories to recall only the good things and forget the bad, were not as good as they are popularly supposed to have been.

You can take this from Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, dean of the supreme court of the United States, who, in his ninetieth year, finds the complex life of 1930 richer and more interesting than that of 1865 when, already a lieutenant-colonel at twenty-three, he left the Union army to pursue a career at law. The venerable jurist gives his opinions in the current issue of the Golden Book magazine. He says in part:

> When it is said we are too much occupied with the means of living to live, I answer that the chief worth of civilization is that it makes the means of living more complex, that it calls for great and combined intellectual efforts instead of simple, uncoordinated ones, in order that the crowd may be fed and clothed and housed and moved from place to place . . . Because more complex and intense intellectual effort means a fuller and richer life. They mean more life . . . Life is an end in itself, and the only question of its being worth living is whether you have enough of it.

Though most people's experience with life is many, many years less than that of Justice Holmes, no doubt many believe as he believes. Our mode of living to-day, of course, calls for greater effort than that of a generation back, but we are compensated with richer and fuller lives. We enjoy more conveniences, comforts, pleasures and opportunities than our grandfathers ever thought possible. True, life is faster, competition is keener; but compensations are abundant.

Regardless of those who pine for "the good old days," we think there has never been a better time to live than the present. And, in addition, we look to the future for improvement. Our children may pay a greater price for their lives, but the compensation will be commensurate with the increase.

GLENN CURTISS'S RECORD

AVIATION HAS LOST ONE OF ITS most distinguished pioneers in the death of Glenn Curtiss.

Curtiss was by no means an old man when he died; yet his active career had spanned all of aviation's infancy. He had seen airplanes develop from crude, unsafe experimental machines to the soaring reliable affairs that carry mail and passengers all over the world to-day; and by his own efforts he aided materially in the amazing development which made aviation's position secure.

The glory of making the first flight, and proving that man could sprout wings, belongs, of course, to others. But Curtiss was not a great distance behind them. His work was of great value. Aviation is distinctly the poorer by his death.

IT HELPS CANADA

IN THESE EARLY POST-ELECTION days it is interesting to note a statement from Washington which tells us that exports from the United States to Canada for the month of May dropped no less than $24,000,000 compared with the figures for May of last year. In May of 1929 the total value amounted to $89,000,000; in May of this year the total was $65,000,000.

On this feature of Canada's trade with the neighboring republic one American commentator observes: "Of course, we are a prosperous country, and $24,000,000 doesn't mean very much to us. Still, one cannot help wondering just how this drop in the export trade is going to help American industry out of its present depression. You might remember, too, that Canada hitherto has been America's best customer."

It would be stretching the imagination a little to suggest that the Dunning budget accounted for this drop of $24,000,000 in Canada's imports from the United States in May. But it is just possible that the Dunning budget had the effect of reminding the Canadian people that they will benefit themselves by buying more Canadian, or empire, goods in preference to the products of foreign countries. If the budget, now defeated, caused our people to think this way, it has served Canada.

WHALES
Information Section (League of Nations)

It seems a far cry from the South Pole to Geneva, but the League of Nations has bridged the gulf by taking up the question of the protection of whales. It is well known that the whaling industry has harried the whales so mercilessly as to make them almost extinct except in the Antarctic and that with the concentration in this region of the efforts of the whalers Leviathan promises to disappear from the face of the waters altogether. This is a matter that can be dealt with only on an international scale, and the urgency and importance of the question was put forward by the government's represented at the World Economic Conference summoned by the League in May, 1927. Since then the economic organization has been studying the matter and as a result a committee of experts met in Berlin in April to frame a draft convention for the consideration of governments, which is intended to establish the necessary international protection for whales.

UNITED STATES OF EUROPE
The New York Times

(There will be a conference at Geneva in September to discuss the United States of Europe.) The "United States of Europe" has been brought down from the theatre of negotiation. It is a step forward in history when a conference seized of such a mighty project assembles. That it will produce divergences of programme and opinion, that it may reveal a clash of interests so sharp as to force a postponement, are not unlikely. But what we know of the world's hopes and fears engendered by the war makes it certain that such a breakdown will not be accepted as definitive. The very difficulties revealed will be proof of the necessity of solution. The idea of a co-operative union to supplant rampant nationalism will remain on the agenda of Europe.

Loose Ends

Mr. Bennett has a lucky month—perhaps!—Lowestoft goes modern with a vengeance—Macclesfield traduces justice—and Brighton preserves its honor.

By H. B. W.

JULY, SAYS The Vancouver Province, is the lucky month of Hon. R. B. Bennett, the Canadian premier-elect. To support which theory, The Province points out that Mr. Bennett was born on July 3, 1870, and won the premiership on July 28 last. The Province is too optimistic. I have known prime ministers who thought after a while that their unlucky day was that on which they were elected to office, but as time went on they altered that view. After tasting the bitter fruits of office they came to the conclusion that their greatest misfortune occurred to them on their first birthday in being born at all.

IN THE country, where bathing is rapidly approaching a state of nature undisguised, a recent decision of the Town Council of Lowestoft, in England, comes like an echo of ancient history. The Town Council of Lowestoft, after long and bitter argument, has finally rescinded a by-law of that place which prescribes that "no male bather shall approach within 100 yards of a female bather." Bathing at Lowestoft this season will see remarkable changes, astounding to the old-timers. No longer will a man teach his daughter to swim by standing a measured 100 yards away from her and shouting through megaphone, or perhaps, with more modern ideas, telling her by wireless how to kick her legs. No more in case of accident will drowning ladies be lassoed by a hundred-yard rope. And one is confident that in future no law-abiding man will stand 100 yards away and watch a good-loking girl drown, in the interests of strict law observance and strict morality.

AT MACCLESFIELD, another historical decision was handed down by the courts. In that place, it is recorded, the driver of an automobile was fined forty shillings for dangerous driving, and the evidence showed that the poor fellow had turned his head to look at a young woman on the road, and while doing so crashed into a lamp post, like the gallant gentleman he was. Now here surely was a gross injustice, calculated to undermine the ancient reputation of the British courts. They do not seem to have learned over there yet the obvious truth that the pedestrian is always wrong. The guilty party in this case, of course, was the lady, who in a more civilized land would have been charged with obstructing the traffic by displaying too much of what the movies love to call it.

SUCH LADIES, as the streets of Victoria prove every day, are the greatest menace to safe driving that we have. To fine drivers and let these creatures go scot free of course, is to punish the result and not the cause. I am glad to report, however, that these self-evident truths are understood by some of the deeper-thinking people of the Old Land. One poet, indeed, was so overcome with a sense of injustice when he heard of the Macclesfield case that he burst into this stirring verse:

> "For hers was the sin and incitement,
> Yes, hers was the error and vice:
> Come, draw up a proper indictment
> And charge her with looking too nice.
> Go, fine her for being too pretty
> And making too marked an appeal—
> Oh, punish her crime without pity,
> But never the man at the wheel!

LOWESTOWN WAS not the only English seaside resort which the present generation would find rather dull. A British paper has been looking up the customs of similar resorts during the duller years of the Victorian era, with illuminating results. It has found, by examining ancient guide books, that Eastbourne boasted "a circulating library and a theatre at which decent companies occasionally perform,' as well as "billiard tables which serve to exercise those who have less taste for books." Eastborn must have been a jolly place. Littlehampton recommended itself for "cheapness and retirement," and Cromer appealed to "bachelor or spinster travelers." Hastings sought patronage in these burning words: "Vice has not erected her standard here. Profligates, gamblers and swindlers finde employment and rapine elsewhere." At Brighton summer morality was carried to rare lengths, for gentlemen had to bathe at the west end of the town and ladies as far east as possible, among the uncomfortable rooks, the relative importance of the two sexes being better arranged at that period than they are now. "Thus," said the advertisements for Brighton, "public decency is preserved, without which no society can long exist." The good people of Briggton now gone would be amazed to see how our system of society continues to exist where both ladies and gentlemen bathe wherever they like and seem none the worse for it.

NORTH SAANICH ROADS

To the Editor:—May I ask space in your columns to draw attention to the condition of some of the roads in the North Saanich district and the scandalous waste of public money thereon?

Early last month some considerable length of road in the Deep Cove district was put into excellent condition for tarviating. After one day's work the machine was sent to other parts with the result that the roads have reverted to a worse condition than ever. The dirt blinding, turning to dust, has become a positive nuisance, not only to travelers, but to the whole neighborhood, while the loose gravel is in many places a danger to motor traffic. The costly pea gravel for binding the tarvia is scattered over the road and in the ditches and is mostly lost.

On the whole it is a glaring example of waste, mismanagement and inefficiency.

SECURITY FRAUDS PREVENTION ACT

To the Editor:—When may we expect a little action from the Hon. Mr. Pooley or whoever is charged with the administration of the Security Frauds Prevention Act? It is notorious that some of the wrongdoings that brought this act into existence are yet rampant in this Province, yet our supine government at Victoria seems unable to get a move on.

Alberta, Ontario and Quebec governments got some real action on, and laid a number of those national pests, the bucketing short-selling stockbrokers by the heels. Some of them operated in British Columbia without molestation or reproof from the present government, and others may be enjoying the same privilege to-day.

We on the mainland are getting "real mad" at the government's inaction. The way we voted in and around Vancouver at the recent Dominion election should be a warning to the Tolmie government to wake up, or out they'll go as soon as we can get at them.

May I suggest that inspectors under the Security Frauds Prevention Act be sent around immediately to ascertain who are and who are not complying with the requirements of the law, and that a close tab be kept on the exchanges and brokerage houses.

Surely the ruination of our mining industry, and the wholesale fleecing of the public who put money into mining stocks are matters that should more anxiously concern even such a lackadaisical government as we have in office in Victoria.

Meet Council On Relief For Needy Veterans

A deputation from the Armistice Period committee met the city council yesterday evening to discuss means of civic co-operation in relief for needy war veterans.

H. D. Twigg, M.P.P., spokesman for the delegation, pointed out that the committee was without funds to carry out full relief in the matter. Many ex-service men going to the city for help were turned over to the committee, he said.

The Armistice Period Committee was asked to appoint a man to deal with separate cases in conjunction with city officials.

ALTERATIONS TO WILLOWS GROUNDS IMPRESS PREMIER

Visits Fair Grounds and Inspects Improvements to Buildings and Track

Fair Entries Flocking Into Offices in Sayward Building

"I am very much impressed with the improvement in the appearance of the grounds," stated Premier Simon F. Tolmie after a tour of inspection through the exhibition grounds at the Willows yesterday afternoon with W. H. Mearns and George Sangster of the British Columbia Agricultural Association.

The Premier went on to say that any assistance given by the government towards extending the buildings would be money well spent. "I hope to see the day when one of the buildings may be devoted to a permanent exhibit of our industrial and agricultural products so that they may be seen by visitors to the city throughout the year," added Mr. Tolmie.

Early predictions of a heavy entry list are being sustained. Officials at the offices of the B.C. Agricultural Association in the Sayward Building are handling great files of mail this week containing entry form from all parts of the Pacific Northwest, in addition to the thousands of local entries. The entries cover every section of the show and keen competition in every department is assured.

Visitors to the provincial fair this year will find the entire setting as much changed as did the Premier yesterday. Not only have considerable improvements been made during the winter months, but the way has been paved for even more drastic alterations in the future.

The new site of the race track leaves room for the proposed home products building between the grandstand and the main approach. The Provincial Government has offered to aid in the construction of this building on a dollar for dollar basis with the city, and a by-law to provide for this outlay is expected some time in the future.

The new grandstand and track erected by the Colwood Park Association at a cost of $30,000, transforms the racing equipment from a crowded and somewhat antiquated lay-out into a roomy, modern plant which will doubtless be much appreciated by racing patrons this year. The new five furlong track is now being graded and will receive its first watering within the next few days. The grandstand, which accommodates 2,200 people, has room for the mutuels and concessions underneath it, and will thus effect a saving in both space and time.

Fatalities Occur in New York and Pennsylvania; Water Supply Low

New York, Aug. 5.—Stifled over the week-end by a broiling sun, the perspiring millions of the eastern seaboard of the United States cast about to-day for signs of relief, but found little that was encouraging.

New York City's congested residents bowed weakly under a humid 90 degrees yesterday. Three deaths from the heat, seven by drowning and seven prostrations occurred.

Pennsylvania, drought ridden and with crops tinder dry, had temperatures ranging up to 108 degrees, registered at Carlisle. The heat brought with it a strange malady which already has caused two deaths. It was described as a combination of blood poising and erysipelas. The water supply in many sections was dangerously low, and many farmers were hauling water for their livestock.

MORE WORK FOR ESQUIMALT

Council Decides to Keep Employees at Work on Highways For Time Being

In order to keep the men in the municipal service employed for the time being, as well as to improve the municipality, the Esquimalt Council at its meeting yesterday evening, voted an expenditure of from between $1,300 to $1,400 for road work.

Improvements will be carried out along Ansom Street, Dewdley Avenue, Munro Street, Anderson Avenue and Nelson Street.

During the meeting the council decided not to endorse the resolution Saanich intends to present to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities at its next meeting. The resolution proposes to give the councils of various municipalities the same rights as trustees of private concerns as far as court inquiries are concerned.

Feeling that the Provincial Government would not have opposed this suggestion during its last session unless it had some faults, the Esquimalt council declined to take action on the matter, leaving it to the judgment of the delegate to the union's convention.

Goats Might Go Hungry, However

"Follow the Birds to Victoria and Bring Your Goats With You."

This is the slogan looming before the city unless something is done about clearing weeds from crevices in sidewalks and gutters, in the opinion of W. E. G. Crisford, 1422 Harrison Street, who complained to the city council yesterday evening regarding the state of affairs existing in some places.

The matter was referred to the public works department.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES, AUGUST 5, 1905

Land Commissioner Dennis, Passenger Agent Coutenay, Commodore Troup and H. F. Bullen arrived at Ladysmith on a touring automobile from Comox, Englishman's River, Nanaimo, and other points on the road, says The Ladysmith Daily Leader of yesterday's date.

Bids Opened For Work at Hazelton And Williams Lake

In the absence of Hon. N. S. Lougheed, minister of Public Works, G. P. Napier, chief assistant engineer to the Public Works Department, yesterday afternoon opened tenders in the minister's office for the construction of a frame lock-up at Hazelton and two residences at Williams Lake.

Three bids were received for the Hazelton work and two for the Williams Lake houses.

Ernest Ham, Fred Cook and R. C. Mutch, a combination of builders from the Hazelton district, submitted the lowest bid of $10,843.62 for the Hazelton jail project.

The other two bids were E. H. Shockley, Vancouver, $12,621, and Thomas Carson, Vancouver, $12,890.

For the erection of a residence for the Department of Public Works and another for the Department of Agriculture at Williams Lake, the Mission Construction Company Ltd. of Hatzic, put in a tender of $10,427, the other bidder being J. G. James of Vancouver, who submitted a figure of $11,766.

The tenders were referred to the engineer's department for tabulation and will be considered by Mr. Lougheed to-day.

MAN ENDS LIFE AFTER FRAUDS

Calexico, Cal., Aug. 5.—For defrauding merchants here of $100, Adolph de Berg, who represented himself as a field agent for a motion picture firm, tried himself and his conscience pronounced the death penalty.

The body was found in a shock of hay yesterday. He had taken poison. In a pocket police, who were searching for him with a warrant for his arrest, found a letter to A. Hindburg, Mexicali, Mexico, business man. The letter said: "My life is a pleasure. I've tried myself before Judge Conscience, who is always right, and he decrees the death sentence. Good-bye."

HARVESTING METHODS CHANGED

Colorful Laborers and Big Excursions Give Way to Machinery

Only Skilled Mechanicians in Demand; Big Farmers' Wives' Dinners Gone

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 5.—The Kansas wheat harvest goes on. But gone is the annual trek of harvest hands to the fields. And going too are the threshing machines and harvest dinners.

Two men and a combine can harvest at least fifty acres of wheat a day. During a season they can harvest 1,000 acres of grain. If the weather is very dry, an extra crew on the combine can work at night, boosting the machine's work to seventy-five or eighty acres a day.

To accomplish the same work with the old method, using a header and three barges to cary the heads to stacks, it is necessary to use ten or eleven men. Then another crew of ten men must work between four and five days threshing the grain.

No longer are there armies of men riding freight trains, bumming rides on the highways and driving in rickety motor cars, hurrying from the Middle West cities, to participate in the harvest wages.

SKILLED MEN NEEDED

Now those who go to the fields are skilled mechanics. They must be able to operate and repair the machinery which has taken the place of men. They are transported to the fields in motor trucks and busses, or travel as regular passengers on trains. Only a small amount of unskilled labor is needed, and that is, for the most part, already in the fields.

The peak of labor importation for the wheat harvest was in 1926, when Kansas used 53,393 imported harvest hands. Since then the number has dwindled rapidly. This year only 27,000 were asked for, and where the combine is being used entirely little or no outside help is being employed.

Gone are the radicals who infested the wheat fields during the World War. Gone too are many colorful characters who made the following of the harvest yield their yearly "stake." The old fellows who gloried in their reputations as expert stackers find their skill without a market.

FARMER'S WIFE BENEFITS

With the combine has come the emancipation of the farmer's wife. No longer must she begin in June feeding crews of hungry harvesters and continue until the threshing is finished some time in July or August.

But gone also are the feasts she her daughters and the neighbors' wives prepared for the hungry men. No longer are the platters heaped with fried chicken, nor is it necessary for a neighborhood to butcher a young beef for the harvest.

Those dinners, where every kind of vegetable and two or three kinds of pie were washed down with gallons of iced tea, have gone the way fo the threshing machine.

The most efficient unit of land is 1,000 acres. One set of machinery and shelter houses will care for that size farm. However, many farmers operate combines on smaller acreages.

During the last two years a new factor has entered the field—corporation farming. Two corporations have made a business of farming and are operating 82,000 acres of land. A third corporation is entering the field.

CHAIN FARMS FEARED

Gov. Clyde M. Reed, of Kansas has been making a vigorous fight against chain stores. Now he finds a new problem. A threat of chain farms gobbling up the wheat lands of Kansas has been born. Depopulation of the farm country easily might follow, some farm leaders forecast.

Eastern capital is investing most heavily in the corporations, it is said. Literature akin to that issued in behalf of oil stock is flooded on the prospects. It is pretty literature. A flood of gold flows from a wheat sheaf in the frontispiece illustrations.

Such farming requires tenants only a few weeks of the year. If it grows, the old country school and the old country farm home may follow the harvest army, the thresher and the harvest dinner. And the farm population must lessen as the farmer laborers congregate in the cities.

HEALTH VIGOROUS NOW, SAYS MILNE

Calgary Man Gains Ten Pounds and New Strength and Energy Through Sargon

Sargon knows no age barriers, for the old as well as the young find in this remarkable new compound the strengthening, invigorating properties that have made it the most talked-of medicine in the Dominion to-day. Thousands of elderly men and women, whose systems had ceased to function with their former regularity and activity, have testified that Sargon brought them back to glowing health and a feeling of renewed vigor which they hadn't enjoyed in years.

The case of John W. Milne, 1931 7th Avenue E., Calgary, is a typical example of Sargon's amazing powers. Read what he said:

"I've gained ten pounds taking Sargon—a pretty good record for a man seventy-seven years old, like I am—and I feel in better all-round health to-day than I've been in twenty years!

"I had all kinds of trouble with my stomach for the last six years. It didn't seem to make any difference what or how little I ate, it always gave me indigestion, and I was so bilious all the time, my color was right yellow-looking. I had headaches from constipation; was so nervous I couldn't sleep more than a few minutes at a time, and got up feeling like I didn't have an ounce of strength in my body.

"Four bottles of Sargon, along with Sargon Soft Mass Pills, made a new man out of me. I can eat three hearty meals a day now without a sign of trouble with my stomach. My nerves are strong and steady; I go to bed and sleep like a log, and get up feeling alert and full of energy.

"It was the Sargon Pills that straightened out my life trouble and rid me of constipation and biliousness. They are the 'best ever,' they act so mild and easy, with no bad after effect. I feel like my system is entirely free of poisons for the first time in years. I've gotten back such a good healthy color and don't have headaches any more.

"Any medicine that will benefit a man of my age as much as Sargon has deserves nothing but the highest praise and I tell my friends about it whenever I can."

Sargon may be obtained in Victoria and Vancouver from all Owl Drug Stores; in New Westminster from the Bews Drug Co., and in Esquimalt from Fulmer's Drug Store. (Advt.)

CHILD SHOOTS HER PLAYMATE OVER RAG DOLL

Five-year-old Denver Girl Seized Rifle and Killed Little Neighbor

Denver, Col., Aug. 5.—The "age of discretion" as fixed under Colorado statutes will prevent the arrest or prosecution of Gloria Utter, aged five, who shot to death her six-year-old playmate, Rose May Etheridge, in an argument over a rag doll.

Authorities said to-day the infant killer, not knowing the meaning of death, having no grasp of the abstractions of right and wrong, did not realize the enormity of her act. Colorado fixes the age of reason at ten years.

After threatening her playmate with death, Gloria went to the garage of her home, obtained a rifle and fired at Rose May's back as the latter was leaving the back yard of a neighbor's home where the children had been playing.

"Rose stole my rag doll and I shot her" was the only comment relatives and authorities could get from the baby slayer, who fled, crying, to her home, when police appeared.

LONDON GIVES BIG WELCOME TO GIRL FLYER

More Than a Million Cheered Amy Johnson on Triumphal Return

To Be Guest at London Luncheon in Her Honor To-morrow

London, Aug. 5.—An English lass of twenty-three years who, besides having blue eyes and golden hair and a taking smile, recently flew an airplane by herself from Croydon to Australia, rested at a London hotel to-day after a homecoming reception such as the British Isles have rarely seen.

More than 200,000 people, London papers estimated, were at Croydon landing field yesterday to witness the delayed arrival of Miss Amy Johnson or "Johnny" as she prefers to be known, from Vienna, Austria, aboard the City of Glasgow, regular passenger plane. More than a million, it was calculated cheered her as she was driven through London to her hotel, sitting atop the back of the rear seat.

The young aviatrix was due at 6 p.m. from Vienna, but a half gale between London and Cologne made the plane late. The crowd, augmented by the August bank holiday, remained nevertheless. It was 9 a.m. before six escort planes landed in the glare of searchlights and the City of Glasgow itself came down.

"Johnny" was lifted from the cabin of the ship into the presence of the reception committee, which included her parents and three Cabinet Ministers, Lord Thomson, Minister of Air; Miss Margaret Bondfield, Minister of Labor, and J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal. A microphone was fitted for her to make a speech but the roar of the thousands cheering drowned out all except the words: "I am very glad to be home again."

POLICE KEPT BUSY

Wild cheers and shouts greeted the young heroine as she was driven to her hotel, the crowds swarming in front of the car and on to the running boards where many attempted to shake hands or kiss her. Police had a lively time protecting her from too enthusiastic attentions.

At the hotel the crowd was as thick as ever and the police had to clear a way through for her and her party. Despite her fatigue after 800 miles of flying and the long trip in from Croydon, she appeared on a balcony and waved to her admirers again.

In an interview with reporters she said she had received many proposals of marriage from various parts of the world, but was "not likely to accept any. They don't interest me," she said.

Miss Johnson will rest to-day. To-morrow she will attend a luncheon in her honor at a hotel in central London to which she will be driven at the head of another procession giving the public another chance to hail her return.

Aviatrix Makes New Speed Record At San Marino

Los Angeles, Aug. 5.—Florence Lowe Barnes, San Marino, Calif., flier, yesterday established a new speed record for women by piloting her Travelair Mystery "S" ship at a speed of 196.19 miles an hour. The flight, made at the Los Angeles municipal airport, was clocked by Joe Nikrent, official timer for the National Aeronautic Association.

The former women's record of 184.6 miles per hour, held by Amelia Earhart, also was established at Los Angeles

Happy Valley

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Clark were Dr. and Mrs. S. Youlen of Victoria.

F. J. Boughton of Victoria was a week-end guest at "Mandalay."

Mrs. Stuart Hutchison and children, who have been visiting Mrs. Hutchison's sister, Mrs. Forbes O'Brien in Seattle, have returned home.

The monthly meeting of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute will be held in Luxton Hall on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Wool will be prepared for carding to be used for comforter, which will be on display at the forthcoming fall fair.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Weeks, Sooke Road, wish to thank the firefighters and also to acknowledge the extreme kindness shown them the day of the bush fire by their neighbors and the young people of Luxton, Happy Valley and Glen Lake.

FEW TIES ARE "PURE SILK"

By WILLIAM H. BALDWIN
Author of "The Shopping Book"

In neckties, virtually everything used in the way of material, outside of real English Spitalfields silk, has some rayon in the fabric, and such goods are no longer guaranteed as pure silk.

Even the imported goods, with the exception noted, have rayon in them. The use of rayon in these fabrics is, however, not regarded as detracting from their desirability. Rayon brings out the lustre of the material in a necktie where pure silk would be dead in color. Neckties, after all, sell largely on their appearance and may be of cotton and fibre, provided the color and pattern are attractive.

Beware of advertisements of "pure silk" neckties for few are to be had in the general run of stores.

FOREST MOVIE GIVEN PRE-VIEW

Local Educational Picture Shown Yesterday Evening

The history of the forest trees of British Columbia, from the virgin timberland to the final use in home building, was presented yesterday evening at the offices of the British Columbia Bond Corporation, when the Victoria-made moving picture "Forest Adventures in the Great Northwest" was presented by D. Flintoff, director of the Atlas Educational Film Company Limited, with W. B. Young in charge of the projecting machine.

H. E. Boorman explained that the British Columbia Bond Corporation was underwriting a small sum required to make five more pictures, asked by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, who had been greatly impressed with the educational value of such pictures as the forest film shown.

Mr. Flintoff explained that the Atlas Educational Film Company proposed to make thirty industrial films, such as the forestry production which had so impressed the Minister of Education, each telling the history of a particular British Columbia industry. These pictures would be shown in the schools, as a part of the educational system of the Province. He outlined methods of production and distribution, and answered objections which have been advanced to showing such pictures in the schools.

$1,000 GIFT TO B.C. ORPHANAGE AS MEMORIAL

Handsome Donation in Memory of Late Mrs. C F. Todd

A very welcome gift of $1,000 from W. C. Todd and E. D. Todd, in memory of their late mother, who was at one time a member of the ladies' committee, was among the generous contributions received by the B.C. Protestant Orphanage last month, according to the report presented at the monthly meeting of the ladies' committee, held yesterday afternoon. Mrs. C. H. Walker, the president was in the chair, and the following members present: Mesdames Longstaff, E. M. Brown, Cox, Fraser, Dorman, Simpson, McKeown, Edwards, Dinsmore and Miss Newburn.

The annual pound party at the Home has been planned for October 9. The children are all enjoying their holidays from school, thanks to the generous interest of many kind friends. Six of the older girls spent ten days at the Girl Guide camp. Two boys spent two weeks at the Navy League camp. Joseph North treated the children to a picnic at Ocean Beach, arranging for all refreshments, also the prizes for the races. The Central Transfer kindly provided the transportation, and the youngsters thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Another picnic was held at the Home through the kindness of Dr. Holmes of New York. Mrs. E. M. Brown will be the visiting member for August.

MISS BENNETT TO GO ABROAD

Will Accompany Premier-elect to Imperial Conference

Toronto, Aug. 5.—Miss Mildred Bennett, sister of Hon. R. B. Bennett, will accompany the Prime Minister-elect to the Imperial Conference this fall, she intimated to the Otawa correspondent of The Toronto Mail and Empire, the newspaper says to-day.

Miss Bennett, the dispatch says, refuses to believe she was a factor in the victory scored election day, though she accompanied her brother on his entire tour and addressed numerous campaign meetings on behalf of the Conservative party.

She is much interested in European affairs, and with her brother to guide her in what to read, she keeps well posted. The Mail says she dreads the talk of war. She likes golf, horseback riding, swimming and belongs to a mountain climbing club in the Rockies.

"She is an outdoor girl, but still she finds time for reading, even with her political duties," the despatch says.

Tag Day Netted $710 For Salvation Army Hospital

Saturday's tag day in aid of its rescue work at Grace Hospital, Vancouver, netted the Salvation Army the sum of $710.10.

Convened by Adjutant Sharp, of the local command, assisted by Adjutant Waterson, of Vancouver, the tag was assisted by sixty-five volunteers, the majority being Salvationists, but a number of members of the Women's Institute also helped. The Citadel was used as headquarters and David Spencer Limited, generously lent one of its Government Street windows for a display featuring two real babies in charge of one of the Grace Hospital nurses.

BRITISH WOMAN IS ATTACKED BY CHINESE SOLDIER

Wife of Nanking Official Seriously Wounded While Asleep

Nanking, China, Aug. 5.—Mrs. A. R. J. Hearne, wife of a British official of the Tientsin-Pukow Railway, was attacked and seriously wounded by a Chinese soldier while asleep in her home at Puchen, north of Pukow, early to-day.

The soldier wielded a bayonet, inflicting several wounds on Mrs. Hearne before her husband reached her bedside. The attacker escaped. Mrs Hearne was not expected to recover.

British consular officials here vigorously protested to the Nationalist Foreign Office.

Stories of torture and other violence involving women missionaries climaxed to-day reports from the areas infested with Communists and bandits.

British consular authorities at Foochow reported desperadoes had chopped a finger from the hand of a British woman missionary at Kienyang, northern Fukien province, and sent the severed digit to provincial officials at Yenping, along with a demand for $50,000 ransom for the missionary and her companion, both of whom had been held captive for more than a month.

The message from the desperadoes said the women's other fingers would be chopped off and sent as evidence of the seriousness of the ransom demand unless payment was forthcoming immediately.

The captives are Miss Edith Nettleton and Miss Edith Harrison of the British Church Missionary Society, with headquarters in London. They were seized while traveling from Chugan toward Yenping in an attempt to escape from the danger area.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by Myrtle Meyer Fluckey

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

At five years the child should be able to dress with comparative ease. Obviously he can't reach that stage without constant practice, and unless the child is allowed to fumble with sleeves and panty legs, putting the wrong arm or leg in until he works out the puzzle, he can't possibly become competent in this task.

Taking shoes on and off is a delightful game to children when they first learn it. They should be allowed to play it as often as they like until they are sufficiently adept to lose interest in pursuing it as a game.

Bent on manufacturing disobedience where none exists. Mrs. E. W. writes: "My little girl is two and a-half years old and has a great habit of taking her shoes off. I have scolded and punished her for it, but she takes them off again and again and brings them to me to show me that she has done it.

"If I say, 'Now you have to sit in the chair for doing that, she says 'I'll sit there now.' What would you do with her?"

HARMLESS SPORT

First of all, be very, very sure that the child's shoes are comfortable. They may be too short or too narrow and really distress her so that relief comes only when she removes them. The insides may be rough from nails or stiff bits of canvas or puckers which can't be felt without investigation.

This is such a perfectly harmless procedure that I see no reason for making such a fuss. Why call it a misdemeanor? Let her put on and take off her shoes to her heart's content until she is satisfied to keep them on (providing you know they are comfortable). You are making dressing and undressing a misdemeanor, when you yourself do this for her a half-dozen times a day. How can you make her understand the necessity for obedience when something serious or dangerous is involved?

PETTY TYRANNY

Taking off and putting on her shoes is, at the moment, a pleasant pastime for the child and an education in future usefulness. In this case you have said "no" (for no good reason except that it annoys you), and you must uphold your contention, even if it is a silly one. No wonder the child is confused by such petty tyranny!

If you exhaust your ammunition on trifles, you will have none left when she uses scissors on your best tablecloth, or dumps the contents of your choicest perfume bottle in the sink. Scolding and punishing for no good reason wears out discipline before it has any real use.

YOUR CHILDREN

Mothers often are puzzled about vitamins. It is an elusive term at best and probably none but the initiate know how they work, why they work, or exactly what they are.

Calories, we know, are food units that build up tissues, but vitamins are different. They seem, as the name derivatives suggest, to give "life" to certain parts of the body, thereby preventing disease from attacking those parts by keeping them resistant.

I have looked up a table of vitamins for the help of those mothers who are concerned about fortifying their children against present malformations and weaknesses.

ADVANTAGES ARE MANY

But first I shall say this, that this list does not mention the lesser things prevented by vitamins. There are many other advantages gained by the vitamin diet than those mentioned here:

Vitamin "A" is contained in cod liver oil, butter and eggs. Prevents eye diseases primarily.

"B" is contained in vegetables and cereals. Prevents beri-beri, a disease characterized by paralysis, numbness and difficulty in breathing. It is commoner in the Orient where natives depend on rice and starches for their food. Also prevents other nerve disease and resultant functional disorders.

"C" is contained in citrus fruits such as oranges, grapefruit, lemons and limes. It prevents scurvy and certain skin diseases.

"D" is found in cod liver oil and fish. It fortifies against rickets or improper bone development.

"E" in wheat kernels prevents sterility.

"G" found in beef, milk and yeast prevents pellagra, a nervous disease with inclination to extreme melancholy.

MILK BUILDS TISSUES

There may be others but these are the important ones. I was surprised to find milk mentioned only in one, but milk is essentially a tissue-building food and is pre-eminent, no doubt, on account of its nourishing qualities.

As I say, vitamins lay little or no claim to the right of the calory kingdom. They have a different work to do.

We see now how necessary it is to give the children a "balanced" diet—one that contains all these preventions in general. Not too much starch, not too much fat, nor a surfeit of cereals or fruits or eggs or meat at the expense of the others. Vegetables are fine because of calories as well as vitamins. Yet even they need the balance of butter fats, fruits, milk and meats to round out their efficiency.

THAT LAD should have gone to college, but his father died....

"I remember well, what high hopes his father had for him. Intended to give him a good education and a real start in life but—well, he passed away at the wrong time."

"Wasn't there any insurance money?"

"There was none. His father intended to take out a policy but never got around to it. He was always so healthy."

"Yes, I remember too, he was hurt in a street accident and lingered for a while and then...."

Elks Defeat Jokers In First Game of Amateur Ball Play-offs

THE SPORTS MIRROR

THE ERROR column in the major league baseball results for last week brought to light a few startling facts about the difficulties the fielders are having in these days of hard hit balls. Of the sixteen clubs in the two big leagues, only five had fewer than ten errors for the week, three of these made nine while the Chicago Cubs, who had the best fielding record, committed five misplays in six games. Washington got by with six errors. In the other direction, the totals mounted to 24 by the Chicago White Sox, an error for every run tallied by the low scoring clubs, Cincinnati and the Boston Braves.

The Braves had the worst National League mark of eighteen errors, which was equalled by their townsmen, the Red Sox. A fifteen, two fourteen's and two thirteen's were also on the records, with no club playing more than ten games.

Despite fifteen misplays, the Pittsburgh Pirates climbed to the top of the National League for the week, winning six games and losing but one. The Pirates did not figure as leaders in any other respect, as they won most of their games by small margins. The Cleveland Indians compiled a similar record to lead the American league with six victories and one defeat. The Indians were second in scoring for their circuit with fifty-six runs, but otherwise did not figure among the leaders.

The Brooklyn Robins and New York Yankees were the real sluggers of the two circuits but neither came very near the top of the seven day standing. The Robins, with six victories and three defeats, were third in the National League, coming in behind the New York Giants, who won six and lost two. The Robins scored 64 runs, tying with the Yanks in that respect, and led all the rest in hitting with 114 wallops. The Giants scored 62 times on 106 hits. The Yanks who finished fifth for the week, were second in the American League to the St. Louis Browns in hitting. They made 100 blows and St Louis 106.

The Washington Senators took the week's defensive honors, holding their rivals to 20 runs to finish third in the American League, winning three games and losing two. Philadelphia took second with five victories and two defeats. The St. Louis Cardinals gave their opponents 26 runs to lead the National League defensively. Three teams, New York and St. Louis in the American League and Philadelphia in the National, shared home run honors with ten four-baggers apiece.

Some day, somebody will do something about it, but until then we must sit back and hope that the Fates will spare us any more swelled thumbs, torn finger nails or pulled tendons If you're given to prayer, it might be well to ask that Bobby Jones be spared a blistered finger or a sunburned neck when he goes after his fourth major golf title of the season, the U.S. Amateur, at Philadelphia in September.

* * *

The Fates are always pulling off mean tricks to the favorite just when it appears certain that he will attain a goal that none other has reached. First it was a torn finger nail and then a swelled thumb for Babe Ruth. And now our latest to suffer was Blue Larkspur, star of Colonel Bradley's Idle Hour Farms. The son of Black Servant-Blossom Time has been taken home to his native Blue Grass region, suffering from a weakened tendon which caused his right foreleg to swell. He will race no more this season—and perhaps never.

The big four-year-old took the Arlington Cup at a gallop and just when a lot of the experts were figuring he was the horse to put that young upstart, Gallant Fox, in his place and set a new record for American turf winnings to boot, he pulled up on three legs and had to be moved into a retirement that may be lasting. It is doubtful if we hear any more of Blue Larkspur until 1934, when his sons and daughters will be coming to the post.

* * *

Alex Metzler, who was a bench-warming substitute for the Chicago White Sox, got five hits in eight times at bat for the St. Louis Browns in a recent double-header. The Browns also have another batter named Goose Goslin.

* * *

Big Bill Tilden has announced his retirement from further Davis Cup tennis play, according to recent dispatches from abroad. Does that mean that Tilden will not represent the United States in future Davis Cup tennis campaigns, asks O'Goofty?

* * *

A Boston newspaper brings up the question, "What will the next 100 years disclose in the development of sports?" One guess is that Bill Tilden still will be playing Davis Cup tennis for the US.

Sarah Palfrey Is Extended to Win From an Unknown

East Hampton, N.Y., Aug. 5.—By the narrowest margin, Sarah Palfrey, Brooklyn, Mass. player, escaped defeat in the first round of the fifth annual Maidstone Tennis Club's invitation tournament yesterday. H. Clara Louise Zinke, of Cincinnati, carried the New England girl to three deuce sets before surrendering, 8-6, 5-7, 9-7.

Most of the other favorites advanced to the second round.

Marjorie Gladman, Santa Monica, eliminated Marion Lawley, 6-0, 6-1, and then brushed aside Mary McHale, 6-2, 6-1. Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Monica, put out Ruth Bailey, St. Louis, 6-0, 6-1, and Dorothy Weisel, San Francisco, defeated Mrs. Robert McCormick, 6-0, 6-0. Mary Greef, Kansas City, also won in love sets from Kathleen Fox, New York.

Jack Morgan Hits Three Home Runs In 9 to 2 Victory

Hard-hitting Third Baseman Breaks All Local Home Run Records by Lifting Ball Out of Lot on First Three Trips to Plate; Norm Forbes Twirls Great Game for Antlered Tribe Striking Out Thirteen; Elks Play Fine Ball and Are Favored to Win Series; Second Game on Wednesday.

With Jack Morgan, husky third baseman, staging a little Babe Ruth act all of his own by crashing out three successive home runs in his first three trips to the plate, the Elks defeated the Jokers, 9 to 2, in the first game of the Victoria Senior Amateur League baseball play-offs a the Royal Athletic Park yesterday evening. This was the first of the two-game series between the second and third-place teams, the winner to meet the Sons of Canada in the final. The second game will be played on Wednesday, and in view of yesterday evening's win the Elks are 2 to 1 favorites to win the series.

Morgan by his feat shattered all local home run hitting records. The best mark previous to yesterday evening was established by Haley Jackson, who performed on a number of local teams before moving to Vancouver a few years ago, who poled out three home runs during a game in the old Stadium, located on the present site of the Crystal Garden. However, Jackson's circuit blows were not in succession.

By hitting three home runs yesterday evening Morgan brought his total for the season to eighteen. Nine of these have been hit in league competition, and the remainder in exhibition tilts.

DANGEROUS HITTER

Morgan has proved one of the most dangerous hitters in the league this season and yesterday evening he was right in his glory. Every one of his blows cleared the centre field fence with yards to spare, and his second crash landed in the backyard of one of the homes on Pembroke Street.

Sharing the honors with Morgan was Norm Forbes, pitching ace of the Elks. The speedball artist held the Jokers, who are defending the championship they won last season, to seven scattered hits, while he struck out thirteen. Outside of the first inning when the Jokers scored their two runs Forbes was never in trouble, while his teammates gave him excellent support except for the first frame.

HOLDEN WILD

Leo Holden who went the distance for the Jokers had considerable trouble with his control. During the nine innings three wild pitches were chalked up against him and they usually came with men on the bases. Holden was nicked for seven hits.

The Elks turned in one of their best performances this season, and on their exhibition appear to have a fine chance of lifting the championship.

Two errors in the first inning by Morgan and McKenzie were responsible for the Jokers scoring their two runs. Elmer Smith, first batter to face Forbes, reached first on a base on balls. Emeri struck out. Stickney reached the initial sack and Smith advanced to second when Morgan fumbled the former's ground ball. Holden was safe at first and the other two runners advanced on McKenzie's fumble. Smith scored on a single by D'Arcy, while Stickney crossed the plate on Belcher's single. Forbes settled down to work and struck out Candy and Barry to retire the side.

The Elks scored their first run in the second inning when Morgan hit his first home run. In the third inning the Elks shoved home five runs to practically cinch the contest. Murty Dunn started the rally by working Holden for a walk and sealing second Webster singled to right field, Dunn stopping at third. Both runners advanced on a wild pitch by Holden, and the score was tied. Webster who was at third scored on a passed ball by Donaldson. Norm Forbes walked, stole second and scored on a wild pitch to Belcher by D'Arcy on Cummins's grounder, Cummins going to second. Morgan lifted the ball out of the lot to make the score read 6 to 1 in favor of the Elks.

The Elks added another run in the fourth, McKenzie getting a walk, stealing second and scoring on Webster's clean single past first base.

HITS NUMBER THREE

In the fifth Morgan brought down the stand by poling out his third home run.

This ended the scoring until the eighth when the Elks brought their total to nine. Roy Robinson singled, advanced to second and third on passed balls, and scored on a wild pitch by Holden.

MINOR "BIG" LEAGUES TO MAKE REPLY

Ball Circuits Will Declare Themselves Regarding Universal Draft Demand

Open Break Looms Between Big Minor Circuits and Two Major Circuits

Chicago, Aug. 5.—The reply of the "big" minor baseball league to the major leagues' ultimatum demanding acceptance of the universal draft, was in the making to-day.

The minor organizations—the American Association, International League and the Pacific Coast League—had planned to meet to consider a renewal of the modified draft agreement which has governed relations between majors and minors since 1922, but the recent demand by the former, that the universal draft be accepted, destroyed the original issue.

At a recent meeting, the American and National Leagues decided all player relations with the three big minor organizations as well as with the Western and Three Eye Leagues, would cease after December 1, unless the universal draft was accepted.

TO FIGHT DEMAND

Promise of open warfare was given when the International American Association and Pacific Coast groups decided to fight the demand. President Thomas J. Hickey of the American Association expressed the opinion that the difficulty would be "threshed out" when the minors met in joint session, but this was considered doubtful and an open break loomed.

DODGES WILL MEET BUICKS

Play-off Berth at Stake in Garage League Fixture Set For This Evening

Dodges meet Buicks in a crucial Garage League ball tilt this evening at 6 o'clock in the Royal Athletic Park

Buicks are at present holding second place in the league standing by a margin of one game and need a win to clinch their play-off berth against the l ague leading Fords. On the other hand Dodges must win to stay in the running for the championship series. A victory would put them in a tie with Buicks and necessitate another game.

Walter Battison will get the pitching assignment for the Buicks, while Ed. Miles will be on the mound for Dodges.

M. RAINVILLE DEFEATS BIG IRISH STAR

Rainville Plays Shrewd Game to Win 6-2, 5-7, 6-3; U.S. Davis Cup Team Back

Southampton, N.Y., Aug 5.—The first U.S. singles appearance of G. Lyttleton Rogers, giant Irish tennis ace has been extremely brief.

The six-foot seven-inch player from Dublin, who beat Henry Cochet on the Riviera this spring, was eliminated in the first round of the Southampton Invitation Tournament yesterday by little Marcel Rainville, of Montreal, Canadian Davis Cup star.

Rainville played a shrewd back court game to beat the Irishman, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3 in the only outstanding upset of the first day's play.

The thirty survivors after yesterday's competition were to be joined today by three members of the U.S. Davis Cup squad, George Lott, Wilmer Allison and Berkeley Bell. Bill Tilden, John Van Ryn, John Doeg and Gregory Mangin, other members of the Davis Cup team, were to confine their competition to doubles, starting tomorrow.

Bryant Grant, of Atlanta, smallest player in the tournament had plenty of trouble with Armnd Brunean of New York whom he beat in three sets, 2-6, 6-1, 8-6. The Atlantan was confronted with a stern task to-day with Rainville to dispose of if he was to reach the third round.

HOCKING IN SEMI-FINALS

Local Tennis Star Advances in P.N.W. Sectional Tournament at Seattle

Seattle, Aug. 5.—Sixty matches were on the programme to-day in the Washington state tennis tournament, with the finals scheduled to be reached in the singles and doubles events of the Pacific northwest sectional division.

Favorites in both the men's and women's classes had little trouble advancing to the third round yesterday.

Bradshaw Harrison, Tacoma, winner of three Pacific Northwest titles this season, scored two victories in the men's singles. He defeated John Ryan Jr., Seattle, 7-0, 6-3, and C. J. Greene, Seattle, 6-0, 6-1. Joe Coughland, San Francisco, winner of the British Columbia grass court championship in Victoria last week, dropped out of the men's singles.

Opening matches in the sectional tournament were played yesterday with Mel Drange and Henry Prussoff, Seattle; Jack Rhine, Portland, and Ross Hocking, Victoria, advancing to the semi-finals.

Horses Will Open Season To-morrow At Colwood Track

Fine Programme Arranged for Start of Racing on Island; Many Improvements Carried Out on Mile Oval; Starting Gate Will Be Introduced; Large Fields Assured for Seven Races Daily; William Woodward Will Be Presiding Judge.

"They're off!" The old familiar cry will resound on the Island for the first time this year to-morrow afternoon when the 1930 racing season is formally opened at the beautiful Colwood mile track. The first race will get away at 2.30 o'clock and a bumper crowd is expected by racing officials. Horse racing has long been a popular sport in the Capital City and with the half holiday hundreds will no doubt be on hand to watch the bang-tails romp around the course.

The opening meet will continue for seven days with seven races daily except Sunday, rain or shine. With many horses here large fields are assured for all races. Another new innovation this season will be the introduction of the starting gate.

OPENING HANDICAP

To-morrow's card will be featured by the opening handicap at six furlongs. There will be three races at distances over a mile. Two sprints, one for Western Canadian bred horses, and another six-furlong event round out what appears to be a first class card.

William Woodward, of Lexington, who has carried out the duties of judge so capably in Vancouver, will be the presiding judge for local meets. The position of racing secretary, will as usual, be handled by R. F. Leighton, who has acted in this capacity for a great many seasons.

The honorary stewards will be: Col. A. Morris, Commander Slingsby and W. S. Campbell.

CHANGES MADE

A number of improvements have been carried out at the Colwood oval. The most noticeable is at the clubhouse where stone steps have been constructed at the entrance, while the general appearance has been improved. It is claimed to be the finest clubhouse in British Columbia.

George Irvine will handle the catering.

MANY HORSES HERE

No Effort, Vorpell, Barrie Oliver (son of the great Sir Barton), Epco, Alleron, Bobbie Doyle, Mizzlette, Another Deck, Lovecharm, Sandswept, Bowcroft, Vision II (that recently ran a mile in 1.38), Master Rock, Oregon Rose, Frank Gallor, Sporting Vein, Kingsman, Crossbow, Cyclonic, Tennessee, Simony, New Hampshire, Harry H. Bell, Heartache, Green Spring, Rapida, Mount Elgin, Bull Run, Woodburn, Dixie Darling, Dutiful Don, Bay Lad, Ferrona Seth, Pangold, Dossier, Macushla II, Thunderland, Moonchild, Rosamond, Tuxedo Sam, Alberta Lad, Willow Bramble, Inez K., Fourteen-sixty, Dudu, June Star, Sis Turpin, Bouncing Ball, River Maid, Yorkhome, Coeur de Lion, Lady Spain, Glad Fred (winner of five straight at Vancouver), Tommy Doyle, King Flame, Chiva, Jenkins Rochester Bear Tamer, Lord, Lady and Princess Goldstream, Honeythistle and Hiram Taylor.

LOCAL SHOTS COMPETING AT TORONTO MEET

Pte. E. Shrosbree Leads Victoria Riflemen With Score of 68; Evans Next

Long Branch, Ont., Aug. 5.—Two events were decided and the first stage of a third, the city of Toronto match, featured yesterday, opening day of the fifty-ninth annual shoot matches of the Ontario Rifle Association. In the city of Hamilton Tyro match, the Hamilton Central Collegiate Cadets won an outstanding victory when they defeated four adult teams by a score of 163 points out of a possible 175.

The first stage of the city of Toronto catch saw Major P. S. Bapty share the lead with Company Quarter-master Sergeant A. C. Smith, Queens Own Rifles, each making a perfect score over the 500 and 600 yard ranges with a 70.

The Alfred Ottter Challenge Cup, awarded to any two teams of a unit scoring the highest aggregate in the Lewis machine gun match, was captured by the Essex Scottish "A" and "C" teams, with scores of 103 and 65 respectively.

British Columbians took part in the city of Toronto match, 7 shots each at 500 and 600 yards, possible 70, and twenty-one scores of 65 have to shoot off for one place in the second stage, which is to be shot to-day at 900 yards. British Columbia scores follow:

Pte. E. Shrosbree, Vic.	68
Pte. E. Jamieson, Van.	67
C.Q.M.S. A. E. Evans, Vic.	67
M.G. H. Collins, Vic.	66

Two U.S. Golfers Co-medalists In Canadian Amateur

J. R. Ferguson of Philadelphia and F. W. Ryan, Birmingham, Pair of Unknowns, Turn in Scores of 144 for Thirty-six-hole Round; Sandy Somerville Three Strokes Behind; Eddie Held, Defending Champion, Has 151; Conditions Make Scores High.

Canadian Press

London, Ont., Aug. 5.—With aspirants for the Canadian amateur golf title whittled down to thirty-two by yesterday's thirty-six-hole qualifying round, the battle started again, at 9 o'clock eastern standard time this morning. Eastern and Western Canada combined to pit their skill and endurance against the invaders from the United States, seeking to regain the crown Eddie Held of Great Neck, N.Y., won last year at Jasper Park. Of the thirty-two who qualified nine were from the United States.

J. Wood Platt, of Philadelphia, who shot 153 for thirty-six holes yesterday, was the first to tee off this morning and he had as his opponent Jack Fullet, of Montreal, who was three strokes better than Platt in yesterday's medal rounds.

The next international affray started at 9.25 when John L. Lewis, of Brantford, former Ontario titleholder, stepped up to the first tee drawn against Eddie Held. This is expected to prove one of the exciting matches of the day.

The third international contest got under way with Alex Weir upholding Canada against J. L. Vazant, of Detroit.

Dan Kennedy, of Winnipeg, the second western Canadian player to qualify, went up against Jack Cameron. Both of them are golfers of repute.

To-day there will also be a sweeping stake tournament for those eliminated by the medal contest.

Two United States players, J. Raymond Ferguson, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Francis W. Ryan, Birmingham, Mich., shared the glory yesterday in the qualifying round. Unheralded before the start of play, this pair blazed through a gruelling thirty-six-hole test tie for medal honors with score of 144. They will play off later in the week.

In heading the field the two Americans finished with a comfortable lead of three strokes over their nearest competitors, S. R. Somerville, former titleholder, of London, Ont., and Nicol Thompson, of Toronto, who tied with card sof 147. J. C. Broeckh, of Toronto, came next with 148.

It was soon apparent that the combination of a difficult course, sun-baked fairways and sultry weather would exact its toll. Scores were unusually high as the early finishers reported, but not withstanding the trying conditions, practically all of the favorites emerged within the charmed circle of qualifiers. Exceptions were the veteran, George S. Lyon, former holder of several major titles; W. J. Thompson, Toronto, and Dave Arnott, the Winnipeg star.

SCORES ARE HIGH

While only five competitors managed to get within a two-round score of 150, the thirty-two who entered the championship flight did so by virtue of a total score of 156 or better, twelve strokes behind the two leaders.

Toronto and the United States have the strongest representation in the championship flight, with nine players apiece, although Ontario has fourteen out of the total of thirty-two qualifiers. Montreal will have six stars to uphold its laurels, and Winnipeg two

Those who qualified for the championship flight and their scores were:

R. W. Ryan, Birmingham, Mich.	69-75—144
J. R. Ferguson, Philadelphia	70-74—144
C. R. Somerville, London	70-77—147

Sparks and Grant of Victoria Play Well; Alberta Defeats Saskatchewan

Calgary, Alta, Aug. 5.—Alberta and British Columbia are setting the pace in the Western Canada cricket tournament which got under way, here yesterday, Alberta defeating Saskatchewan, 1929 champions 199-110, while British Columbia swamped Manitoba 247 to 54.

To-day Alberta is drawn against Manitoba while British Columbia meets Saskatchewan and on Monday's form the opening day winners are expected to repeat. Alberta and British Columbia will meet for the first time on Wednesday.

MANITOBA DISAPPOINTS

Showing of Manitoba was the big disappointment on opening day, the team playing weakness both at bat and in bowling.

T. L. Wright, of Calgary, skipper of Alberta side, was the outstanding star on Monday, excelling both with the ball and the bat. Lester and Grant showed good form for British Columbia.

B.C. TOO STRONG

British Columbia proved altogether to strong for Manitoba. The latter were all out for the small total of 54 in reply to the Coast eleven's 247. H. A. Rhodes, a former Calgary player, had the Manitoba batsmen all at sea with his slow bowling, obtaining five wickets for 33 runs.

The Coast team went to bat first and Sparks started them off with 44. Lester came through nicely for 42. Grant helped swell the total with a contribution of 43 and Rhodes, in addition to his bowling feat, turned in a useful 27. The British Columbia total was augmented by a contribution of 51 extras. Gillespie was the most successful bowler of Manitoba with five wickets for 52 runs.

Boston, Aug. 5.—The Dave Shade-Joe Anderson bout, scheduled for yesterday evening at Braves Field, was postponed until to-night because of threatening weather.

One-sided Scores Feature Play In Bowling Tournament

Four Local Rinks Gain Third Round With Mainlanders

Locals Manage to Hold Their Own With Crack Vancouver Bowlers in Feature Competition of Annual Capital City Lawn Bowling Tournament; Keen Competition Expected Until Finals Are Played Saturday; Women Show Splendid Form in Matches at Burnside Greens.

Vancouver and Victoria continued to run neck and neck in the rink matches in the annual Capital City bowling tournament, and at the conclusion of the first day of play, each city placed four teams in the third round which was played this morning. In most cases the scores in the first round were one-sided and saw the weaker rinks eliminated from further competition.

Of the sixty-five matches bowled during the opening day, only six of them were featured by close play. However, now that the poorer players have been eliminated, competition will become keener, and visitors to either the Beacon Hill green where the men's matches are being played, or the Burnside green where the women hold sway, will undoubtedly be treated to some first class bowling during the next three or four days.

The weather during the first two days of the tournament has been ideal and the greens are in wonderful shape, so that the bowlers from outside points are high in their praise of the local rinks.

WOMEN PLAY WELL

The women, playing on the Burnside greens were able to run off seventeen matches on the opening day. This year there are fifty women entered in the tournament. Mrs. Dalrymple and Mrs. Hodgkinson of South Vancouver had their hands full with Mrs. Epps and Botticello in their match bowled during the morning, and only managed to scrape through with a one-point victory, the score at the close of the final end being 14 to 13. Mrs. Penderleith and Mrs. Robson had to use all their skill and cunning to overcome Mrs. Burley and Mrs. Simmons by a 12 to 11 score. Mrs. Mercer and Mrs. Clark weakened towards the close of their game and fell before the steady bowling of Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. McInnes 18 to 16. All other matches ended with one-sided scores, although many were featured with some fine bowling.

Twenty-one men's single matches were bowled yesterday evening. E. Hodgkinson of South Vancouver, eliminated D. Dewar, of Victoria, in one of the best matches of the evening. The results of these game were in doubt right up until the fifteenth and final end, when the Vancouver bowler collected an extra point to give him the game by a lone marker, the score being 15 to 14. W. MacKay, of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club, secured revenge for his clubmate's defeat, by securing a close victory over A. Tompkins of the North Vancouver club. The score in this match was also 15 to 14. F. R. Exham, E. Davey and J. S. Akins, all of the Victoria club, advanced into the next round by default, their opponents failing to show up at the stated time.

GAR WOOD TO LAUNCH NEW SPEED CRAFT

U.S. Defender of Harmsworth Trophy Gets Nervous After Seeing English Boats

Watches Betty Carstairs in Speed Trials and Then Builds Miss America IX

Detroit, Aug. 5.—Gar Wood, king of U.S. speed boating and successful defender of the Harmsworth Trophy against foreign invasion since 1920, will launch a new boat—the Miss America IX—within two weeks.

Wood decided to build the Miss America IX after visiting Gravenhurst, Ont., last week and witnessing trial runs of Estelle IV and Estelle V, with which Miss Marion Barbara Carstairs, English sportswoman, will challenge for the Harmsworth Trophy at Detroit, August 30.

LIKES ENGLAND'S CHANCES

"I can say that England's chances look better this year than any time since 1912," Mr. Wood said. The Estelle V has done better than ninety miles an hour in trials. The Miss America VIII with which Wood had expected to defend the Harmsworth Trophy, has done ninety-four miles an hour, but its record was eclipsed by the mark of 96.7 made by Sir Henry Segrave just before his death at Lake Windermere, in England.

The Estelle V also is conceded a chance of doing 100 miles an hour or better.

Local Oarsmen Need Subscription Soon To Go to Hamilton

An appeal to Victoria sport followers and particularly oarsmen is being sounded by the J.B.A.A. officials who are trying to raise a $550 subscription for their champion senior doubles crew, composed of Dan Moses and Ray Ditchburn, in order to send the two crack men back to the Empire Games this month.

Any donations, small or large, will be welcomed by the club and may be left in the hands of A. J. Fouracre, club secretary. In view of the fact that the games will be opened shortly, those intending to assist in sending the city's best doubles crew back east are requested to make their donations as soon as possible, as the boys must leave Thursday to be in time for their events.

Moses and Ditchburn have twice teamed up to win the senior doubles championship of the N.P.A.A.O. meet and are rowing better now than they have ever done. They also have several local titles to their credit and have been invited to row in San Diego several times.

In their particular sport, the pair represents the best Victoria can boast.

Ruggers Will Start Training For Nippon Squad In Two Weeks

Local Boys Will Start Grind Shortly to Meet First Japanese Oval Ball Squad That Has Ever Visited North America; Ground Difficulty May Be Overcome by Flooding Field; McKechnie Cup Players Listed as Almost Sure Bets for Team Places.

Although Old Sol is shining as merrily as he has done all year and the turf is baked to a cement-like hardness, Victoria's stalwart followers of the oval ball game will soon don their shorts and sweaters to get into condition for the Japanese University rugby team, which will play here early in September, it was announced by Phil Willis, secretary of the Victoria Rugby Union this morning.

The game will be one of the earliest of its kind played on a Victoria field. While climatic conditions will be far from favorable the game should prove one of exceptional speed. Players who rounded off the 1929-30 season with a few games of the seven-a-side code, are seriously considering using running shoes and light uniforms in order to increase their speed against the brown men.

How they will overcome the difficulty of tackling is not yet known. Possibly the union may persuade the fire department to turn the water on the field to soften the ground, but it will take a lot of water to break up the turf unless summer rains are forthcoming before the date of the match.

POSSIBLE PLAYERS

While nothing definite has been decided, Phil Willis expects to have the boys working out by the middle of next month. Chuck Ruttan, Brian Hunnings, Godfrey Wenman, Campbell and Bruce Forbes, Horace Goad, Henry Cockin, Dan Parfitt and Art Webster are among those who are almost sure to be included in the lineup. Pete Turgoose, Bern Kinsman, Johnny Rowland and Reg. Wenman, four of the boys who put plenty of kick into the Victoria attack last year, are not expected to be in town for the match, but Coach Willis is looking around for good substitutes and hopes to plug up the gaps the absence of these boys will leave in the team.

To date the arrangements have the Japanese scheduled to play in Vancouver on Labor Day, returning to Victoria for an exhibition before playing their second game in the Terminal City.

While several of the local boys are still busy weilding tennis racquets, they are expected to lay aside their flan- still busy wielding tennis racquets, they wore last year in the McKecknie Cup battles.

FAST MEN NEEDED

From a general consensus of opinion, it is believed that the Capital City will be represented by a squad of fast men including several of the younger players of the city.

Speed would prove a point of cardinal importance when the locals stack up against the Nipponese. Judging from other games in which the men from the Land of the Setting Sun have competed here, the rugby team should prove a flashy aggregation with plenty of tricks and heady plays. Whether or not they will be able to stand the gaff of a hard rough-and-tumble rugby battle, remains to be seen. Unless they can run up a good margin over the Victorians early in the game, they are not counted upon to crush the locals. And the general sentiment of followers of the game here seems to be that the visiting fifteen will not run roughshod over the Victoria boys at any period in the match.

At the close of last year the Capital City boasted one of the finest rugby machines that has ever been seen upholding Victoria's colors. It made a good showing in the first half of the McKechnie Cup series and went down fighting in the second stage. With the increased interest shown in the sport this year, plenty of material is expected to be placed in the hands of Phil Willis for an early grooming, and unless serious injuries are sustained in the practices, the boys should go a long way in holding the visitors from cracking open their line.

GROUND DIFFICULTY

The ground, however, appears to be a considerable handicap to the Victorians. One of the locals' fortes is tackling. And if they are going to bump their elbows and heads on turf as hard as a downtown highway, their ardor along that line will doubtless be considerably quelled.

But what's sauce for the goose is apple sauce for the gander, says Phil. Willis in reviewing the situation. If the ground is too hard for the Victoria boys it is almost sure to be too hard for the visitors. And if the Japanese have fleet-footed three-quarters, some of the local boys don't exactly get left in their starting holes, the coach notes.

Apart from the international standpoint of the match the encounter has taken on a particularly interesting light in the minds of several enthusiasts who are anxious to see if the Japanese can really stand the punishment of an honest to goodness rugby game.

Dominion Lacrosse Championship Finals Awarded to Toronto

Winnipeg, Aug. 5.—The Dominion lacrosse championship, which carries with it possession of the now-famous Mann Cup, will be decided at Toronto in a three-match series, starting August 30.

The play-down and final schedule was issued here to-day by A. E. M. Coo, president of the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association. It follows:

British Columbia at Alberta (Calgary or Edmonton), August 23.
Western winners at Winnipeg, August 25-26.
Quebec at Ottawa, August 1.
Ottawa at Quebec, August 20.
Ontario at Ottawa or Quebec, August 23.

Dates For Northwest Tourneys Set at Annual Meetings of P.N.L.T.A.

Seattle, Aug. 5.—Rogers McVeigh, of Portland, was elected president of the Pacific Northwest Lawn Tennis Association at the annual meeting at the Seattle Tennis Club yesterday evening. The new vice-president is W. W. Kilworth, of Tacoma, while for the eleventh term, E. J. H. Cardinall, of Vancouver, was chosen honorary secretary-treasurer.

Delegates were present from the Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, Jericho, Victoria, Multnomah, Irvington, Waverley, Lake Oswego, Olympia, Yakima, Hoquiam and Salem Clubs.

With a desire to rotate the district tournaments as much as possible the following schedule for next year was approved:

July 6—Oregon State Championships, Portland.
July 13—Sectional, at Tacoma.
July 20—Washington State, Seattle.
July 27—Western Canada, Vancouver
August 3—B.C. Championships, Victoria.
August 10—B.C. Clay Court, Jericho.

It was decided that in all major tourneys there shall be a uniformity of entrance fees as follows: Men's singles, $2.00; ladies' singles, $1.50; doubles, $2.50 per pair; $1.00 junior and 50 cents.

For Boys and Girls all clubs holding major tourneys must be officially represented at the Sectional, otherwise they will be obliged to pay forfeit of $25.00.

HAMMOND IN FINE EFFORT

International Cricketer Scores His Second Successive Not Out Century

London, Aug. 5.—A not-out century, his second in successive matches, was made by Wally Hammond, international cricketer, batting for Gloucestershire, against Somerset at Clifton yesterday. Hammond scored exactly 140. Against Yorkshire last week he made 112, not out. Another international player to perform well yesterday was T. A. R. Peebles, the bowler. Middlesex won by nine wickets, largely through Peeble's efforts and the trundling of G. O. B. Allen, another international, who captured five wickets for 34 runs.

The Australian bowler, Clarence Grimmett, was on the warpath yesterday. He took four Gloucestershire wickets for 34 runs. Glamorgan scored 99 in reply to Australia's 245.

Scores in matches in which play took place yesterday were:

Middlesex versus Sussex, at Brighton: Sussex, 243 and 72; Middlesex, 214 and 104 for one wicket.

No play on account of rain was possible yesterday in the following matches: Leicester versus Northamptonshire; Warwick versus Derbyshire; Lancashire versus Yorkshire, and Nottinghamshire versus Surrey.

Dean Quainton Is Named Head Of Cricket Body

Patrons, Hon. R. B. Bennett, K.C., George Langley; president, Rev. Dean Quainton, Victoria; vice-presidents: Manitoba, Chief Constable Newton, Winnipeg; Saskatchewan, W. C. Mills, Regina; British Columbia, J. Y. Copeland, Victoria; Alberta, L. W. Brockington, K.C., Calgary; secretary-treasurer, P. C. Payne, Victoria.

The notice of motion of T. L. Wright, Calgary, bringing forward the plan to play two-day cricket instead of one-day, as at present, was defeated by practically declaring that the present system was by far the best.

Carnera May Be Reinstated In California Soon

San Francisco, Aug. 5.—A request to reinstate Primo Carnera, huge Italian fighter, to good standing in California will be acted upon by the state athletic commission at its next meeting, probably within two weeks.

This was made known yesterday by Commissioner Charles F. Traung, of San Francisco, who said he had received the request some time ago from the Illinois Boxing Commission.

Carnera's license to box in California was taken up several months ago following the now famous towel-throwing episode. A second in the corner of Leon Chevalier, negro, tossed in the towel, signifying defeat, when Chevalier was nearly holding his own with the oversized foreigner.

Giants Continue Steady Climb Up National Ladder

John McGraw's Club Has Won Twelve of Last Fifteen Starts to Mount Within Four Games of League-leading Brooklyn Robins; Defeated Leaders 4 to 0 Yesterday; Athletics Win to Gain Ground in American League With Yanks and Washington Idle.

Extra base hits coupled with a steady, effective pitching spell success for the New York Giants as they slowly climb toward the top of the National League percentage ladder.

Putting together these two effective styles of play the Giants have won twelve of their last fifteen contests to mount within four games of the league-leading Brooklyn Robins in the National circuit. The persistent climb also has narrowed both the Cubs' advantage over their New York rivals, the difference to-day being just one and one half games.

The Giants furnished a good example of why they are pennant contenders yesterday, when they defeated the Brooklyn Robins 4 to 0. Three of New York's total were of the home run variety.

In the only other National League game Boston managed to eke out a 3 to 2 decision over the Phillies despite Lefty O'Doul's single, triple and home run.

The pennant chase in the American League saw the Philadelphia Athletics take advantage of the New York Yankees and Washington Senators' idleness to gain a half game with a 13 to 4 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. Lefty Grove hung up his seventeenth victory of the season.

Charlie Gehringer was the whole show at Detroit as the Tigers took a twelve-inning pitching duel from the Chicago White Sox, 7 to 3. His home run in the twelfth with the bases loaded, gave Vic. Sorrell the best of the hurling argument with Ted Lyons. Previously he had hit another home run in the third with one man on the sacks.

Coming from behind in the ninth with a three-run rally, the Cleveland Indians defeated the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 2.

It was Wesley Ferrell's eighteenth mound triumph of the season.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Philadelphia, Aug. 5.—Lefty Grove won his seventeenth game of the season yesterday as the Athletics pounded out a 13 to 4 decision over the Red Sox. The champions got to Lisenbee and Smith for fifteen hits, including home runs by Grove and Simmons.

OVER the WALL

With Bill Terry showing the way, one half of the baseball Big Six turned yesterday into a slugging orgy as they added points on to their batting average. Terry hit safely three times in four trips to the plate, boosting his average to .401, only three points back of Chuck Klein, who lost ground when he got only one hit off Boston pitching. O'Doul also closed in, connecting with three hits in four times at bat for a final average of .398, while Simmons picked up four points to go ahead of Gehrig with a batting average of .385. Gehrig and Ruth were idle as the Yanks' game with Washington was postponed on account of the funeral of Mrs. Walter Johnson.

TOWNSEND TO MEET BROWN

Vancouver Welterweight Will Battle Tough Philadelphia Slugger To-day

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 5.—Billy Townsend, sensational young hard-punching Canadian battler, and Harry Kid Brown, Philadelphia welterweight, have just about wound up their training activities for their ten-round bout scheduled here this evening.

Townsend, making his sixth start here, may possibly enter the ring a slight favorite, but at present even money is being offered on the Philadelphian's chances to outsmart Townsend.

Brown is a ring-wise battler, who has been in there with the best of them, including Young Jack Thompson, Jackie Fields, Baby Joe Gans, Ace Hudkins, and, in fact, almost all of the present-day stars.

Townsend in five starts here so far has scored four knockout victories and run up a total of twenty knockdowns in the twenty-seven rounds which was the total duration of the five bouts.

One hundred and forty-two pounds is the weight set for the coming bout, and neither Townsend nor Brown has experienced any difficulty in making the required weight. In fact, their biggest difficulty has been to keep from getting down too fine during the recent hot spell.

SOCKEYE SALMON RUN ON FRASER HALF LAST YEAR

Alaska and Northern B.C., However, Get the Fish This Season

Salmon fishing on the Fraser River has not as yet proved as successful as hoped for this season, according to records received by W. R. McLeod, district supervisor of fisheries. The sockeye run on the river of 11,394 cases to July 26, is only half the figure at the same day last year. Officials and fishermen hope, however, that the run has only been delayed and that a larger volume will be caught before the season dwindles two months hence.

While the Fraser River district shows badly to date, Northern B. C. and Alaska particularly record large increases in the sockeye and pink catch, making the totals for the province the best in the past six years.

447,617 CASES PACKED

The grand total pack to date is now 447,617 cases, as against 271,099 at the same date last year, and only pproached in 1925 with 443,058 cases.

Sockeyes showed the best gains with a total of 268,444 cases to date, as against 186,344 cases last year, and only exceeded in 1925 with 296,073 cases. Catches in the Skeena river, Rivers Inlet, Smiths Inlet and central area, including Bella Coola, jumped from 50 per cent to 200 per cent. The Naas river catch was only fair.

A good catch of bluebacks in the Fraser and on Vancouver Island was noted, the total of 27,203 cases being the best in six years. Pinks made a big showing in the North, the total being 116,781 cases, nearly equal to the two best seasons in the past six years.

FRASER RIVER FIGURES

The total pack to date in the Fraser river district is 34,024 cases, just below the heavy jack last year, but better than in the five years previously. This total is composed of 11,394 cases of sockeye, 1567 cases of springs, 17,793 cases of bluebacks, 46 cases of cohoes, 2971 cases of pinks and 253 cases of chums.

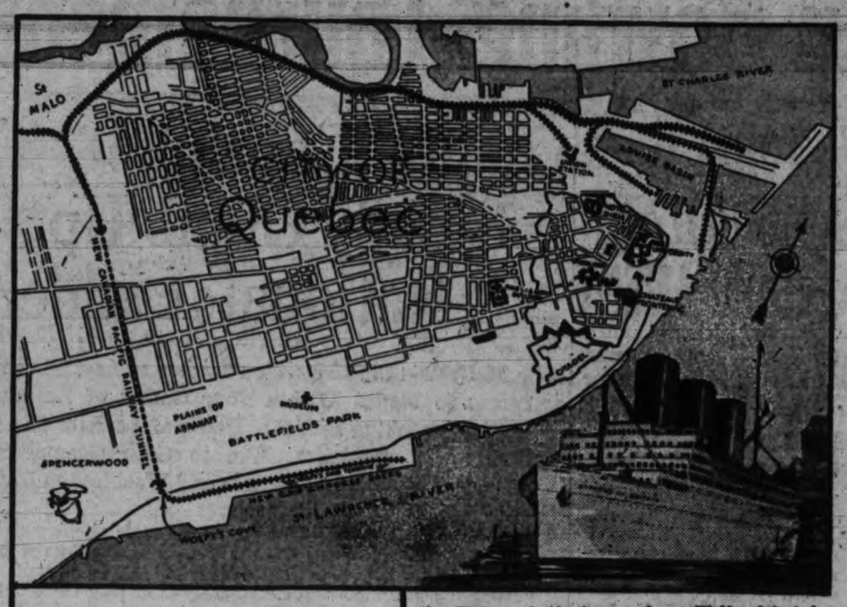
Red springs are also being caught for the fresh fish markets, but fishermen report catches are not up to expectations. Fishermen generally report a tight money situation on the river this season. A recovery is hoped for during August and September.

It was believed that the extra good catch on the Fraser river last year was aided by the artificial fish cultivation by the government in the Interior lakes. Matches were due every season commencing in 1929, four years after the first experiments were made. Officials, however, cannot definitely prove that cultivation helped the pack last season and therefore positively assure a repetition this season. The department of fisheries is keenly awaiting results which they can connect with their experiments.

GIRL LOSES LIFE

Chewelah, Wash., Aug. 5.—Ardith Campbell, seventeen, was crushed to death under her father's truck when it overturned ten miles south of here yesterday.

Building Tunnel Through Historic Rock



The Gibraltar of America, the historic city and seaport of Quebec, on the St. Lawrence River, is the scene of the latest engineering feat of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which is constructing a tunnel through the historic rock on which the city is built. Its summit is the scene of the battle of the Plains of Abraham, where Wolfe defeated Montcalm, gaining the town for the British, in September, 1759, both British and French leaders losing their lives in the engagement. The new tunnel, shown on the above map, will lead from Wolfe's Cove, where the British leader landed his forces, direct through one mile and 70 feet of rock to the company's main line, clear of the city limits. The barrel of the tunnel is 330 feet below the summit of the rock at its deepest point and calls for the excavation of some 80,000 cubic yards of soil. It is being rushed to completion, by the use of day and night shifts, to be ready for the arrival of the Canadian Pacific Railway's new giant 42,500-ton liner "Empress of Britain," which, with the "Empress of Australia" and the "Empress of France," will be berthed at their new dock, at Wolfe's Cove, in the early summer of 1931. Present docking accommodation, the company's terminals and the famous Canadian Pacific Chateau Frontenac Hotel are clearly shown on the map.

H. L. Mencken, Literary Cynic, Is Engaged to Wed Magazine Writer

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 5. — Henry L. Mencken, prospective benedict, after writing gibes at the tender passion for decades, had but one comment yesterday on announcement of his engagement to Miss Sara Powell Haardt, writer for magazines.

"I formerly was not as wise as I am now," he said.

Mencken, editor and critic, said plans for the ceremony were very indefinite.

On one point he is consistent. The man who wrote that "being married with all your friends about you is as private and discriminating as eating in the window of a restaurant," said his wedding would be very quiet. "It will be very refined," he said with a laugh.

Shocks Recorded In New York

New York, Aug. 4.—Two earthquake shocks which were fairly violent were recorded to-day on the seismograph of Fordham University, the first at twelve minutes past midnight and the second seven minutes later.

The distance of the centre of the quakes was placed at 3,000 miles from New York, probably in the region of Central America.

Salt Spring

The garden party and auction sale, organized by St. Mary's Altar Guild of Fulford Harbour, on Wednesday afternoon was a great success. The auction sale was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Gerald Jackson, being auctioneer. The magic garden with Miss Bea Hamilton in attendance proved very amusing. The ice cream stall, with Miss Evelyn Jackson and Miss Margaret Monk and the home-made candy stall in charge of Mrs. Jackson and Miss Betty Ley, did good business. The doll competition was won by Mrs. Davis and the cake guessing competitions by Mrs. J. Mollett and Mrs. R. Maxwell respectively, the latter guessing the exact weight of a cake made and donated by Mrs. Jas. Akerman. An apron competition was won by Miss Bea Hamilton. Afternoon teas were in charge of Mrs. Bryant, Mrs. A. J. Eaton and Mrs. Gladys Shaw. The gross takings amounted to $114.17 of which the guild expects to clear about $90.

Freight Trains Now Travel Much Faster

New York, Aug. 5. — The railroads of this country established in May a new high record for any month in the speed with which freight trains were operated, according to reports for that month just filed by the carriers with the Bureau of Railway Economics and made public.

The average speed of freight trains in May was 13.9 miles per hour, which represents the average per hour for all freight trains between terminals, including yard and road delays, no matter from what cause.

The average speed for May was an increase of one-tenth of one mile above the best previous record of 13.8 miles, which was atttained in both March and April this year. It also was an increase of six tenths of a mile above the average for May last year.

There has been a steady increase for the past ten years in the average speed of trains due to improved methods of signaling and train operation, improved motive power and better condition of equipment, all of which factors have had an effect on reducing delays of trains between terminals and increasing the speed while in actual motion.

The average daily movement per freight car in May this year was 29.4 miles, compared with 32.9 miles for the same month last year and 31.1 miles in May, 1928.

Of Course "NESTLÉ'S"

the Milk of the British Empire was used on the Atlantic Flight of the R-100

On board the R-100 as its mighty engines throbbed out the miles . . . here to this little community of daring people—alone in the air—meals were served as perfectly as on an ocean liner. Each cup of coffee, each cup of tea, each dish calling for milk, was made more delectable with Nestlé's Milk . . . the rich, creamy and uniformly nutritious milk for every purpose . . . the milk also chosen by Commander Byrd, and by the "Graf Zeppelin"...the milk sold in every country on earth and a quality product of every country of the British Empire. Nestlé's Cheese was also a delicious treat for all.

A Real Empire Product in Canada
Wales, India, England, Ireland, Scotland, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, British Guiana and British West Africa.

Missionary Told Indian Children Bible Stories

John Eliot loved Bible stories. His mother told them so wonderfully. Every night before he went to bed, she took him on her lap and told him a story from the Bible.

Some of them he liked to hear over and over. He liked bedtime, especially in the winter, when he could snuggle close to his mother, by the fireplace, and hear the exciting story of Daniel in the lion's den, or how little Moses was found in the bullrushes.

Years later, John Eliot was a grown man, and a great missionary to the Indians. He braved all kinds of dangers and hardships to go into the wilderness and preach to the redmen.

The Indian children loved him. On winter nights he would sit by the smoky fires in the teepees, gather the black-eyed little Indians around him, and tell them, in their own language, the same Bible stories in the same way, that his mother had told him, so many years ago back in England.

John Eliot was born 326 years ago to-day.

BROOKMIRE SEES AUGUST BOTTOM

With business slumping to a new low point, it seems fairly certain that no substantial and sustained advance in the stock market can get under way immediately, in the opinion of The Brookmire Economic Service, whose latest market analysis goes on to advise:

"Keep your cash reserves, and do no further buying now. It is the part of conservatism to wait until we have evidence that the market decline is over before using your reserve buying power. There are possibilities of lower prices for stocks.

"We are of the opinion that the bottom in business will be made during the summer. The extreme low will probably occur in July or August. Meanwhile watch for definite signs giving a cue to the character of the revival to follow.

"The present rally is considered as of a temporary nature and of no significance to investors."

Class of Canadian Athletes Will Seek Titles On Saturday

One of Finest Fields Ever Seen in Canada Will Compete at Toronto for Dominion Track and Field Championships; Percy Williams Will Face Stiff Opposition From Ralph Adams, Leigh Miller and Johnny Fitzpatrick; Members of Last Canadian Olympic Team To Be Present.

Canadian Press

Toronto, Aug. 5.—A great assembly of Canadian athletes, perhaps the finest ever seen in Canada yet, will vie on track and field for double honors at Varsity Stadium on Saturday. The Canadian athletic championships will be decided under auspices of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union. In the background loom the Empire games, to open in Hamilton a week later—the lure that has drawn athletes from all parts of Canada to the Canadian title meet at Varsity Stadium.

Stars who brought fame to Canada at the Olympic games will find themselves pitted against a hard trained, keen spirited rank and file, and Percy Williams of Vancouver, his Olympic sprinting fame very little dimmed in the fierce competition he has seen since Amsterdam days, will be confronted with a little band of sprinters of no mean ability—Ralph Adams, Leigh Miller and Johnny Fitzpatrick of Hamilton, to mention the outstanding ones, all in perfect trim.

Williams, of course, is expected to take the Canadian sprinting titles in his stride, in more sense than one. They are now held by Adams, who captured them with some speedy footwork up in the Rockies last year.

BIRKENHEAD LIES ILL AT HIS LONDON HOME

Peer Is Fighting Attack of Bronchial Pneumonia; Became Ill Last Week

London, Aug. 5.—The Earl of Birkenhead lay seriously ill to-day at his home in Grosvenor Gardens, suffering from bronchial pneumonia which developed from a chill caught last week.

The Earl burst a blood-vessel while staying at Biarritz last April, and for a time was in a dangerous condition. Since his return from the French resort he had not taken his usual active part in public life.

The Earl is fifty-eight years old and was born Frederick Edwin Smith. His profession is law and he has held many high offices in Great Britain, including a term as Lord Chancellor.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Engines and Equipment for Inspection Boat Walronda," will be received until 12 o'clock noon (daylight saving), Wednesday, August 13, 1930, for the supplying and installing Engines and Equipment for Inspection Boat Walronda.

Form of contract can be seen and specification and forms of tender obtained at this Department, at the offices of the District Engineer, Post Office Building, Victoria, B.C.; Victoria Builders Exchange, 2569 Prior St., Victoria, B.C. and The Building and Construction Industries Exchange, 342 West Pender St., Vancouver, B.C.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on printed forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with conditions contained therein.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, equal to 10 per cent of the amount of the tender. Bonds of the Dominion of Canada or bonds of the Canadian National Railway Company will also be accepted as security, or bonds and a cheque if required to make up an odd amount.

By Order,
N. DESJARDINS,
Secretary.

Department of Public Works,

NEWS IN BRIEF

A grass fire at Dallas Road and May Street was attended by the fire department this morning.

J. McL. Muirhead has been named as acting city comptroller in the absence of D. A. MacDonald on holidays.

The city's new milk by-law, covering minor changes from the old regulation, was finally passed by the council yesterday evening.

The city's proposed new plumbing by-law was given another two-week hoist at last night's meeting of the council.

J. F. Sinclair was fined $20 in Esquimalt Police Court yesterday afternoon for driving an automobile to the common danger on Esquimalt Road.

Tenders of Brackman, Ker & Co. for the supplying of forty tons of hay at $15 a ton, delivered at Elk Lake were accepted by the City Council yesterday evening.

The Misses Herd of the Hat Shop were among those who made generous donations for the Orphans' picnic arranged by Joseph North. Nine girls' hats were donated by them.

H. Boule, former vice-president of the Moose Jaw Club, D. G. Boison, of Vancouver, and Dr. G. A. Downing, Seattle, were among visiting Kiwanians at the local club's luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

Joseph Aaronson, counsel to the New York Central Railroad, is expected in the city on Thursday. Robert V. Mayre, counsel for the Bell Telephone Company, accompanied by his family, will reach Victoria on Monday. Both parties will stay at the Empress while in the city.

Appearance of another miniature golf course in the city was indicated in a letter from Douglas Mackay & Co. before the city council yesterday evening. The firm asked information regarding a lease on property at the southwest corner of Fort Street and Craigdarroch Road to be used for this purpose.

A study of gladiolli culture will be outlined by R. M. Palmer of Cobble Hill, expert in that field, before the Victoria Horticultural Society at the City Hall this evening at 8 o'clock. Among some of the specimens he will display during his talk will be some new species and seedlings which he exhibited at the Victoria Horticultural Society show last week.

The regular monthly visit of Fred Lansberg to the Old Men's Home for the purpose of donating the sum of two dollars to each of the non-pensioned inmates of the institution was made on Monday evening. Mr. Lansberg was accompanied by James Forman of the hospital board, who assisted in the distribution of the gift. Following the money donation, Mr. Lansberg presented each inmate of the home with cigars, the gift of G. H. Merrick, who is a regular contributor in this way. The number of non-pensioned inmates registered for the month of July was twenty-one.

OBITUARY

The death occurred this morning of Anna Maria Snow, wife of Azariah Snow of 1517 Edgware Road. The late Mrs. Snow was born in Newfoundland and had been a resident of Victoria for nineteen years. She is survived by her husband, one sister, Mrs. E. Parsons of this city, and one brother, A. Morgan of Newfoundland. The funeral will be held from the B.C. Funeral Chapel on Thursday at 2 o'clock, Rev. W. J. Sipprell, D.D., officiating. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Thomas Palmer, for forty years a resident of Victoria before leaving for Vancouver, seven years ago, passed away at the Vancouver General Hospital yesterday after a brief illness. He was seventy-two years of age. The late Mr. Palmer was a contractor and builder by trade, and was well known both here and on the mainland. When he lived in Victoria he was a member of St. John's choir. His illness was very sudden, and the news of his death came as a great shock to his relatives here. He is survived by his widow, four daughters, Mrs. E. Cave, Mrs. F. Goodman, Mrs. C. Fawcett of Victoria, Mrs. H. Godfrey of Vancouver and several grandchildren. One sister, Mrs. K. Palmer, lives in Victoria, and a brother and sister lived in England, the former A. Palmer of Sittingbourne, Kent. Funeral services will be held at Ocean View Cemetery, Vancouver, at 1.30 o'clock, Thursday.

Private funeral services were held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Ada Mary Yarwood, Rev. C. H. S. Cropper officiating. A profusion of beautiful floral offerings was received and placed on the casket and hearse. The pallbearers were T. T. Bayley, J. R. Clements, W. E. Evans, J. D. Macdonald, W. Englehardt and J. Fox. The remains were laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Fannie Louise Fitzsimmons, who passed away in this city was held this morning, the cortege proceeding from the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home to St. Andrew's Cathedral, where mass was conducted at 9 o'clock by Rev. Father C. E. Evans. Many beautful floral tributes were received, testifying to the esteem in which the late Mrs. Fitzsimmons was held by a wide circle of friends. Interment was made in Ross Bay Cemetery with the following as pallbearers: Judge George W. Green, P. A. Raymond, S. A. Bell, C. Rowell, H. Webster and Alex. Stewart.

SHEEP MARKETS REPORT READY

Survey By Dr. W. R. Gunn and W. W. Duncan Now Completed

The Provincial Department of Agriculture will shortly announce the result of a survey of sheep raising and marketing conditions in this Province, just completed by Dr. Wallace R. Gunn, director of animal husbandry, in collaboration with W. W. Duncan, director of marketing.

Dr. Gunn yesterday left for the interior, where he will make an inspection of livestock conditions prior to attending the proceedings of the American Veterinary Medical Association at Los Angeles. He will also visit state agricultural colleges to ascertain the latest methods of treating animal diseases.

RESORT HOTELS IN MOUNTAINS ATTRACT QUOTA

H. F. Matthews, C.P.R. Hotel Manager, Satisfied With Travel Flow This Season

First Annual Golf Week and Highland Gathering at Banff This Month

Mountain resorts in the Canadian Rockies are experiencing a very busy season, although travel, generally, is not so heavy as it was last year, according to H. F. Matthews, general manager of Canadian Pacific Railway western hotels, who spent Monday in the city after making a trip of inspection over the Alpine and coast territory.

If the financial depression has been responsible for the curtailment of travel, it has not been particularly apparent at the company's large hotels in the mountains, which have been operating virtually at capacity almost from the opening of the season in May.

The Banff Springs Hotel is now carrying its peak load of visitors, and the Chateau at Lake Louise is also taking care of its quota. These hotels, with their remarkable scenic resources, attract travels from every section of the world.

BUNGALOW CAMPS POPULAR

The bungalow camps, which penetrate into the fastnesses of the mountains, are becoming more popular each year, making constant additions to the bungalows necessary to accommodate those travelers who desire to get away from the beaten trail.

For the balance of the month of August and the early part of September, Banff Springs Hotel will be the scene of several colorful gatherings. Mr. Matthews stated that reservations had been heavy for the first annual golf week, which will be staged from August 18 to 23.

The qualifying rounds, semi-finals and finals for the Prince of Wales's trophy will be played over the Banff Springs golf course, one of the finest scenic courses on the continent.

SCOTTISH CELEBRATION

Another great attraction at Banff will be the Banff Highland gathering and Scottish Music Festival, which will be held from August 29 to September 1. The Bow Valley at its headwaters will be converted into a Scottish glen, while the skirl of the bagpipes and the waggle of the kilt will be in evidence during the four days of this Highland celebration.

The coast hotels are doing well this season, the amount of business handled at the Empress Hotel to date being in excess of the corresponding period last year, according to Mr. Matthews.

VICTORIA HOST TO KIWANIANS OF NORTHWEST

Victoria Clubs Make Plans For Convention in September

General activities of the Kiwanis Club, with particular reference to the convention here next month, were considered by the members at an open luncheon meeting in the Empress Hotel to-day. Members were told of the arrangements for the gathering in this city of Kiwanians from Oregon, Washington and B.C., and were urged to support the executive in every way possible.

At the opening of the meeting, Rev. A. B. W. Wood expressed the club's appreciation of the work of the programme committee and suggested that in future gatherings the members drink a toast to the King before proceeding with the address.

During the meeting D. D. McTavish called for entries for the dahlia show to be held by the club shortly. He received several filled-in forms from the members. Blooms from his garden and Brown's nursery were displayed at the head table.

CONVENTION COMMITTEE WORKING

H. H. Stevens spoke on the coming convention, saying that Harold Diggon, chairman, with T. Kelway and K. Ferguson, were away in Bellingham on convention matters and would visit Mount Vernon this evening. All members were required to be on hand on September 14, 15 and 16, the convention days, in order to make the guests feel at home.

The registration of ladies was now open, he said. The fee of $3 would cover two luncheons, dinner and the governor's ball. He hoped all wives of Kiwanians would take part in the function.

All members of the club had been allocated to certain committees, Mr. Stevens stated, adding that it was necessary for them to go into the matter in a whole-hearted way to make the gathering here a success.

WANT MORE CLUB NEWS

A. D. King suggested that the directors keep the members better informed on the activities of the board. He thought their business meetings might be reported briefly in the weekly bulletin.

The boys' work branch of the club was getting ready for a good season shortly and hoped to push its objectives further, Ellis Brown stated, dealing with his department in the club.

Regarding the Kiwanis T.B. work, Donald McAdie paid tribute to the activities of his committee, noting the Victoria club was third ranking in collection in Canada. A still greater effort would be made this year, he said. Following the meeting his committee met to consider further work.

Saskatoon, Sask., Aug. 5.—First grain of the new crop was brought to town yesterday. A truckload of good milling barley from the farm of Otto Schmidt at Cheviot, Sask., was delivered to the Quaker Oats Company mill here.

Hot Dogs Still Lawful Game on Streets of City

Hot dogs wandered into the city council chamber last night and traveled out again unmolested.

Complaint by the Chamber of Commerce regarding a hot dog stand on the city streets which was regarded as an eyesore was preferred back to that body with a letter from the city solicitor pointing out the council had no power to refuse a license but might ban peddlers and hawkers from certain streets.

Alderman H. O. Litchfield thought something should be done about it and suggested making the first fire zone of the city unlawful ground for peddlers.

FOUR LOCAL RINKS ENTER SEMI-FINALS

Eliminate Last Mainland Contenders in City Bowling Tourney This Morning

Two Exciting Finishes Seen; Women Finish First Round of Rink Competition

Setting a hot pace all the way, into the fifteenth and final end, the side competition in the third round of the rinks matches played this morning in the city bowling tourney, and placed into the semi-final round two Victoria Lawn Bowling teams and two Burnside teams. Entering the third round this morning, Vancouver had four teams with which they hoped to sweep aside all local opposition. The Terminal Bowling Club placed two fours in the third round and were hot favorites to capture a position in the final round. South Vancouver also had one team still in the running, while the other outsiders represented the North Vancouver Bowling Club. Conditions for bowling were perfect, and the greens were in first class shape.

The match between C. Goodwin (Burnside) and E. Hodgkinson (South Vancouver) was by far the most exciting of the morning round. The two teams battled neck and neck all the way with very little to choose between the two. The local four jumped into the lead on the ninth end, and by beautiful bowling were able to ward off the determined rush of their opponents towards the end of the game. Going the Burnside quartette a well-earned Burnsiders had a narrow lead of one point, the score being 11 to 10. It was at this stage of the battle that the invaders made their last stand. Rolling perfectly, they had soon wiped out the local's lead and were laying five on. With one shot left, things looked exceedingly black for Burnside. Taking extra care with this precious chance, Skipper Goodwin launched his last and final bowl up the green. The shot went true, and curving in, laid on the "jack" for another point, and gave Victoria rinks eliminating all out victory by a 12 to 10 score.

EXCITING FINISH

It was an exciting finish to an exciting match.

Probably the biggest upset of the day was the defeat of J. J. Mackay (Terminal Bowling Club of Vancouver at the hands of E. G. Sherwood (Victoria Bowling Club) by a score of 17 to 14. Vancouver was perhaps the better of the two teams and led their opponents right up to the thirteenth end. Going into the fourteenh end, the visitors led 12 to 9, and it began to look like a Vancouver victory. The Terminal team either "blew up" or relaxed for a moment, and that was all the locals needed. Bowling like fiends, the Victoria club were soon laying eight on the "jack" and the game was theirs, and another outside team passed into the also played class. It was a bitter game to lose, especially after having led throughout most of the game.

In the other two rink matches, Victoria had little difficulty in defeating their Vancouver opponents. Though the scores are more or less one-sided, they are not a fair indication of the nature of the play. H. Renwick, Victoria, eliminated the North Vancouver entry led by R. McInnes, 24 to 7, while J. T. Chisholm (Terminal) was bowing to the team skippered by P. Johnson of the Burnside Bowling Club. The score in this encounter was 18 to 5.

SEMI-FINAL DRAW

C. Goodwin (Burnside) vs. P. Johnson (Burnside); E. Sherwood (Victoria) vs. H. Renwick (Victoria).

The semi-finals will be played tomorrow provided enough double and single matches can be run off in the meantime.

Playing on the Burnside green, the women ran through the first round of their rinks competition, and this afternoon will concentrate on the double series. Burnside rinks managed to place two teams in the second round, while Victoria and Vancouver each have a lone surviving entry. Mrs. Clarke, Burnside, eliminated one of the strongest of the outside teams when they defeated Mrs. J. Johnson, South Vancouver, 15 to 13. This was the closest match of the morning, and was featured by some brilliant bowling on the part of both fours. The team skippered by Mrs. McKechie of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club, successfully warded off the Vancouver threat by defeating the strong Terminal four led by Mrs. MacKay. This game was also a close affair, the winner remaining in doubt right up until the end when the local team was returned victors by a 13 to 10 score. Results of the first round of the women's rinks:

Mrs. Stewart (Burnside) 16; vs. Mrs Brown (Point Grey) 6.

Mrs. McKechie (Victoria) 13 vs. Mrs MacKay (Terminal) 10.

Mrs. Hodgkinson (South Vancouver) 15 vs. Mrs. Owens (Victoria) 9.

Mrs. Clark (Burnside) 15 vs. Mrs. J. Johnson (South Vancouver) 13.

FIRST ROUND

J. E. Johnson (Victoria) 16 vs. R. W. Wilson (C.P.R.) 10.

P. Johnson (Burnside) 15 vs. D. A Bryce (Victoria) 6.

COAL PARLEY WILL START ON THURSDAY

Hon. W. A. McKenzie Calls Conference to Improve Coal Industry

Conference to Learn Result of Pulverized Coal Experiments

With the objective of discussing proposals to terminate the depression in the coal industry, a conference of coal producers and consumers, called by Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, will open on Thursday at the Parliament Buildings, and will continue for two days.

Information will be offered on fuel supply, costs of production, comparative data as to consumption of coal by hand and mechanically fired boilers and the difference in cost between coal and oil fuel inclusive of labor.

It is expected that the minister will also explain why the government has not yet imposed the oil fuel tax authorized last spring by the Provincial Legislature.

Much interest has been aroused by announcement from the Department of Mines that data is being prepared for the conference showing the economies possible by use of pulverized coal. This information has now been assembled, the minister has announced

Mining and railway companies will be represented at the conference by the following: W. R. Wilson, president of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company; Lt.-Col. C. W. Villiers, vice-president of the Canadian Collieries Limited; W. J. Blake-Wilson, president of the Coalmont Collieries; W. J. Sturgess, fuel agent of the Canadian National Railways at Winnipeg; Capt. C. D. Neroutsos, manager of the British Columbia Coast Service of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who will be accompanied by C. A. Cotterell, H. E. Enman, J. M Cameron and A. Sturrock, of the same railway company; Clive Leavitt, chief fire inspector of the Railway Commission, and others.

In addition, chambers of commerce and other public bodies will be represented, the following bodies having accepted invitations: Victoria Chamber of Commerce, represented by George McGregor; the Vancouver Board of Trade, the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island, and also of the mainland, and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

FASHION CRAFT STORE TO OPEN

Joseph Greer Will Conduct New Men's Furnishing Shop in Castle Block

Featuring Fashion Craft Clothes, Joseph Greer, formerly of Prince Rupert, will open a men's furnishings store in the Castle Block Thursday morning. Mr. Greer will occupy the premises formerly used by Cornwell's Bakery. With him will be associated Herbert Doherty.

The new store will carry a complete line of men's goods, including an assortment of English woolens and Forsyth shirts. His Fashion Craft line is manufactured in Canada from imported British cloth.

Mr. Greer has been in the men's clothing business in Prince Rupert for fifteen years and is a member of the firm of Bryan & Greer in that city.

PICNIC TO CLOSE H.B. CO.'S STORE

Employees Will Hold Annual Affair at Deep Cove To-morrow; Buses Start at 9.30

The Hudson's Bay Company's store will be closed all day to-morrow on the occasion of the annual picnic and sports day for the employees at Deep Cove. Buses will leave the store at 9.30 o'clock in the morning and will proceed immediately to the Chalet at Deep Cove, where preparations have been made for what promises to be a most enjoyable day.

Several hundred members of the staff are expected to make the trip. Athletes from the different departments will match their speed and strength in a varied sports programme.

Lunch will be served at the Chalet and the picnickers will return to town in the evening.

Kiwanis Golfers Receive Prizes

K. Perry was presented with a necktie emblematic of the Kiwanis Club's putting championship at the Victoria Golf Club last week, during the club's luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

Darrell Spence, Jack Trotter and Victor King tossed for the hole-in-one prize. Jack Trotter won.

Chickens Travel 8,000 Miles to Island Garden

From a suburban garden in London, England, to the world-famous gardens of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart here, three tiny white Polish Sikie chickens made an 8,000-mile journey. They landed on board Ss. Prince David, newest of Canadian National fleet for the Pacific coast, and were immediately taken to the gardens where thousands will view them.

These tiny birds, scions of the breed, were a present to Mr. Butchart from P. A. Clews, traffic manager for Europe, Canadian National Railways. They are a rare breed in this country and because of their size and frailty are hard to rear. They withstood the voyage from England well; it is hoped they will be one of the attractions in the gardens, mecca for thousands of tourists each summer.

The Dominion Fisheries Branch has made arrangements to extend assistance to Canadian fish and game associations active in maintaining and improving the angling resources of the country.

Expert advice and supervision will be available without charge and free allotments of fry will be made to associations, the fish reared, to be distributed in public waters.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.

Winnipeg, Aug. 5.—Wheat: After acting somewhat erratic during the early period when prices were ¼ higher to ½ lower, the wheat market turned and prices advanced from 1⅝ to 2 cents above the close last night. On this bulge there was a fairly liberal amount of selling which was credited to the pool, and prices declined more than 1c, but in the late session when Chicago staged a good upturn.

Winnipeg again followed, and new highs for the day were recorded. It was difficult to locate where the buying came from, but general impression was that it was largely local with sentiment in the pit and the crowd going long. Export business was good with sales overnight, and this morning estimated around 2,000,000 bushels Manitobas, but the business was largely worked by the pool and was not reflected in the pit.

Crop news was unfavorable from spring wheat belt, both sides of the border, and it is feared that rust and high temperatures are causing considerable damage. One line elevator company issued an estimate of western Canadian crop which they placed 390,000,000 bushels, and this was followed up by an estimate from another house, and the figures were only 303,000,000 bushels.

The weather was more favorable in the south for corn, some fairly good rains having been received, and followed by low temperatures. There was only a fair demand for cash wheat, and owing to strength in futures buyers were inclined to back away from the top grades, resulting in only a small business passing.

Export flour business was still nothing, the market closed strong, showing gains of 2⅞ to 3¼ cents, the deferred months being the strongest and reflecting the better investment buying. Believe the advance has been too rapid, and advise sales on further upturns.

Coarse grains: Barley and rye were strong, and followed the wheat upturn, but oats dragged behind, except the May futures, in which there was some investment buying. The only business that could be located in the cash market was in oats, and a fair business was worked to Montreal. Oats closed ⅝ to 1⅝ higher, barley 1⅜ to 2 higher, and rye ¼ to 1¼ higher.

Flax: Strong and no pressure whatever, but trade very moderate.

Liverpool due 2¼ to 2½ higher on Winnipeg.

(By Branson, Brown and Co. Ltd.)

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Wheat: A further rally in wheat to-day carried prices to new high points for the present movement with much profit taking and some hedging pressure on the hard spots, but market still showing firm undertone and closing near the top.

Receipts at Chicago have shown an abrupt falling off, while in the northwest the movement is increasing. Foreign reports confirmed reduction of German estimates as weather has been unfavorable for two weeks or more and French estimates of yields now being less than 200,000,000 and quality poor.

Foreign buying expected to continue active. Receipts here were 163 cars, estimated, with primary arrivals 3,389,000 bushels, against 4,506,000 bushels a year ago.

Liverpool closed 1⅜ to 1⅝ up. Some private estimates reducing size of western Canada crop. Local shipments 446,000 bushels. Feeding of wheat to animals is being advised by the Department of Agriculture and the losses to corn and other crops is making a rough balance against the big carryover wheat. This may change the wheat situation radically. At all events, sentiment has shifted, wheat is now being regarded as good property to have and we continue to advise purchases on all moderate setbacks.

Corn—In spite of rains which were quite general in parts of Iowa and Nebraska the decline in corn did not go far and there was surprisingly good support on setbacks. Profit-taking has been encountered for several days and in spite of this the market shows a firm undertone.

Many crop reports indicate corn has been hopelessly damaged with much corn showing large percentage of barren stalks which no amount of rain can make fruitful.

Secretary of Agriculture Hyde was credited with a report showing 500,000,000 bushel loss in corn. Cash market was firm; receipts seventy-eight cars estimated with primary arrivals 427,000 against 800,000 a year ago. Local shipments were 410,000 bushels. Cash sales about 92,000 bushels with upwards of 100,000 bought to arrive. Argentine corn competition at seaboard may tend to modify bullish sentiment to some extent. Prices have had a big advance and would be inclined to wait for fair setbacks now before buying.

Oats—Followed about the same price action as wheat. Cash trade quiet. Recipts smaller here but fairly large west; 1,048,000 bushels vs. 853,000 a year ago.

GRAIN PRICES LEAP UPWARD AS CORN CROP LOSS GROWS

Corn went up another five cents a bushel to-day and pulled wheat in Chicago and Winnipeg up three to four cents a bushel.

Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, in Kansas City, predicted a corn crop loss of possibly 500,000,000 bushels as a result of heat and drought. He declared the Department of Agriculture had expected a 200,000,000 bushel corn loss, but intense heat of last week had caused the increase in the damage. He indicated the losses in corn might bring about a heavy balance with the carry over in wheat.

Donovan reported by wire from Booneville, Mo.:

"Corn is in bad shape all through the heart of Missouri. From St. Charles to Moberly to Jefferson City and here, many late fields are now past hope of producing ears, other than a few nubbins, and while there are many good fields, especially on river bottom land, firing has reached the ears in many of them and some show bad tassel burn in spots. All pastures are in bad shape, wells going dry and farmers hauling unconditioned livestock to market."

To-day's Canadian weather report shows:

Saskatoon, clear, calm, 65, no rain; Moose Jaw, clear, 64, no rain; Edmonton, part cloudy, some rain, 60; Regina, clear, 66, no rain; Calgary, clear, 60; Manitoba, clear to part cloudy, 50 to 92, no rain; Alberta, clear to part cloudy, 48 to 88; one hour rain at Lethbridge during the evening.

Omaha, Aug. 5.—Rain is reported fairly general in the northeast portion of Nebraska and Western Iowa.

There was general rain over northeast Nebraska, ranging from one inch at Norfolk to a cloudburst at Takamah, Nebraska, where seven inches fell.

Winnipeg, Aug. 5.—"Continuation of favorable weather conditions still indicate a wheat yield for the prairie provinces of 390 million bushels," Clark and Martin say to-day.

MONTREAL PRICES EASIER AT CLOSE

Montreal, Aug. 5. — After showing signs of improvement in the first three hours, prices on the Montreal Stock Exchange turned easier towards the close. Trading also turned quiet.

Dominion Bridge maintained its earlier advance of one point at 62 until the end of the session.

Of the balance of the list, National Breweries was the most prominent in regard to activity. It suffered a recession of ½ at 30.

ASBESTOS BONDHOLDERS ADJOURN

Montreal, Aug. 5.—The special meeting of the general mortgage bondholders called by Asbestos Corporation Limited yesterday afternoon was further adjourned until August 28, in order that the required amount of proxies might be secured. A total of $2,330,400 of bonds was represented either in person or by proxy at the meeting, this being equivalent to over fifty-five per cent of the total amount of second mortgage bonds.

NICKEL REPORT AWAITED

International Nickel's earnings for the second quarter are due to make their appearance within the next few weeks, and are bound to show reflection of the general depression in trade and industry, and the sharp cut in the price of copper. Such a result was clearly foreshadowed by the president, K. C. Stanley at the recent special meeting to ratify the company's financial plan, but he continued to say that a slow but steady improvement for the second part of the year was indicated, and added that the Nickel company should be one of the first to profit from improved conditions, owing to the world wide and diversified character of its business in nickel.

BIG OIL COMPANIES TO HANDLE TIRES

New York, Aug. 5.—Inquiry at the offices of the principal gasoline distributing companies to-day brought information that practically all are considering the sale of automobile tires at their retail service stations, in line with the policy announced by Standard Oil of New Jersey and four other big oil companies.

It was reported that the Standard Oil had bought Fisk Rubber Company, but this was denied by Walter C. Teagle, Standard Oil president. Reports were also current that officials of the New Jersey company had visited the plant of the Michelin Tire Company at Milltown, N.J., with a view to its purchase.

BIG MISSOURI TAKING ON LARGE CREW

Stewart, B.C., Aug. 5.—Features of Big Missouri activity since the recent announcement that a mill is to be built on the property, is the fact that the company is increasing its crew by a very considerable number and in nearly every instance preference is being given to local workmen. The result is that a marked improvement in the unemployment situation is noticed, but this does not infer that work is plentiful or that outsiders coming to the district will find a job right away.

So rapidly has the crew been increased that sufficient housing accommodation is not yet available and recourse to tents has been found necessary.

A recent arrival at the mine was Mr. H. Stone, construction engineer from the Consolidated workings at Trail, who is here to take charge of the building of the mill and who, it is understood, will also be in charge as mill superintendent when it is completed.

SUGAR

New York, Aug. 5.—The raw sugar market was easier early to-day. There was nothing available below 3.88, while duty free sugars sold at 3.21.

In refined, only a light inquiry was reported and prices were unchanged, with all refiners listing at 4.60 for fine granulated.

MARKET FAILS TO EXTRICATE SELF FROM RUT

Sales Volume Drops Down to Low Point; Grain Strength Only Feature

New York, Aug. 5 (B.C. Bond).—At the close of the market this afternoon the Dow Jones average of thirty industrials stood at 238.47, up .31 points for the day; for twenty rails at 132.66, up .38 points; and for twenty utilities at 86.40, off .33 points.

Banks to-day called $25,000,000 in loans and call money firmed from 2 to 2½ per cent.

American Telephone lost 3 points and American Can, Westinghouse Electric, Consolidated Gas, Vanadium and Southern Railway lost between one and two points.

U.S. Steel common slid down from 170¼ to 168¾.

But although the market closed about even with some net losses, it was nevertheless under bullish influences for most of the day, the highs being a point or so above yesterday's close.

GRAIN MARKET IMPARTS STRENGTH

Although seemingly a paradox, the stock market's strength was apparently the result of strength in the grain market, which in turn was affected by the hot weather damage, along with lack of rain. It seems that nature is thereby taking care of the surplus wheat crop, as it is now being urged that the latter be fed to cattle instead of the usual corn. In that way there is promise that the threatened cut in the purchasing power of a considerable part of the rural population will be mitigated

GAS STATIONS TO SELL TIRES

Among the features of the day was the strength of the leading oil stocks, occasioned probably by the reports that the filling stations of these companies may be used as means of retailing auto tires, thereby providing source of revenue.

Pronounced strength developed in the rails, especially those engaged in carrying of grain and whose issues are of investment grade.

ALLIS-CHALMERS ORDERS GAIN

It is worthy of note that Allis-Chalmers still reports unfilled orders substantially ahead of a year ago, although there is some recession from the June period. The company engaged in manufacture of machinery may be benefiting from an export demand, but it is also likely that domestic manufacturers are taking advantage of the present lull in industry to revamp their plants with new equipment, preparatory to a general revival in industry.

SEE FIRST STAGE REACHED

One well-known financial publication emphasizes the fact that the first stage of stabilization has been reached in the markets for finished goods, and that with accumulated stocks cleared away, inventory losses absorbed, consumption is gaining on production. Under those conditions it is felt that the seasonal autumnal upturn is certain to translate itself promptly into productive activities.

PUBLIC INTEREST LOW

Public interest in the market is at a minimum. Leading commission and wire houses report that customers are showing little interest in the market on either side.

NO OUTSIDE FOLLOWING

Bulls, who have been working for higher prices have not been able to attract an outside following, and this has been quite a disappointment, because it was generally believed that with stocks rather thoroughly liquidated, an upturn would bring a public demand into leading stocks. It is also true that the efforts of the bears to start a new wave of liquidation by attacking the market has been unsuccessful. Students point out that in the past an absence of speculative outside interest has been characteristic of a period of accumulation and some believe that such buying for a long pull has been in progress in recent sessions when reactions have occurred and encountered resistance at moderately lower levels.

CONTEST ON

That there is a contest in progress between the bears and bulls is evident, and the outcome will be interesting. There is considerable feeling between the two groups because some of those who were working with bears only a month or six weeks ago are now active on the bull side.

Business conditions still hold first place in all discussions. Economists insist that general recovery in credit, small inventories and the elimination of over production in many lines, they add that any good revival in trade would be reflected in increased orders immediately.

CONSERVATIVES CAUTIOUS

Conservative observers continue as cautious as ever before. They admit that the market may have short swings upward periodically, but they do not believe that there has been any change in the general situation to leave to anticipations of a sustained upward movement.

Most interests favor postponing entering the market until leading stocks have demonstrated ability to move through resistance levels on good volume. Meanwhile, they are advising clients to remain on the sidelines.

BOND MARKET PACE QUICKENS

New York, Aug. 5.—The pace of bond trading quickened to-day as a better inquiry developed for railroad issues and a few utility obligations, the market ruled steady to firm.

A total of $37,790,000 in bonds were marketed to-day, after starting the week with not a solitary offering. The bulk of the day's financing was contributed by two large issues, the $20,000,000, 5½ per cent issue of the Ontario Power Service Corporation, and $15,000,000 5½ per cent offering of Paramount Public Corporation.

There is some prospect, it is reported in financial circles, Chesapeake Corporation may float a new bond issue to finance its purchase of additional stock of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, about $20,000,000 is said to be needed.

Federal Reserve member bank investments, exclusive of government securities, increased $46,000,000 last week. Banks have been buying steadily since March when slack demand for funds in the call money market of commercial stocks became firm.

Foreign issues moved narrowly. Mexican government gold 4s dropped about one point on the movement.

CROW'S NEST OIL STILL FEATURE

Vancouver, Aug. 5.—The most interesting development of the week is the Crow's Nest Oil operation in the Flathead district of British Columbia, F. G. Leonard, manager director of the Crow's Nest Glacier Oil Co., telephoned to Vancouver from Los Angeles that the new three-inch tubing is being installed at the well, where the bridge is drilled almost through.

Mr. Leonard stated that A. J. Knutson, in charge of field operations, had asked for a "Christmas tree" control valve, required for handling heavy oil flow, and this was sent by express from Los Angeles early Monday morning. There is evidence of tremendous pressure in the well and great care is being taken in production preparations.

In the forenoon session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to-day, Crow's Nest was steady at 18, with Amalgamated selling at 16. Odd lots of Home Oil sold at 3.10 to 3.15, Calmont brought 106, A.P. Consolidated 67 and C. and E. was offered at 70. There was little action in the balance of the oil list and price levels were about the same as on the preceding day.

In the mining division the interest has set in strongly toward the gold stocks, with Pioneer around 105 and Premier around 100 as the board favorites. George Copper was firm, offered at 165, and Pend Oreille sold at 130. In the unlisted departments the principal trading was in Lorne Gold, Seymour Gold and other gold stocks.

WHITNEY LETTER

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

NORMAL TUESDAY SETBACK THEN HIGHER

"There is little in the development of the market to necessitate any change in the attitude that we have entered a week of moderate advance, except the outlook for to-day, which would normally call for a Tuesday setback of minor proportions. While the day of the week has this normal tendency, the particular reason I believe, why we can look for it to-day is that the advance of Saturday and yesterday has brought stocks up to a point where five or six sessions ago they underwent a series of fluctuations before their dip, and which fluctuations undoubtedly resulted in leaving a few stocks in the hands of timid longs who in turn will see in the early part of to-day's session the prices at which they made their commitments.

"There is no reason to expect anything but the usual outcome, which is the use of the first opportunity, after a minor dip, to get out even. There is nothing new about this, as even in the course of a bull market those who buy stocks on what temporarily proves too strong a spot, and see their stocks dip afterwards, invariably are glad to get out at even figures, even though the market goes on for a big advance afterwards.

"At the present time, I hardly think there is enough for a weak long interest to make this effect run beyond a few hours and, for that matter, if there is any over-extended side to the market which comes under the category of being "weak," certainly believe this is to be found in the large number of shorts, many of whom are having their first fling on this side of the market in their Wall Street experience.

"As previously stated, and in spite of the fact that whatever advance we get gives little promise of becoming radical, I think that you should by no means join this short side, but continue to use temporary weakness, such as you will undoubtedly get to-day, to acquire sound stocks for higher prices later in the week and later in the year.

COMMENT

"The issues pointed out here over the last two weeks or so continue to constitute what are perhaps the market's best opportunities on the up side, with this including American Can, American Telegraph and Telephone, American and Foreign Power, Colorado Fuel, Corn Products, General Electric, General Motors, National Biscuit, National Power and Light, Standard of New Jersey, Radio Corporation, U.S. Steel and Westinghouse Electric.

CANADIAN CROP STILL UNCERTAIN

Ottawa, Aug. 5 (Branson, Brown wires).—Canadian Government crop report to-day says:

Although the western wheat crop is generally well advanced in the filling stage, there is still much uncertainty as to the probable yield. Lack of moisture in Saskatchewan and southern Alberta and damage from rust in Manitoba and southeastern Saskatchewan are the features of this week's report.

Alberta crops alone have registered an improvement in the past two weeks, the large central area again being benefited at the last week-end by good rains.

Cutting of early wheat and barley is common in all three provinces, with indications that harvest will be general in a week or ten days. The weather has again been hot and dry, with central Saskatchewan points registering over 100 degrees on the last day of the month. Effective precipitation fell only in central Alberta.

Rust infection varies greatly with date of maturity, variety and stand of crops. Although future weather conditions will have an important effect, there is every indication that the damage will be light on early maturity, light crops, but heavy on the good crops maturing later. The telegraphic reports from the Dominion Rust Research Bureau at Winnipeg for this week reads as follows:

"In Manitoba hot dry weather of the past week has hastened maturity of cereal crops. Cutting of early fields of wheat and barley is now general in central and southern part of provinces. Losses from stem rust will be heavy in about 60 per cent of fields of common wheat in area included within radius of sixty miles from Winnipeg. Many heavily rusted fields in this area now being cut, although not mature. In remainder of province severe rust infection appears to be localized with total loss difficult to estimate. Only light infection of stem rust on durums. Stem rust increasing rapidly on oats and barley. Because of hot dry weather stem rust has not increased rapidly in Saskatchewan, but has spread northward to Pontrilias and southwest to Shaunavon. There is about 20 per cent stem rust on some wheat in eastern Saskatchewan. Durums have a trace of stem rust. No stem rust reported in Alberta."

COOL ROBBER TAKES $8,000 FROM BANK

Manager of St. Anne De Bellevue Branch, Near Montreal, Tricked By Bandit

Staff Surprised After Yesterday's Business Hours and Forced Into Vault

Canadian Press

Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que., Aug. 5—The Ste. Anne de Bellevue branch of the Bank of Montreal was held up and robbed of $8,000 by a lone bandit late yesterday, according to an announcement made by provincial police to-day.

The robbery was one of the cleverest engineered in this province for many years. Late yesterday the manager of the branch received a long distance telephone call from Montreal and was advised a government bank inspector would call on him to inspect the books of the branch. Later the manager was called from a Ste. Anne de Bellevue hotel. The person calling identified himself as the government inspector, and requested arrangements be made for his entrance into the bank building as it was after banking hours. Arrangements were made.

PUT IN VAULT

A few minutes after gaining entrance to the bank the cool-headed individual produced a revolver and forced the manager and his six assistants into one of the vaults. He then looted the various cashiers tills.

Provincial police stated their investigation revealed the bandit had registered at a local hotel, changed his clothes and then gone to the bank. the police trail showed the man returned to the hotel, again changed his clothes and checked out.

FIRE TO-DAY IN HAMILTON SPECTACULAR

Plant of Canada Iron and Foundry Company Destroyed During Outbreak

Explosion Causes All Workmen to Rush From Building

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 5.—Fire destroyed the plant of the Canada Iron and Foundry Company here to-day, causing a loss of $100,000.

A spark from a passing locomotive is believed to have ignited the dry roof. The flames blazed away for some minutes before they were noticed. The first alarm to the workmen inside the structure was the noice of an explosion when the heat reached a cylinder of compressed air. That sent every man to the open in a hurry.

SPECTACULAR BLAZE

The blaze was a spectacular one, with all available apparatus being summoned to the spot. At 1 p.m. the firemen were still pouring water on the ruins.

The structure was owned by the Canadian National Railways and was formerly a yard shop, but had been leased to the Canada Iron and Foundry Company.

LOGAN CROP PEAK PASSED

Wineries Taking All Berries Offered in Victoria

Strawberries and Raspberries Shipped to Prairies Much Below Normal

The loganberry crop is now past the peak with wineries taking all the available supply. Olivet cherries are also being harvested and sold under contract to the canneries in Vancouver and Victoria. Yellow Transparent and Duchess apples are supplying the local market. At present there is no commodity being shipped to prairie markets from Victoria.

On the mainland the weather is warm and raspberries are about over. A car heavy to blackberries rolled to prairie points Saturday. Blackberries are selling at $2.50 delivered at prairie points. This season has been exceptional. Fine weather during shipping time and prices and condition of arrival have been good.

The associated small fruit growers' organization shipped seventeen cars of strawberries, including part cars from Nancy, twenty-five cars of raspberries and expect five or six cars of blackberries.

In all fifty-six cars of strawberries from B.C. were sold in the prairies and about forty-three cars of raspberries. This volume is less than three-quarters normal. There has been few, if any, complaints on pack and quality, and raspberries gave more general satisfaction than strawberries.

NEW VARIETIES SHOWN

Visitors to the Vancouver exhibition, now in progress, will see on exhibition two new features in berries. One is the cultivated blueberry from Mr. Johnston's gardens near Brighouse, showing the prolific nature of the cluster of fruit, thereby assuring a heavy yield. The other is a new unnamed blackberry or dewberry from Mr. Dann's orchard at Hatzic. This berry has great prospects. It is large in size, about two inches long and one inch in diameter, soft seeded and sweet. It should prove an ideal berry for winemaking as well as superior for canning, and should equal or surpass the British bramble for preserving.

cipal airports between Vancouver and Portland to inspect the manner in which they are handled and to ascertain facts regarding operating costs, terms of leases and other details. He expects to make the trip before the end of this month.

The industrial committee has already communicated with Ottawa for approval of the field. Squadron Leader McLeod of the Jericho Beach base, who is in charge of civil aviation for the Province, has expressed his own opinion in favor of the site as a permanent airport and official sanction of his decision is awaited.

GOOD RUNWAYS

Under tentative plans laid by the committee, three blocks of city lots on the east side of Shelbourne Street would be included in the air field. This would increase its acreage from seventy-seven to ninety acres and would provide an east-west runway of 1,800 feet, the minimum required by the Federal department. In a north and south direction the present runway extends about 2,400 feet, giving fliers plenty of room to take off and land with the prevailing winds.

The airdrome, mechanical buildings and hangars would be erected about midway in the field on Shelbourne Street, giving an outlet to the highway within the city limits and providing good roadway right up to the entrance of the proposed structure was submitted to the council.

Holding of concerts at North Ward and Beacon Hill Parks was also recommended by the committee. The Victoria Boys' Band will play at North Ward on August 17 and William Tickle's orchestra will give a concert at Beacon Hill on August 10.

Services of the Sixteenth Canadian Scottish Band for a series of five concerts in the city was offered in a letter from Col. D. B. Martyn. This matter was referred to Alderman J. A. Worthington, chairman of the parks committee.

Surfacing of 150 yards of roadway approach to Ross Bay Cemetery at a cost of $375 was approved by the council.

CHANGSHA IS RETAKEN BY CHINA TROOPS

Nationalist Force Re-enters Hunan Province City Looted By Red Hordes

Three British and One U.S. Sailor Wounded in Siang River Skirmishes

Nanking, China, Aug. 5.—It was officially announced that Nationalist troops this morning had re-entered Changsha, capital of Hunan province, which recently was captured by Communists.

Shanghai, Aug. 5.—Three British and one United States sailor were wounded when Communists attacked foreign gunboats in the Siang River near Changsha, belated dispatches from the Hunan province capital disclosed to-day.

The United States bluejacket was shot through the chest yesterday when Red machine gunners sprayed the sides of the United States gunboat Palos with lead for the second time in a week. The Palos quickly silenced the Communists' fire, dispatches said.

Details of the wounding of the British sailors were lacking, but it was known they were members of the crew of the British gunboat Teal.

FIFTY BANDITS KILLED

Five sailors aboard the Palos were wounded last Wednesday when Communists fired at the gunboat as it approached Changsha to observe conditions after Reds had looted and burned many sections of that wealthy city. Fifty bandits were killed any many wounded as the Palos replied with machine guns and three-inch rifles.

Dispatches said the latest Communist attacks on foreign gunboats involved Japanese and Italian vessels as well as the Teal and Palos.

Eleven foreign warships were concentrated to-day in the tri-city region of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang to protect foreigners against threatened Red incursions.

ALL ARE SEARCHED

Hankow was virtually under martial law. Chinese soldiers searched everyone on the streets and volunteer defence corps was organized by the French community for emergency. Other foreign quarters were barricaded and guarded to prevent re-enactment of scenes last week at Changsha, which foreign property valued at millions of dollars was destroyed by Communists.

An armored train yesterday scattered a skirmish party of Reds which approached within twenty-five miles of Hankow. The bandist previously had ambushed a band of cadets sent to fight them and taken their arms and ammunition.

Kiangsi province dispatches said Kuling, summer resort near Kiukiang, had been evacuated by more than 500 foreigners, Kiukiang itself is nearly emptied of foreigners, who have departed for Shanghai and Hankow.

100 ARE SLAUGHTERED

Changsha dispatches yesterday said Communists, continuing their fiendish acts there, had killed 100 wealthy Chinese held for ransom.

Quebec—C. H. Cahan, Montreal, Minister of Marine; Maurice Dupre, Quebec West, Secretary of State; Arthur Sauve, Minister of Public Works; Alfred Duranleau, Solicitor-General.

Prince Edward Island—Hon. J. A. Macdonald, Minister without portfolio.

There may be last-minute changes in this line-up, but it is believed it represents the cabinet list as it now stands.

Mr. Stevens, it is believed, will enter Parliament through a by-election either in East Kootenay or Fraser Valley.

CIVIL SERVANTS INTERESTED

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—With the day approaching when Hon. R. B. Bennett will announce his new cabinet, its personnel is being forecast in all parts of Canada, but particularly in Ottawa. "I wonder who will be our minister," is the oft-repeated question asked by civil servants.

The Ottawa Journal in a news page feature to-day carried the following:

"It is reported in some quarters that for the time being Mr. Bennett will himself take the portfolio of Finance. Mr. Bennett, it will be recalled, held that post in the short-lived Meighen ministry of 1926."

The Journal says that while the portfolios have not yet all been allotted, the probabilities are that Hon. H. H. Stevens of British Columbia will be Minister of Trade and Commerce, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Ontario, Minister of Justice and Hon. R. J. Manion, Ontario, Minister of Railways.

The bureau's contact men along the highways of the Pacific Coast, are also partly responsible for the increase in tourist traffic to this city through the Victoria port of entry, it was noted by George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, to-day.

ABOVE LAST YEAR

The complete tabulated comparative figures follow:

	1929	1930
Foreign automobiles in	4,604	4,627
Foreign passengers in	13,203	14,244
Canadian automobiles in	845	867
Canadian passengers in	3,223	3,389
Foreign automobiles out	4,720	5,072
Foreign passengers out	13,367	15,729
Canadian automobiles out	887	1,035
Canadian passengers out	2,633	3,854
Foreign cars in and out	9,324	9,699
Canadian cars in and out	1,832	1,902

The latter figures show an increase of 445 cars handled incoming and outgoing in the first seven months of this year over the corresponding time last year.

QUIET MARKET THIS MORNING

First Shipment of Mainland Blueberries Are Unloaded Here

The wholesale market was unusually quiet this morning, with little business being transacted and few shipments handled. A quantity of blueberries from the mainland have arrived and are selling well. Other recent shipments include Okanagan peach plums, California black diamond plums, and honey dew and Persian melons.

Local raspberries are practically through.

"Three hundred ships have been lost in vain attempts to reach the Pole by crushing a path through the ice," Sir Hubert said. "I do not believe it can be done. We plan to cruise under the ice at a speed of not more than four knots. If we hit submerged ice at that speed nothing will be damaged because of the protective steel we plan to install.

"Every 100 miles we will have to come to the surface and take in air. If it happens to be open water we can open the hatches. If there is ice overhead we can pierce it with a collapsible ice-breaker and get air through a tube. We expect to be able to pierce ice twelve feet thick.

TO TEST COMPASS

"The purpose of the trip is purely scientific. We plan to test the behavior of the gyroscope compass at the Pole and hope also to make preliminary observations of the possibility of placing a weather bureau station in the far north. A station would be of great value to meteorologists in forecasting weather."

miles north of Seattle. The pilot, W. A. Williams, stepped from the cabin to one pontoon to examine his engine, which had been overheating. As he worked fire started.

The pilot ordered the passengers, Miss Binns, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Gauley of Toronto, S. D. Johnston of Prince Rupert, and E. H. Whittingham of Victoria, to step out of the cabin while he attempted to subdue the blaze.

SWAM FOR HELP

Miss Binns declared that she would swim ashore for help and plunged into the water. On the way she sighted a fisherman's rowboat and made for it, the fisherman pulled her aboard and the two returned to take the passengers off the burning plane.

The smoke and calls of the passengers had attracted other fishermen and a United States coastguard patrol boat, which rescued everyone but Williams, who stayed with his ship. Miss Binns rowed back, but while they were a short distance away, an explosion shattered the flaming plane.

Three of the passengers, Miss Binns, Mr. Johnston and Whittingham, were taken to Seattle in a relief plane, and the other two passengers were left at Tahoe Beach, where they had been bound for.

The pontoons and motor were salvaged, but the rest of the plane was damaged beyond repair by the explosion of the gas tank. Loss was about $8,000.

NO DANGER

"There was no danger," the pilot declared, "for we had with us life preservers and a rubber boat big enough to hold everybody in the plane. I had the boat out ready, but it was not used, so I took it with me to shore."

Miss Binns is a switchboard operator at the Seymour Exchange. She resides with Capt. and Mrs. Stuart S. Stone, with whom she has made her home since she arrive dfrom Ucluelet several years ago. She was on a holiday visit to Victoria, and decided to fly to Seattle on Monday.

PILOT'S STORY

Pilot Williams said he was flying at an altitude of 500 feet, due to the fact there was a pall of smoke from forest fires. A seaplane can fly low, he said, as it can land on the water at any time.

"I saw the Farenheit gauge was showing a higher temperature than normal," he said, "so I put down at Kingston in Puget Sound. Kingston is about twenty miles north of Seattle.

"I landed on the water about a quarter of a mile from shore, at 3.10 p.m.

"There was a girls' camp on the shore, and I landed at a safe distance, as a number of girls were in bathing.

"If there had been any fire in the plane before I landed I would have landed right at the shore, where everybody was safe. There was no fire when I came down.

"When I landed I stepped out on the pontoon to find where the trouble was. As I worked a flame developed. It was probably due to some part of the motor being hot, and some gas may have spilled on the motor as I landed.

"I immediately walked around the right hand pontoon and opened the door. I told my passengers to climb out.

Three of them I placed on the left haad pontoon and the other two came on the right hand side with me. This was to balance the plane.

SIGNALLED BOATS

"Two small gas boats were nearby, and I signalled to them. They ran up and took us all off.

"When one of the boats was within 100 feet, Miss Emmie Binns of Vancouver jumped in the water and told S. D. Johnston of Prince Rupert to jump after her. He could not swim and she took him to the boat.

"There was never any danger, but she apparently thought she would lighten the plane and make things easier. She is a wonderful swimmer.

"To show you there was no danger, we had with us life preservers and a rubber boat big enough to hold everybody in the plane, but none of them were needed. I had the boat out ready, but it was not used, so I took it with me to shore.

NO CRACK-UP

"Had I been alone I could probably have saved the machine by beating out the flames with my coat. I was afraid the passengers would notice what I was doing before I got through, so I asked them to step out.

"There was no crack-up. I never made a better landing in my life and I have had fourteen years' flying experience, with over 4,500 official hours in the air."

Where to Buy Bonds

THIS is an important point in the purchase of bonds, since it is necessary for the bond buyer to rely so largely on the presentations of the bond house from which he or she buys bonds.

This House has carefully safeguarded the interests of a large and growing clientele for many years. It is known throughout the length and breadth of the British Empire. It is on this record that we solicit your business.

For the convenience of our clients we maintain membership in the Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges and Curb Markets.

Bond Prices Are Firm

The Bond Market has stiffened up surprisingly. The change has come about so gradually that even those in close touch with conditions have hardly realized the position of high-grade issues as they stand at this time. Most authorities are of the opinion that still higher prices are inevitable.

Our advice to clients is to consider the immediate investment of idle funds and the reinvestment of moneys falling due in the near future.

The Dancing Floor

By JOHN BUCHAN

The result was that I was in a fair way of making a fool of myself. No . . . . I don't think I was in love with her. I had never been in love in my life, so I was not an expert on the subject, but I fancied that love took people in a different way. But I was within measurable distance of asking her to be my wife. My feeling was a mixture of affection and pity and anxiety. She had appealed to me, and I had become her champion. I wanted to protect her, but how was a middle-aged lawyer to protect a determined girl from far-away perils which he did not comprehend? The desperate expedient of marriage occurred to me, but I did not believe she would accept me, and, if she did, would not the mating of age and youth be an outrage and a folly? Nevertheless I was in a mood to venture even on that.

I must have presented a strange spectacle to my friends. There were other men of forty in London at the time who behaved as if they were twenty-five—one buxom Cabinet Minister was to be seen at every dance—but none, I am certain, cut an older figure that I. The dancing Cabinet Minister sought the ballroom for exercise, because he preferred dancing to golf. I had no such excuse, for I danced comparatively little; my object was patently the society of one particular lady. In Kore's train I found myself in strange haunts. I followed her into the Bohemian coulisses to which Shelley Arabin's daughter had an entree—queer studio parties in Chelsea where the women were shorn and the men left shaggy: the feverish literary and artistic salons of the emancipated and rather derelict middle-class: dances given at extravagant restaurants by the English and foreign new-rich, where I did not know or wish to know one single soul. Also we appeared together at houses which I had frequented all my life, and there my friends saw me. Of course they talked. I fancy that for about two months I was the prime subject of London gossip. I didn't care a hang for I was in a queer, obstinate, excitable mood. We hunted together too, and there is no such nursery scandal as the hunting-field. With a great deal of work on hand I found this new life a considerable strain, and I was perfectly conscious that I was playing the fool. But, though I don't think I was in love with her, I simply could not let the girl out of my sight.

Now and then my conscience awoke, and I realized with a shock that the time was slipping past, and that the real problem was still unsolved. I knew that I could not shake Kore in her resolution, and I suppose I hoped blindly that something would occur to prevent her acting on it. That something could only be a love affair. I was perfectly certain that she was not in love with me, but she might accept me, and at the back of my head I had the intention of putting it to the test. Ertzberger had divined what was going on and seemed to approve. "A boy is no use to her," he said more than once. "Besides, she wouldn't look at one. She must marry a grown man." He implied that I filled the bill, and the man's presumption gave me an absurd pleasure. If any one had told me that I would one day go out of my way to cultivate a little Jew financier, I would have given him the lie, yet the truth is that when I was not with Kore, I hungered for Ertzberger's company. He alone understood what was in my mind, and shared my anxieties. "She must not go back," he kept declaring; "at all costs she must be kept away from Plakos—at any rate during this spring. I get disquieting reports. There is mischief brewing in the hills, and the people of the coast have had a bitter winter of famine. There has been a lot of sickness, too, and in the village at the house gates the mortality among the children has been heavy."

"You mean Kynaetho?" I asked.

"Kynaetho." He looked at me curiously. "You seem to have been getting up the subject. . . . Well, I don't like it. If she goes there in April there may be disaster. Upon my soul, we should be justified in having her kidnapped and shut up in some safe place till the summer. So far as I can learn, the danger is only in the spring. Once let the people see the crops springing and the caiques bringing in fish, and they will forget their grievances."

Early in March I was dining with the Nantleys, and after dinner Mollie took me aside for a talk. As I have told you, she is one of my oldest friends, for when I was a grubby little private schoolboy and she was a girl of thirteen, we used to scamper about together. I had had her son Hugo in my chambers, before he went into Parliament, and Wirlesdon had always been a sort of home to me. Mollie was entitled to say anything she liked, but when she spoke it was rather timidly.

"I hear a good deal of talk about you," she said, "and I can't help noticing too. Do you think it is quite fair, Ned?"

"Fair to whom?" I asked.

"To Kore Arabin. You're different from the boys who run after her. You're a distinguished man with a great reputation. Is it fair to her to turn her head?"

"Is that very likely? What if she has turned mine?"

"Do you really mean that?" she cried. "I never thought of it in that way. Do you honestly want to marry her?"

"I don't know. . . . I don't know what I want except that I must stand by her. She's in an appallingly difficult position, and badly needs a friend."

"Yes. But there's only one way in which a man can protect a young woman. Do you mean to marry her?"

"But do you mean to ask her?"

"She wouldn't accept me."

"It may come to that," I said.

"But, Ned dear, can't you see it wouldn't do? Kore is not the right sort of wife for you. She's—she's too —— Well, you've a career before you. Is she the woman to share it with you?"

"It's not many months since, at Wirlesdon, you implored my charity for Miss Arabin."

"Oh, I don't want to say a word against her, and if you were really desperately in love I would say nothing and wish you luck. But I don't believe you are. I believe it's what you say—charity, and that's a most rotten foundation to build on."

Mollie, in such affairs, is an incurable romantic.

"I promise never to ask her to marry me unless I am in love," I said.

"Well, that means you are not quite in love yet. Hadn't you better draw back before it is too late? I can't bear to see you making a bad blunder, and Kore, dear child, would be a bad blunder for you. She's adorably pretty, and she has wonderful qualities, but she is a little savage, and very young, and quite unformed. Really, really it wouldn't do."

"I admit the difficulties, my dear Mollie. But never mind me, and think of Miss Arabin. You said yourself that she was English at heart and would be very happy settled in England."

"But not with you."

"She wouldn't accept me, and I may never propose. But if I did, and she accepted me, why not with me?"

"Because you're you—because you're too good for a rash experiment."

"I'm not good enough for her, for I'm too old, as you've just told me. But anyhow your argument thinks principally of me, not of Miss Arabin. It is she who matters."

I had a different kind of remonstrance from Vernon. We saw little of each other in these days beyond a chance word in the street or a casual wave of the hand in the club smoking-room. When I thought of him it was with a sense of shame that I had let him slip so hopelessly out of my life. Time had been when he was my closest friend, and when his problem was also my problem. Now the whole story of his dream seemed a childish fancy.

One night in March I found him waiting for me in my rooms.

"I came round to say good-bye," he said. "I shall probably leave London very soon."

It shows how completely I had forgotten his affairs that I did not remember that his particular crisis was drawing near, that, as he believed, the last door of his dream-world would soon be opened.

Then, before I could ask about his plans, he suddenly broke out:

"Look here, I hope there's no truth in what people tell me."

His tone had the roughness of one very little at his ease, and it annoyed me. I asked coldly what he meant.

"You know what I mean—that you're in love with Miss What's-her-name—the girl I met at Wirlesdon."

"I don't know that you've any right to ask the question, and I'm certainly not going to answer it."

"That means that you are in love," he cried. "Good God, man, you don't tell me that you want to marry that—that tawdry girl!"

I must have reddened, for he saw that he had gone too far.

"I don't mean that—I apologize. I have no reason to say anything against her."

Then his tone changed.

"Ned, old man, we have been friends for a long time, and you must forgive me if I take liberties. We have never had any secrets from each other. My own affairs give me a good deal to think about just now, but I can't go away with an easy mind till I know the truth about you. For God's sake, old fellow, don't do anything rash. Promise me you won't propose to her till I come back in April."

His change of manner had softened me, and as I saw the trouble in his honest eyes I felt a return of the old affection.

"Why are you anxious on my account?"

"Because," he said solemnly, "I know that if you married that girl our friendship would be over. I feel it in my bones. She would always come between us."

"I can't make any promises of that kind. But one think I can promise—that no woman will ever break our friendship."

"You don't understand. Some women wouldn't but that girl——! Well, I can say no more. Good-bye, Ned. I'll hunt you up when I come back.'

He left me with a feeling of mingled regret and irritation. I hated to go against Vernon's wishes, but his manner when he had spoken of Kore, the look in his eyes, the inflection in his voice, conveyed an utter distaste which made me angry. I pictured him at Severns nursing his unreasoning dislike of the poor child, Vernon, as my nephew Charles had said, was a prig, and his narrow world had room only for blameless and vapid virginity. The promise he had asked of me was an outrage.

Yet I kept a promise which I had never made. For suddenly Cinderella disappeared from the ball. After a country-house dance I drove her back to town in my car, and left her at the door of her flat. During the long drive she had talked more seriously than I had ever known her to talk before, had spoken of herself and her affairs with a kind of valiant simplicity. The only sophisticated thing about her was her complexion. All day afterwards my conviction was growing that she was the woman for me, that I could make her not only secure but happy. We were by way of dining with the Lamanchas, and I think if we had met that night I should have asked her to marry me. . . . But we did not meet, for by evening she was gone.

Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 6, 1930

According to astrology, this is a threatening day in planetary government and one in which risks of every sort should be avoided.

In the early morning the sway may disturb workers and cause discontent, or even strikes.

Again the rule appears unfortunate to farmers who may register protests regarding some phase of their harvesting results.

Astrologers long have foretold that quantity production from the soil would be attained after the methods successful in big business and now they predict a movement of great scope that will be of momentous effect on agriculture.

Under this sway both merchants and manufacturers may suffer certain discouragements, but they will precede increased prosperity, it is forecast.

Warning is given that the attitude of the mind should be watched at this time when many who save at foreign lands may foretell wars that extend as prairie fires.

This is read as rather a threatening day for aviation and for that reason special precautions for safety should be taken.

Increase of air travel will be tremendous this month and next, if the stars are rightly read.

All the signs appear to presage a drawing together and a unifying of the nation, which is to achieve wonders in the next few years along lines not seen as well as along those already apparent.

Both Italy and Poland will manifest the effects of planetary influence making for warlike demonstrations, the seers announce.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of dangers that should cause especial caution in business affairs.

Children born on this day probably will have the touch of genius. Subjects of this sign usually manifest commercial as well as artistic talent.

—Alfred Tennyson, poet, was born on this day, 1809.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Flying Lights

(Copyright, 1930)

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"What can have happened to the moon?"

Uncle Wiggily asked this, as did Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy and Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, who had come over to help with the lawn party at the rabbit gentleman's hollow stump bungalow.

"Where is the moon?"

That's what Kittie Kat, Jackie Bow Wow, Billie Wagtail and all the other animal children wanted to know as they looked at the ice-cream freezers and the boxes of cake on the bungalow steps.

"We can't have a moonlight party without a moon," chattered Johnnie Bushytail, the squirrel boy.

You know that is true; don't you? Of course you can have a party any time you like. It may be a birthday party or a surprise party or a garage party. But when you tell everybody you are going to have a moonlight party, and then there is no moon, well, it's just too bad! That's what Uncle Wiggily thought.

For the old rabbit gentleman had planned to give all his animal children friends a jolly moonlight party on his bungalow lawn. But after the sun went down, and it began to get dark, and when the moon should have come sailing up out of the east behind the trees, why, there was no moon at all and the lawn was dark.

"Somebody must have taken the moon away just to be mean!" mewed Kittie Kat.

Mrs. Longears served the ice cream and cake.

"Oh, I see what's the matter!" suddenly exclaimed Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit, jumping up and down. "The sky is all covered with clouds and that's why the moon can't shine down. Look through that hole in the clouds and you can see a little of the silvery moon!"

They all looked and there, surely enough, was the moon trying to peep out from behind the clouds to shine for Uncle Wiggily's party. But the clouds were too thick and, after letting the moon have just that one peep, they closed over the hole and it was darker than ever.

"I know what we can do!" cried Kittie Kat.

"What?" asked everbody, even Uncle Wiggily, for he felt sad at having his party spoiled because the moon could not shine.

"Let's all take long breaths and blow the clouds away!" said Bunty. "You know the wind can blow the clouds away from the sun so maybe, if we try hard, we can blow them away from the moon.'

"Hurray! Let's try it!" barked Peetie Bow Wow. "It isn't any fun at a party without the moon. Blow, everybody!"

My goodness! You should have heard those animal children trying to blow the clouds away so the bright moon could shine. Puff and blow! Puff and blow! Even Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy blew her share as did Mrs. Longears. But the clouds still hid the moon and the party was dark.

"I guess even an elephant, puffing through his trunk, couldn't blow those clouds away," bleated Billie Wagtail, the coat boy.

"You are right," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "Only a strong wind could blow those clouds off the moon. But we still have the ice-cream and cake. You children can eat that."

"In the dark?" asked Baby Bunty sadly. "Oh, what a shame! If we only had some Chinese lanterns, or something like that, to hang in the trees it wouldn't be so bad. The whole party is being spoiled."

"I wish I had some lanterns," sighed Uncle Wiggily. "If I had I would put them in the trees and then——" He stopped talking all of a sudden and looked up in the trees. He saw some little lights flashing. Soon there were more lights, hundreds of them—like tiny lanterns flitting around. The lights flew from one tree to another.

"Oh!" cried Baby Bunty, "maybe the moon has busted into little pieces and they're sifting down through the clouds to light the party."

"Oh, no, not that!" said Uncle Wiggily. "The moon couldn't do that. But those flying lights are fireflies—lightning bugs—and if we only had enough of them our party would be just fine."

"Well, Uncle Wiggily, you are going to have plenty of flying lights for your lawn party!" buzzed one big lightning bug. "We are your friends. We heard about your moonlight party and when the clouds came to hide the moon I and my friends flew from far and near to come and sit in the trees around your bungalow to make it light. Come, my friends," went on the firefly, "flitter your wings and make a grand light for Uncle Wiggily's party!"

Then thousands and thousands of lightning bugs flew up into the trees and soon the lawn of the bungalow was almost as bright as if the moon had been shining. How happy the animal children were and they were much happier when Nurse Jane and Mrs. Longears and Mrs. Twistytail served the ice-cream and cake. Then they danced on the lawn lighted by fireflies and played game and had fun until it was time to go home to bed.

So, after all, the party was a success. And if the dogwood will please stop barking at the pussy willow I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's funny concert.

The city has been asked by the Royal Sanitary Institute to co-operate in the staging of health week from October 5 to 11. The matter was left in the hands of the medical health officer.

Broadcast Headliners

To secure stories of the Pacific Northwest suitable for broadcasting on the coast-to-coast Empire Builders' radio programmes this winter, Radio Station KOMO, Seattle, has announced that three prizes, aggregating $300.00, will be offered.

The stories may be drama, melodrama, adventure, romance comedy, or a combination of any of these. Both amateur and professional can compete, as no technical knowledge of radio writing is necessary, the only requirement being that the story be entertaining and adaptable for broadcasting.

The suggestion is made that the stories have as a background such things as Vancouver Island, the Inside passage, Rainier National Park, Mount Baker, Tacoma' industrial activities, Seattle's shipping, Puget Sound, the Cascade Tunnel, a University of Washington football game, the fishing industry, the lumbering industry, Everett's mills, etc.

The purpose of the Empire Builders programmes, which will be broadcast over a national network of the National Broadcasting Company Monday evenings beginning September 29, is to instil a desire in listeners to visit the Pacific Northwest and investigate its climatic and industrial advantages. The programmes are a presentation of the Great Northern Railway.

A pamphlet giving details of the contest and helpful suggestions to writers has been prepared by KOMO for the benefit of contestants.

CFCT's first feature for this evening is the nightly "Sunset Hour" of fine music at 6.15, which will bring a delightful programme of classical music to the homes of radio listeners. At 7.30 the Department of Education's Summer School Broadcast will be released, and Mrs. Wilfred Ord will speak on elocution. Between 11 and midnight Charlie Hunt and his Victorians will be heard from the south ballroom of the Crystal Garden in sixty minutes of syncopation.

They Overlooked the Diamonds

THERE is a modern flippancy to the effect that "What you don't know won't hurt you." It is also a fallacy. For instance:

The farmers of Kimberley were a disgusted, disheartened lot. They said the soil was too rocky to earn them a living. Some of them left. Others died in poverty.

Don't be like those Kimberley farmers. Know!

Don't seek opportunity in some distant place and overlook the diamonds that are daily within your grasp. Know!

Advertising is a mine of opportunity. It tells of values you wouldn't know about if it were not there to guide you.

The secret of economical buying is information. The man or woman who is best informed is the one who buys to best advantage.

Ardent Advocate of Spanking—How to Make a Wife Take an Interest in Housekeeping — Should This Girl Sacrifice Her Love for the Sake of Her Family?

DEAR MISS DIX—I wonder where you get the idea that husbands do not spank their wives in this day and age? I have had more spankings than I can count. And I deserve them every one. I am extravagant, gossiping, bad-tempered and willful. My husband supports me in luxury, is loving and kind, and all that he asks is that I do not spend money recklessly and that I do not gossip, and when I do he punishes me. I was spanked yesterday for spending half of the housekeeping money for an evening dress when I have two in the closet that I have never worn and the worst spanking that I ever got was for telling the inside of a divorce case for which my husband had been the attorney.

Now I suppose that you will say that my husband should correct my faults by long talks, tenderness and so forth. He tried that and it did not work, so one day when outrageous bills came in, he turned me across his knee and gave me an awful spanking. Well, I have never spent as recklessly since. I have lapses now and then, but I have improved so that I am unrecognizable and no one knows the reason but me and my husband. And I love a husband who has the courage to make me behave myself. If he had permitted me to ride roughshod over him, we would have been divorced long ago.

I am the only child of wealthy parents and have been spoiled and indulged all my life and never disciplined until my husband did it. If I had had some spankings in my childhood when I needed them, my husband wouldn't have to give them to me now. You may not know it, Miss Dix, but spanking is coming in fashion again and plenty of young wives are getting theirs and they need it.

SPOILED GIRL.

ANSWER—Personally, I have always been an earnest and an ardent advocate of spanking. I have seen too many peevish, fretful, whining, disgruntled children who were public nuisances turned into beaming little angels by being turned across some reformer's knee and given a good spank or two to doubt the regenerative power of corporal punishment judicially administered when and as needed.

To talk about moral suasion and appealing to a child's higher nature is all tommyrot. The only way to reach the finer feelings of any self-willed and howling brat is with the business end of a hairbrush or a similar instrument of grace, and if you don't believe it just try it on your Susie or Johnnie the next time she or he gets into a tantrum or refuses to obey, and note results.

The thing that is the matter with the present generation is that it is the offspring of weak-armed mothers who had not the grit to enforce their authority by force when it was necessary, but who tried to persuade their children into walking the straight and narrow way instead of batting them into it. For children are not amenable to ethical arguments, but they respect force. You may talk your tongue off to youngsters trying to convince them of the beauty of righteousness and it will do no good, but if they know that they will get a good spanking if they don't behave themselves, they will be models of all the infantile virtues.

To say that children should never be spanked is as silly as to say that the teeth should be taken out of our laws and that criminals should never be punished. It's the hangman's noose that keeps the trembling wretch in order. Do away with capital punishment and life sentences and murder would be a favorite sport and no one's life would be safe.

And it is the same way with children. It is because so many children know, when they defy their parents and go their own ways, that the worst that will happen to them will be a few tears from mother and a feeble and ineffectual protest from father, that there are thousands of parents who are wringing their hands in despair and moaning out that they cannot do a thing with thirteen-year-old boys and girls.

Understand, I am not advocating the beating of children. No one is more opposed to harshness toward children than I am, but I think the greatest cruelty that parents can show to their children is to let them grow up undisciplined and uncontrolled. "Train up a child in the way he should grow and when he is old he will not depart from it," said the wisest man that ever lived. And he also gave as the recipe for this the use of the rod.

As my correspondent states, if the parents had done their duty in the spanking line, it would not be necessary for husbands to resort to such drastic measures, as hers has done to correct her faults.

Whether it is desirable that a husband should spank his wife when she acts like a spoiled child, I shall not presume to say, but I will say that I have seen many cases where I have thought it was needed and where I have wondered at the forbearance of husbands who kept their hands off.

I have seen women wasting the hard-earned money of their husbands on senseless extravagance; women whose husbands lavished every luxury upon them, but who were never satisfied; women who were peevish, fretful and complaining and who appreciated nothing that was done for them, and I have thought that they were just like bad children who needed a good spanking to bring them to their senses and make them behave.

So perhaps if spanking is coming again into fashion, as my correspondent avers, it is a good thing and will save many a divorce.

DEAR MISS DIX—How can I get my wife to take an interest in learning housekeeping? Her mother brought her up to be a helpless kitten. She can do nothing except spend money and is terribly extravagant. I have no peaceful home and no money saved. What can I do?

A MAN WHO FELL FOR A PRETTY FACE.

ANSWER—The only way that you can get your wife to take an interest in learning to keep house is to serve notice on her that you are going to divorce her if she doesn't. Perhaps if she knows that she is going to lose her job as a wife, as she would lose any other job unless she made good on it, it will make her get busy with the cookbook and the pots and the pans.

Marriage is a partnership and is just as much the wife's business to make a comfortable home for her husband as it is his to provide the raw material out of which the home is made and I think any man is foolish and weak who doesn't force his wife to keep up her end of the bargain. Not many women want to lose their homes, and if they knew that their husbands would bundle them up and send them back to mother unless they kept their homes clean and orderly and provided good, well-cooked meals, they would make themselves first-class housekeepers.

It is because men put up with lazy and slouchy wives who never keep anything in order and who never set food on their table that wouldn't poison an ostrich, that there are so many wives who spend their days lying on the bed reading trashy novels, or going to the movies or bridge parties, and whose idea of housekeeping is opening a can and stepping around to the delicatessen for a dab of potato salad and a transparent slice of ham. Non-support is a ground for divorce for women. Bad housekeeping should entitle any man to his freedom from a woman. And she should get no alimony.

But I haven't any tears to shed over a man who marries a girl just because she has a pretty face and without considering whether she had any other qualifications for making a good wife. He deserves all he gets. As a matter of fact, when you pick out a doll all you have got is the right to expect to spend the balance of your life dressing it up, and that is what is happening to you, son.

When men choose wives for what is in their heads and their hearts instead of the kind of complexion they have got, they don't have to complain about their being senseless and extravagant.

DOROTHY DIX.

• • • • • • •

DEAR MISS DIX—I am the main support of my family and my parents think that I have no right to get married because they want the money that I make. My father says that if I have any idea of marrying I should abandon it, and tried to force me to return the ring to my sweetheart. I am willing to work after marriage and give the money to my people, but must I give up the man I love and who loves me and who is able to take care of me?

C. M. B.

ANSWER—Certainly not. Your family has no right to demand such a sacrifice from you. Argue no more with them. Just step out some fine day and marry your man.

DOROTHY DIX.

TRIAL PLAN FAILS

Sacramento, Calif. Aug. 5.—Governor C. C. Young yesterday denied a New York extradition application for the return of H. H. Van Loan, Hollywood short story writer, on a charge of failing to provide for his thirteen-year-old daughter, Gertrude. The action followed a hearing in the governor's office, during which Van Loan showed he had been paying $50 a week for the support of the child, living with relatives in Connecticut.

NOOTKA OFF TO W. COAST

Freighters Now in Service Landing Oil-meal From Reduction Plants

The pilchard trade up the West Coast of Vancouver Island has at last got under way and coastal freighters are now plying the waterways between the coast and Vancouver with pilchard oil for trans-shipment to various parts of Canada and the United States. Those engaged in the trade expect the season to be a good one, now that it has started, and if the weather remains good there is every indication that records will be made.

The C.P.R. coast freighter Nootka left Victoria last night for the fish reduction plants along the West Coast o fthe Island for oil and meal. It is her first trip of the season, and should business warrant, the B.C. Coast Service has the Princess Ena ready to proceed to the coast for the products from the plants there.

The first shipment of the season arrived in Vancouver on Saturday morning last aboard the Frank Waterhouse freighter Southholm, formerly the E. D. Kingsley of the Kingsley Line. She had 80,000 gallons of oil in her tanks which were loaded on to special tank cars in Vancouver for the United States.

R-100 TO MAKE SHORT FLIGHT OVER CANADA

only two or three more remained. With the lacing process completed, the panels will be "doped" from the inside, and after that the airship will be ready to move at any time.

VISIT CITIES

To-day officers of the airship are holidaying and attending to engagements in various parts of Ontario. Sir Dennistoun Burney, designer of the R-100, took off by plane at 9.30 a.m. for Ottawa, to lunch with Lord Willingdon, Govenor-General of Canada. He was followed an hour later by Wing Commander R. B. B. Colmore, director of airship development in Great Britain, and Squadron Leader R. S. Booth, captain of the R-100, and W. A. Lawrence, press liaison officer. They all planned to return later to-day.

This morning the R-100 was thrown open for visits by invited guests, and the inspections will continue throughout the week.

CARRIED TO PARACHUTES

St. Hubert Airport, Que., Aug. 5.—"You can't fall out of an airship," said Frank McWade, technical advisor of the British Admiralty aboard the R-100, to the Canadian press to-day.

Mr. McWade's remark was prompted by a question as to whether or not the crew of the giant dirigible had carried parachutes on the recent flight from Cardington, Eng., to this airport.

"We ah had parachutes," Mr. McWade continued. "But we left them at home. The inside of the ship is such a mass of wires, netting and girders that it would be very difficult indeed to get out in a hurry, and anyway, why carry a parachute when nothing can happen."

Bolero Scarf

If you have in mind wearing your spring bolero suit this fall, invest in one of the new plaid silks, make a blouse with a scarf collar that ties in a bow at the front neck and has streamer ends. Save a little of the material to pipe the top of your skirt's band.

RADIO BEACON WILL BE PUT IN ALEUTIANS

Scotch Gap Light in Unimak Pass Will Be Augmented By Powerful Wireless Set

Will Make Passage Through Aleutians to Orient Safe in Foggy Weather

Victoria mariners and pilots, although their work does not bring them into close contact with the Aleutian Islands, will nevertheless be glad to know that a radio beacon will be working at the Scotch Gap Light station on Unimak Pass by September 1, according to an announcement received here this morning from Seattle.

A radio beacon for this dangerous pass has long been wanted by shipping men in the northwest and the announcement from Washington has been greeted with approval all along the coast.

Perhaps no mariners in the Pacific northwest know better the dangers of the Aleutian Islands than the officers and men of the Pacific Salvage Company's steamer Salvage King, whose work has several times in recent years taken them to this group off the southwestern coast of Alaska. The Aleutians are ughly, at the best of times, these men say, and in fog they are dangerous.

Besides adding a radio beacon at Scotch Gap the light there will be increased to 31,000 candlepower in the hope that a light of this power will be able to cut its way through the fog and warn mariners of the dangers of the rocks.

Unimak Pass has always been regarded by mariners as one of the important passes on the Great Circle Route, especially in the winter when ships try to get into the shelter of the islands to escape the gales on the open Pacific Ocean. Most freighters try for the passage during their crossings of the north Pacific, but during foggy weather bear off to the southward for fear of the rocks and shoals. Shippers believe the radio beacon will enable boats to take advantage of the protection through the pass throughout the year.

Rural and Urban Population About Equal in Canada

Regina, Aug. 5.—That to Canada belongs the credit of recording what was perhaps the first census of modern times may be news to many. This census was taken in 1665 in the small colony of New France whose population was shown to be 3,215. One hundred years later this had increased to 70,000 with an additional 20,000 in what is now the Maritime Provinces. At the commencement of the nineteenth century Canada's population had reached approximately 260,000. Fifty years later it had again increased to 2,384,919, and in the first census after Confederation to 3,689,257. By the year 1900 the number exceeded five and a quarter millions. It was however within the present century that spectacular expansion took place and the outstanding feature of this expansion was the opening for settlement of Canada's Great Northwest. Immigration which had scarcely exceeded 50,000 per annum reached a total of 2,500,000 in the ten-year period from 1903 to 1913, making an increase of 34 per cent in the first decade following 1900, a faster increase than that of any other country in the world. In the second decade it grew 22 per cent, and it may be interesting also to note that in 1871 just under 3 per cent of the population lived west of the Lake of the Woods, but fifty years later Western Canada was the home of nearly 28½ per cent of the whole.

Though Canada is approximately an agricultural country the percentage of urban and rural dwellers is approximately equal. According to the census of 1921 the urban population was 4,352,122 and the rural 4,436,122, the rural being slightly larger than the urban. This later fact together with the other fact that though her people are largely British born many thousands have their origin of birth in other lands—Iceland, Austria, France, Germany, Italy, Russia, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, United States, etc.—the advantages of Canada as a country and the city of Regina in the heart of Canada's great crop growing area in which to carry out the proposals of a World's Grain Exhibition and Conference from July 25 to August 6, 1932, become clearly evident.

DUNCAN STORES WILL CLOSE ON ELKS HOLIDAY

Special to The Times

Duncan, Aug. 5.—The Elks "Kiddies" day will be on Thursday afternoon, and will take the form of a basket picnic at the Indian Reserve, Koksilah. All stores and business offices in Duncan will be closed all day, and the garages will close at noon.

C. H. Dickie, M.P., will deliver the flag address at 11 o'clock, and each child will be presented with a flag when the big flag is being raised.

There will be races for all sizes and ages, a tug-of-war, and softball matches, including fancy dress.

LARGE LIST TO SAIL OUTBOUND ON C.P. LINER

Empress of Canada Will Take 260 Saloon Passengers to Orient on Thursday

Will Be Her Last Departure From Victoria as the Speed Queen of the Pacific

On her last outbound trip as flagship of the Empress fleet on the Pacific Ocean, the liner Empress of Canada, will sail from Vancouver and Victoria on Thursday for Honolulu, Japan, China and the Philippine Islands. When the Canada returns to Victoria in six week's time she will be in second place among the Empress fleet, her title having gone to the new Empress of Japan which is due here August 22, on her maiden voyage.

The Canada will take out a good list of passengers when she sails Thursday. There will be 696 in all classes, made up of 260 in the first cabin, eight-six in the second, fifty in the third and 300 in the steerage.

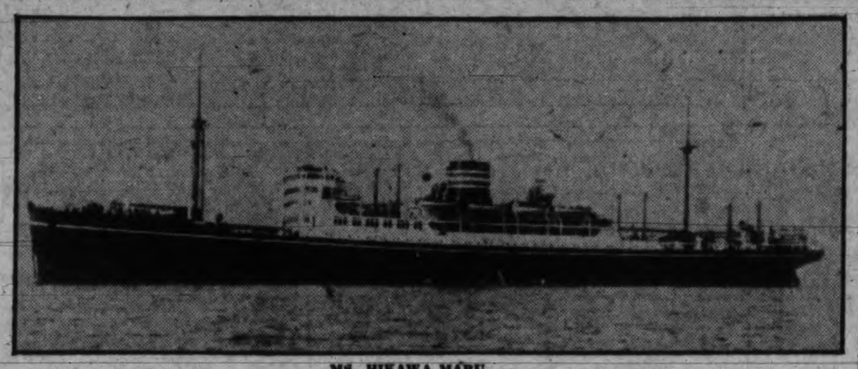
Among the passengers who have booked cabins aboard the great white liner for the trip to the Orient are Mrs. R. G. Jones and family of Vancouver, who are going to reside in Kobe; Alfred L. Castle and family of Honolulu returning to their home after traveling for the last two months in the Canadian Rockies; George Tiffany, director of General Motors of New York City, bound for China on a business trip; Baron Kawasaki, director of the Kawasaki Steamship Company of Honolulu with Baroness Kawasaki; Major W. S. Nathan, C.M.G., chairman of the Pekin syndicate and his secretary, R. M. Saker, bound for Pekin; M. B. Cotsworth, F.C.A., director of the Fixed Calendar League on a tour of the Orient; Mrs. C. M. Cook and Mrs. P. Spalding who have been visiting in Victoria for some time.

In the well filled cargo holds of the big ship will be a special shipment of six crates of fancy chickens from the Registered Breeder's Association of the University of British Columbia, for the purpose of livestock improvement in Manila. There will also be twelve automobiles aboard the Canada.

FISH SUPPLY IN MANILA

Fish ponds in Manila in which fish are raised for consumption during the typhoon season when fish can't be caught in sea waters, are worth more than $10,000,000, and the annual harvest from these ponds is valued at more than $3,000,000.

DUE IN MORNING FROM THE ORIENT



MS. HIKAWA MARU
new N.Y.K. motor liner, which will dock at the Ogden Point piers the first thing to-morrow morning from the Orient. The Hikawa is on her second crossing of the Pacific to Victoria and Seattle and has a good list of passengers aboard, several of whom will leave the ship at this port.

BIG FREIGHTER AT BRENTWOOD

Siberian Prince Spent Day at Sea Last Voyage With Fire in Coal Bunkers

On her first visit here since she was aground on Bentinck Island several years ago, the big freighter Siberian Prince steamed into Saanich Arm late last night and dropped anchor in Brentwood Bay to load railroad ties for the United Kingdom. She came from Vancouver and Fraser River ports. King Brothers, local shipping agents, are handling the ship during her stay at Brentwood.

When the Siberian Prince passed the William Head quarantine station last Friday morning on her way to Vancouver from the Orient, a fire was smouldering in her bunkers, and the paint on the engine-room side of the bulkhead was blistered from the heat. The fire was not serious, and although it was watched all the time, it was not extinguished until the ship reached Vancouver. About sixty tons of burning coal in the bunkers was removed by barges from the ship before the fire was put out.

The fire was first noticed a day off the West Coast of Vancouver Island, Capt. Halloway said this morning aboard his ship at Brentwood. It was at no time dangerous, and the damage done was very small. The passage across the North Pacific from Yokohama was a fine one, the skipper reported.

BIG FLOOD IN NORTHWEST INDIA

Additional breaches in the canals were reported, with washouts on important railroad lines threatened. Looting by lawless bands added to the troubles of the fleeing population.

At Sukkur, where thousands fled last week as the swollen waters of the Great Indus River swept down on their homes, a clash occurred last night between Hindus and Moslems. Axes and knives were used freely and some casualties were reported.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

STOWAWAY IS FOUND ABOARD LINER IXION

Japanese Discovered Hiding in Mid-ocean; Handed Over to Officials Here

Found hiding at sea when the ship was in mid-Pacific, a Japanese stowaway was taken off the Blue Funnel liner Ixion when she arrived here from the Orient last night and handed over to the Canadian immigration authorities. To-day he was resting in the immigration shed on Dallas Road, where he will remain until the officials decide just what is to be done with him. He will probably be returned to Japan on the next outbound Blue Funnel ship.

Wishing to come to Canada, and not having the necessary funds or papers, the Japanese boarded the ship at some port in Japan, porbably Yokohama. He hid in lifeboats and kept out of the way for seven days. He was found when in search of food and handed over to the captain, who put him to work. When the Ixion rounded Race Rocks last night he was securely locked up.

AHEAD OF TIME

The Ixion docked at the Rithet piers at midnight last night, twelve hours ahead of schedule from China and Japan. Steaming through a rift in the fog banks which have been lying low over Cape Flattery and the entrance to the Straits for the last few days, the ship passed Flattery at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and ran into brilliant moonlight coming up the passage from the open Pacific. She dropped anchor in the quarantine bay about 10.30 o'clock.

One of the second class Chinese passengers was taken off the ship here suffering from pneumonia and sent to hospital. Twenty-eight other passengers also left here, twenty-six steerage and two second class, all of whom were Chinese. About seventy tons of cargo were also discharged here before the ship proceeded to Vancouver at 2.30 o'clock this morning.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, Aug. 5.—Charles Luther, vice-president and general manager of the McCormick Steamship Company, to-day said influence of the shipping board would be sought to secure a substantial proportion of the huge shipbuilding programme now under way and provided for under terms of the Jones-White act.

Wheeler, who has just returned from New York, said he had talked to all the board and found them favorable to having the coast yards receive their just share of the building.

Contract for the fourth liner of the Panama-Pacific Line, to be used on the New York-San Francisco run is expected before next year, L. E. Archer, coast manager of International Mercantile Marine, said yesterday on his return from New York aboard the California. Cost will approximate $7,000,000.

William A. Young Jr., passenger traffic manager of the Grace Lines and Panama Mail Steamship Company, arrived here yesterday from New York, and will discuss building of four new express passenger and freight liners with other officials of the company. The cost will approximate $20,000,000.

TAX ON GERMAN UNMARRIED

Spinsters as well as bachelors will pay a higher rate of income tax if the German Government has its way. The rate for unmarried taxpayers will be fifteen per cent, which is one cent higher than married people pay.
